How to view the World

View the world as an unfolding expression of conscious life. As that consciousness evolves, the manifestation of that consciousness changes as it is out pictured in the world. The forms created and precipitated into the world are created by the focus in desire and intention.

Humanity is working out the karma of ego identification - of separation, fear, lack and ignorance - as that polarization has been exacerbated by materialistic forces of control and violence. Like animals, humans have been at war with each other for survival and dominance. And that conflict now has its roots in the struggle for economic and political dominance.

However, the essence of human consciousness is love and oneness, and as we become more aware, we realize that we also need to create a civilization based on these two qualities if we are to realize our collective potential and destiny.

Suffering comes from denying these and as we look at our world, we may see the consequences of life based on fear, 'power over' and survival values and choose instead to change our minds - or rather choose a different mind, the soul, with its intrinsic, knowing, love and oneness.

The energy of the soul of humanity is quickening and bringing to the surface old conflicts so these may be seen, understood and released. This quickening of the soul is allowing us to step beyond the scripts of our conditioning and choose something different, that reflects the truth, light and love of the soul.

Therefore, focus on the consciousness breaking through, not on the problems that are manifesting as a result of that cleansing. The conflicts ultimately are expressions of the unifying energy of the collective soul with the energy and consciousness that denies and opposes it. And since God is love, oneness will prevail.

So when you see war, exploitation, violence, greed, poverty, injustice, deceit and negativity, realize that the collective will is stronger than the will of the few who are perpetuating this system with its inherent sufferings, that humanity will see the reason for its suffering and choose differently.

Then a new civilization based on love, sharing, universal rights and entitlements will be created that reflects the fact of the one life within humanity and nature. And as we choose to honor our equal divine nature, inherent facets of spiritual inheritance will be realized.

The sooner we live by the love, oneness, peace and truth of the soul and put it in practice in our individual lives, the sooner we may transform our collective life into an expression of the one sacred life we are an actual expression of. We have a choice to fear and stay in separation or to trust our intuitive knowing and live by the heart.

Remember, there is really only one reality - the fearful world of the ego is merely a denial of it. The effects of denial are short lived because Christ consciousness is coming, bringing oneness, joy, love, peace and understanding. And who would choose to hold on to temporary material advantage, when one can have the freedom and gifts of the spirit.

Therefore, see the oneness of the soul emerging in any conflict, that offers then an opportunity to choose love and connection. For the duality of the world provides a way to know and experience ourselves, by experiencing who we are not. Fear and separation provide a way to choose our self and transform and redeem what opposes.

Our entire civilization is based on beliefs, values and attitudes quite different in some respects than the civilizations that preceded it. It's not easy to imagine that the many national, ethnic and religious cultures in the world may have common characteristics that were fundamentally different in earlier civilizations on Earth. We take our cultural beliefs and assumptions about reality for granted and have a hard time seeing how arbitrary many of these are and how they gradually change over time, as we live for a relative few years in only one culture usually. However, in this period of history things are changing very fast and we may notice that even in a very few years, cultural norms, beliefs and values have morphed. Civilizations do come and go and we are in another transition period. This transition is an even more fundamental shift than the development of patriarchal 'power over' cultures which we can see today in our warring nations. Capitalism may make this less apparent but if we observe the US with its huge military budget allied with a political and economic drive for global hegemony, we will realize that these beliefs and assumptions are operating, particularly in the ruling groups.

This 'more fundamental' shift harkens back to a misty prehistory when humanity collectively chose to believe, in fear, that it was separate from

God. It subsequently choose to identify with a mental program of separate selfhood that it decided was who it was and which was reflected in the subsequent civilizations built on it. It's very important that we understand what is entailed in this internally consistent ego program, because it is also an arbitrary belief system although we take it to be reality, (as it is still operative in our civilization today). This is the way the mind works — our core beliefs (those that we identify with and live out, as contrasted to more superficial intellectual ideas) are creative and shape our experiences which makes the beliefs that caused them seem legitimate. The separate ego self is built on fear, a sense of vulnerability, lack, imperfection and need that it projects outwardly, giving primary reality to it's separate mind united to its will to control its circumstances and achieve its aims. Being insecure it projects its doubt inwardly and is prone to guilt and self condemnation. It projects its beliefs outwardly in the form of universal judgment. It feels it needs praise, love, validation and success to offset its insecurity and sense of lack and control. This fundamental belief in the fearful separation of God from mankind has been symbolized in the myths of the various religions.

The shift in our civilization that is happening now entails the increasing energies of the inner real Self or soul of humanity that is gradually permeating or breaking through the separate ego barrier and having the effect of awakening us to who we really are — and not just who we think we are. This shift has the associated effect of freeing us from the culturally conditioned egoic ideas about things that have restricted us and circumscribed our life. We can see the effects in the world now of the human spirit that is endeavoring to break free of the system of beliefs and outer related institutions that are controlling and oppressing it. This is all good and a natural evolutionary movement. What we can't see is that it is actually driven from God and is part of the Divine Destiny and Plan for Earth that the Wise, Who have been able to achieve conscious knowledge of the higher spiritual realms, have learned about. Mankind's voyage through the experience of physical separation was never intended to be an end, merely a stage in a larger progression and role for humanity on Earth, once a conscious connection to humanity's inner spiritual Self was reestablished. This is happening now and can be also seen in the widespread spiritual interest that is evidenced everywhere. Many, of course, have lost religious faith as the various faiths have done a poor job of helping people understand the bigger picture and what they can do to discover their place in it. Regardless, spiritual energy is now infusing the planet and giving everyone an opportunity to wake up.

As we become more aligned with our inner soul, we will discover that this Self is actually One Self in humanity that each expresses in his own way. This is why Love and the Heart will be recognized as the fundamental nature of this Self, as it is Love which connects us and which creates unity. This One Self is Christ Who represents what we each essentially are and must consciously become. The Christian prophesy about the return of Christ refers to this time when this energy of Love and Self Consciousness will pervade mankind and prepare us for the next stage in Earth's evolution. This time, we will be consciously collaborating with this evolution by being co-creators ourselves, who are not just creating based on fragmentary ego perspective but based on an intuitive spiritual knowing that is inherent in the Self. We will create a new civilization based on the nature of the Self and the Love, Light, Peace, Joy, Beauty, Knowing, etc., within it. This will necessarily entail establishing different institutions, values and way of life as it will be a reflection of a different level of being.

The NWO plan

I notice that the plan of the billionaires for world domination is fairly obvious but the media is loath to articulate it. It goes something like this:

Control the world financial system so that trillions can continue to be looted that can be used to control the governments, buy corporate ownership, and manipulate the people through ownership of the media. We only receive a fair remuneration for our valuable service. Greed is selfless.

Kill as many people in the world as possible by war, famine, disease and social disintegration so the traumatized humanity remaining will be easier to control. Wars will distract people from the real enemies. We're only defending against terrorists and threats. Subjugation is freedom.

Continue to develop population control technology through AI, total data surveillance, censorship and control of information, police state suppression, and a total control of the media rendering it an instrument of fascist propaganda and indoctrination. Only bad people have something to fear. Control is service.

Consolidate all wealth and industrial ownership in the hands of a few interlocking directorates of billionaire owners who will rule the world through assumed right. Make sure the corporate heads get wealthy while the workers subsist. Because we're rich, we deserve to be rich.

Profit is the sole determinant of economic policy. If it makes more money for the owners of the world then it is right, just and beneficial for all regards of the social consequences. More profit for the few will benefit the many because we say it will. Lies are truth.

Make all workers in the industrialized world compete with third world workers without any benefits, rights or protections. All social benefits are to be eliminated by fully imposed austerity, deregulation and privatization until the world population grovels. Might makes right.

Suppress the truth and the facts by control of education, publishing, entertainment, media. Smear and vilify anyone who dares try to expose this totalitarian New World Order and call them hate mongers and conspiracy bots, and have them fired from their jobs for sedition and publicly shamed. The truth is what we say it is. Bondage is freedom.

The cabal's evil treachery and lie of 9/11 and the present world situation

The more time passes from 9/11, the easier it is to see in retrospect (if one has the strength and motivation to see) that the only group that has really benefited from the operation was also the only group that really had the personnel in place and the expertise to carry out the attacks — namely the Zionists. Those US Zionists who were part of the plot — most in high influential positions — put their loyalty to Israel above America or humanity. 9/11 was an elaborate ruse and false flag operation meant to create a justification for demonizing Islam — particularly those Muslim regimes who were hostile to Israel — destroy those countries and repress any domestic resistance. And it has worked.

This political, military, economic and public relations effort is part of the total drive for a New World Order and global hegemony controlled by a Zionist cabal. The various invasions of Mideast nations hostile to Israel all had their phony pretexts, but encouraged by the complicit Zionist controlled media and Zionist purchased politicians, these have all been enforced at a horrendous cost. Likewise the related Patriot Act police state laws, Homeland Security domestic repression and NSA total surveillance of the US population are proceeding apace. And as the Zionists now own most of the US Congress, the financial system and the media and have been instilled (as 'Neocons') in many top positions in the US foreign policy, intelligence agencies and think tanks directing policy, their plans for world domination are proceeding.

It's easy to see that the 19 Al Qaida Arabs with their box cutters were set up to be the patsies and were not the real perpetrators. It was impossible for them to do all that was accomplished on 9/11. The US created Al Qaida to subvert the Russians in Afghanistan. After that they were assigned another role by their overlords. I don't want to go into all the details of 9/11 but if one will read up on it, one will rather quickly realize that the official conspiracy explanation promoted by the government and the complicit media does not explain the facts and thus can not be true — as awful as it is to realize that we have been betrayed by our leaders.

So the US attack on Afghanistan where the Al Qaida terrorists had a training camp was bogus. The subsequent military devastations of Iraq, Libya, and Syria likewise had contrived and fraudulent rationales that 'the establishment', in unison, promoted. Shocking! Iraq had no WMD. Libya was not doing any harm to anyone. Syria was only battling the terrorist factions that the West was directly and indirectly supporting. Where did ISIS get all its money, trucks, weapons and fine new uniforms along with its intelligence capabilities? From the West's proxies, Israel, Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Turkey, along with CIA weapons to the 'rebels' that quickly got into ISIS' hands. And there have been many substantiated reports of overt collaboration between the US and the terrorists.

US bombs have been more directed at destroying Syria and its infrastructure than ISIS. Russia, with just a few planes, was able to accomplish more in a shorter period of time than the West's NATO forces, because NATO wasn't primarily interested in defeating terrorism, but in creating chaos and overturning regimes. The fact that the US still wants to occupy and attack Syria even though Syria has largely defeated the main body of terrorists, shows the hollowness of the West's shifting justifications. Now we hear about Assad's alleged use of chemical weapons, even though reputable refutations of this exist that the West conveniently ignores. Facts and truth are being more brazenly ignored by the obviously hypocritical and politically prejudiced establishment.

Now the drive and lust for global domination is confronting more clear eyed and capable obstacles — Iran, Russia and China. However, the Zionist controlled West continues its bellicose hostility, provocations, aggression and threats. Isn't the insanity of it all obvious? Isn't it obvious that the Zionists have managed to get control of the West and are marshaling the US and it's NATO allies toward global war and destruction?

I am continually amazed and perplexed that there is so little accountability, moral outrage, shame or even regret about the war crimes of the Mideast terrorist wars. The West has killed over a million, destroyed whole nations, and wasted trillions of dollars to create destruction and chaos from Libya to Afghanistan. The US regularly murders people by remote control drone attacks, that are little noted. That NATO still has active bases in Afghanistan, Iraq, Syria and North Africa and active military operations even though the phony pretexts for those incursions are no longer credible.

We are still glad to sell and distribute armaments to the Saudi's who are perpetrating genocide on Yemen. We don't bother to report the slow brutal genocide Israel is perpetrating on the Palestinians. We are creating a horrid wasteland but complacently ignore it. Our upstanding leaders and intelligent media have better things to do. Certainly we may not like some of the authoritarian leaders they gravitate to in that part of the world, but that gives us no legitimate reason to invade and destroy their countries. I'm sure Trump or PM May are not well liked in the Muslim world, but is that reason for the US or Britain to be subjected to drone murders and invasion? And yet the politicians and media continue to agitate about the Russian threat. Please look in the mirror!

From a distance all it looks like the West has been doing in the Mideast is slavishly serving the aggressive Zionist agenda for power and domination of their enemies. No other explanation makes rational sense. These wars are certainly not in the interest of the West, unless you are talking about the arms merchants and war machine. Please, let's not even try to pretend that this has been about democracy and human rights — what a farce and travesty! Why aren't people worked up about this? And it's gotten more dangerous with Russian troops in place. And yet the West continues its military actions and provocations. Why isn't anyone really thinking about this?

We are in the last days of the dying old world order, where the Earth has been under the dominion of the forces of darkness, fear, violence, greed and selfishness. The evil cable that have ever lived by power, deception and predation, are still compulsively vying for a New World Order and total global hegemony and exploitation, but it will not happen.

Their military efforts through the US and NATO will be stopped by Russia and it's allies. Israel's 'iron dome' will no longer keep them safe from fallout from a Mideast war, and Russia with its new invincible weapons can threaten to destroy the Zionist command center if a significant attack is made on Russia.

The cabal's financial efforts for global supremacy utilizing the West's private debt slavery banking and financial system with its international instruments - the IMF, World Bank and such - will be disabled by the new gold backed Chinese and Russian banking system that will greatly weaken the dollar and the indebted US economy and Western finances.

The cabal's political ascendancy must be defeated by continued revelations and disclosures of the corruption that exists and how the few control the many. I'm sure there are more individuals like Snowden in the NSA who have access to everyone's information and communication and that will reveal the subterfuges that have been going on. And as the harm and wrongness of the Establishment's priorities, and policies are more obvious for all so see, so will be the false and hypocritical public relations rationale justifying these.

And there are spiritual happenings that aren't fully understood that indicate that major transformations are underway. Young people no longer have belief in the old authorities. The internet is giving everyone in the world access to information that contradicts establishment media and political propaganda. The human spirit is rising up around the world and throwing off its shackles of fear. And it is only fear that keeps people controlled. UFO's harken new revelations that will transform our understanding. New technologies for safe free energy will transform our global ecology and economy. And the reality of soul consciousness that is slowly emerging is changing our idea of who we are.

The problem of the mainstream media (MSM)

The problem of the mainstream media is contributing to and exasperating the resolution of the political and economic problems in the world. The media has been consolidated to a handful of large corporations owned and controlled by the rich that are actively promoting the vested interests of the rich and the related political and economic establishment. This results in the media — instead of providing non-biased news and information — becoming actively and intentionally agents of distraction, disinformation, propaganda and bias. Trivial news is reported fairly, but the more serious the subject the more one encounters bias, spin and manipulation. With regard to the common man, the media effort is more to distract him with entertainment and stories about crime, sex, sports, celebrities etc. Like history, the media writes from the perspective of the rich and the powerful. Such issues as increasing poverty, war, and the problems with global capitalism are not really addressed accept very superficially and symptomatically. For example, homelessness, like the refuge problems in Europe, is a big issue in the US, but the question is always what to do with them, not why the problem has arisen. The media, as part of the establishment, says the economy is fine — accept that it isn't and the average man knows that. Like the French 'yellow jackets', they know they are being forced into austerity and poverty.

Capitalist globalization has no loyalty but exploits with a vengeance and has now turned on the common man in the industrialized West as industry has moved to the global East and the South where profits are greater. Therefore many people are turning to nationalistic political parties. The Right has done a better job than the Left in appealing to the average man as they have been more effective in appealing to conservative social values, traditions, morals, faith, prejudices and fears. So people vote for them even though the Left better represents their economic interests. The Left is made to appear to represent the interests of minorities, outsiders, forces disruptive to the traditional order. "When fascism comes to America it will be wrapped in a flag and carrying a cross" is a saying that expresses how the Right appeals to fear and traditional conservative values. However, now people are abandoning the establishment Right, who they are beginning to realize have betrayed them and turning to the far Right nationalist and fascist elements in fear, anger and frustration.

In fear people contact and return to survival thinking and core programming that is running on the instinctive and emotional levels. Their focus shrinks to themselves and their core family and community affiliations. The media and the Right wing emphasize fear and the traditional institutions, authorities, values and ideals that then assuage those fears as they are grounded on an emotional level. The Left emphasizes love and rational thinking that encourages people to expand into the new rather than contract. This doesn't work so well when people are in fear, as they are now realizing the economic future and indeed continued human life on the planet are threatened.

The problems, therefore are —

1. Global capitalism — the New World Order — which is turning on the average man in the industrialized West, in addition to ruining the world.
2. The media which is an agent of the elite establishment who serve and benefit from the NWO and who therefore are an indoctrinating and propagandist tool.
3. The ignorance of the average man who has let himself be used and manipulated and who has given his power to those who are exploiting him. He doesn't fully realize that the MSM is part of the NWO and can't be trusted.

In the UK the answer has to begin with kicking out the Tories who just serve the financial industry and the banks now, and electing a Labour government. Likewise in the US the progressives have to take over the Democratic Party from the corporate NWO Democrats and then get elected in the next elections. The problem of media ownership by the elite is harder to resolve, but the increasing tendency of the young to go to social media and the internet for information is a hopeful trend. It is possible to get the real stories and facts on the internet but the average man must empower himself to be his own authority and sort through all the various voices — and not just rely on the MSM and political authorities who are really exploiting and misleading him. Unfortunately the establishment has begun to restrict freedom of expression and alternative political voices on the internet.

The Christian West must begin to apply real Christian values to the economic and political systems that are in need of fundamental reform. Because exploitation, greed, war and rule of the few who now own and control the Earth over the many are not real Christian values. The latter are based on love, charity, and the common brotherhood of man. The truth or the actual reality both spiritually and materially must be recognized. This must also entail recognizing that Christianity has largely been hijacked by regressive elements that have not emphasized the essential spirit and message of Christ but have rather emphasized doctrines that maintain the status quo, and the establishment power structure. Our planetary crisis is a test to see if the spirit of man can break through the fear crystallized in the status quo and the establishment and create something that better reflects the true, the good and the beautiful that represents the spirit and soul of mankind and the only future that will work.

Some of fundamental changes that need to be made in global capitalism are:

1. Abolishing private banks that allow a predatory cabal to basically rob the economic system and use the money they amass to corrupt and control it. Outlawing fraudulent investment and financial practices like derivatives and hedge funds. Make banking and investment a fair public utility.
2. Imposing limits on income and wealth.
3. Establishing universal basic entitlements for the necessities of life.
4. Severely limiting military expenditures.
5. Requiring all economic practices to be ecological and sustainable.
6. Requiring all government programs including intelligence to be completely transparent, accessible and open to public scrutiny.
7. Establishing public media, TV, radio, internet and film that operate with independence, transparency and open public input.
8. Work to establish UN cooperation, international peace and diplomatic understanding and harmony.

Distortions, omissions, distractions and bias in the media

Citizens require knowledge of salient facts if they are to play an effective role in a democracy. The media, which provides the information about what is going on in the world, in the past has always represented diverse special interests, but there were also efforts of honest reporting. However, today there has been a consolidation so that a half a dozen major corporations with interlocking interests serve more to mold public opinion in line with the vested interests of the power elite, than to educate and uncover the truth. Our 'free' press, TV, and radio is no longer free, although that freedom can still be found on the Internet. The influence of 'big money' controls in overt and subtle ways both the issues that are or are not addressed and the bias, spin and context in which they are presented. Just as importantly, the media focuses Most of it's effort on distraction - spurious and superficial entertainment that is often inane, or graphic, desensitizing and fear inducing. Two areas of particular importance slighted by the media are: the political and the spiritual. I'll give some examples of these.

Political distortion

We think there is plenty of political coverage in the news, but the biggest issues are ignored as if they didn't exist.

9/11: Our entire world view and politics since September 11, 2001 have been transformed by the interpretation of what happened on that day. Yet the officially accepted explanation and conspiracy story of the evil Al Qaeda terrorists who did it and who are scheming to destroy America is a bogus fraud. The facts of what happened on that day are not effectively explained by the 9/11 Commission, by the government or the media - which only promulgate the approved coverup story. Anyone in the media who tries to speak up is silenced. There are thousands informed citizens, scholars, scientists, engineers and journalists who have objected to this fraud and speak out at talks, on the Internet, in film, books and radio, but the media is staunchly ignoring it or ridiculing the whole enterprise.

<http://stj911.org>. <http://www.ae911truth.org>.

The corrupt financial system: In 2008 the US suffered a huge financial collapse brought on by deregulating the whole financial system of banking and investing. Private investors lost billions as result of their irresponsible and greedy practices. But instead of reforming the industry and correcting the problems, the government gave trillions of the taxpayers money to the wealthy private interests to bail them out. A lot of that money went right into the pockets of the rich who created the problem. Secondly, the government allows investors to profit off the system without doing anything that produces wealth, through usury and fraudulent investment practices like stock derivatives. The Federal Reserve should become a publicly owned bank and the Wall Street casino reformed - but no one addresses these macro issues in the media, that threaten to implode the whole economy. <http://www.globalresearch.ca/world-bank-whistleblower-reveals-how-the-global-elite-rule-the-world/5353130> <http://www.globalresearch.ca/systemic-corruption-has-destroyed-america/5453389>.

The rogue CIA: The Central Intelligence Agency was formed after WWII to gather intelligence internationally - particularly about what our enemies were up to - so the US government could make informed policy decisions. The details of its budget and activities were mostly secret so it could sleuth more effectively. However its activities soon morphed into covert operations that involved subverting and fomenting political dissent, overthrowing democratic governments who challenged US corporate interests, torture and murder. It now has a huge budget, vast power and little oversight - a receipt for evil to take hold. With the surveillance capacities of the NSA, and the advanced technology of the Pentagon at its disposal, it is really out of control yet the problem of the rogue CIA is not addressed in the media. These activities are totally antithetical to the freedom, human rights, democratic, law and order principles that America is supposed to be based on. <http://www.globalresearch.ca/a-timeline-of-cia-atrocities/5348804>

There are many other such unmentioned political issues. Project Censored is one website that lists their top unreported news stories every year. <http://www.projectcensored.org>.

In addition to omissions, there is bias.

Putin and Russia: In the 20th century the media and establishment were definitely biased against the Soviet Union as Communism and Capitalism were enemies. With the collapse of the USSR and Communism, Russia has changed dramatically and is no longer a threat. However, the US as the leading Imperial power continues to pursue global hegemony and therefore pretends that any nation who hinders its expansion is a threat, even if that nation like Russia in the Ukraine or China in its sphere of influence is merely endeavoring to maintain its integrity. Putin is now demonized in the corporate media for claiming Russia's traditional connection to the Ukraine - the Ukraine used to be part of Russia and many in the East Ukraine are Russian speakers and culturally affiliated - after the US supported the overthrow of the democratically elected government and began a crackdown on Russian Ukrainians. That demonization has continued by saying Putin is the bad aggressor, and even though it's the US who has 700 military bases around the globe, while Russia just has one - in Syria. The US has invaded or bombed and destroyed without provocation, Afghanistan, Iraq, Libya, Yemen, Somalia, Pakistan and Syria just since 2000, killing thousands of innocents. The US is trying to overthrow the democratically elected government of Syria, while Russia is trying to maintain it. Which is more lawful? Who is the bigger aggressor? Yet every news article carries the anti Putin/Russia bias and distorts the facts. <http://www.globalresearch.ca/putin-and-the-press-the-demonology-school-of-journalism/5481627>

The necessity of spiritual understanding

One cannot fully understand anything without incorporating the spiritual along with the material because each aspect of reality is part of the whole. Yet the media with its secular and materialistic bias excludes the spiritual component and therefore a balanced presentation of the news. The media does address some theological controversies like the creation-evolution debate or religious ideas about abortion or homosexuality. However, it does not really acknowledge the widespread occurrence of the many varieties of spiritual experience in the world - that give the strongest testimony for faith. Rather, it gives the impression that people who have pronounced spiritual or paranormal experiences are mentally unbalanced, and so many people become loath to admit what they have actually experienced. I'll just give three examples.

Near Death Experiences (NDE): NDE's - an experience of another world after one is clinically dead, and later brought back to life - have occurred over history and across cultures with surprising commonality of features. Today there are probably thousands of people who have had such experiences as there are hundreds of YouTube testimonials by people of their experiences. There are reputable organizations who have studied these and numerous books about the phenomena. Yet the issue its implications - the reality of a 'heaven like' dimension and life after death - is largely ignored in the media.

<http://iands.org/home.html>. https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Near-death\_experience.

UFO's and ET's: With every passing year sightings of unidentified flying objects and reports of extraterrestrial interactions increase. It is now known too, that there are archeological and historical records of UFO's and alien encounters in early human history. Besides individual sightings from around the world, many governments, military and aviation organizations have admitted seeing various types of UFO's from lights and spheres, classic saucers, small remotes to large mother ships. The US maintains a secrecy about the issue and the media collaborates by restricting reports and news, although it's leaked that the US has actually had a program with one ET group and has been endeavoring to learn their technology. Besides these sightings there is the crop circle phenomena which are patterns/messages created by the UFO's. There are also many reports of abductions and alien interactions, as well as communications from various alien groups. Naturally the bias in the media excludes most of this information and distorts what little does seep through. We hear about the bogus crop circles, for example, created by some farmers dragging wood around a field for a lark, but never learn about those characteristics of true crop circles that make them impossible to artificially create.

Channeling: Mankind has always had its sensitives, psychics, mediums, shamans and seers who were able to attune to a spiritual dimension and as a result receive impressions, visions, knowledge and messages from another strata of reality. Religion was founded on the legitimacy of spiritual revelation. Today it is no different. In fact, in the last 100 years or so, we are witnessing a flood of communication from the spirit world that is, in effect, a new revealed spiritual dispensation to guide us in the difficult transition we are going through on the planet. The many channelled teachings share a number of common themes that are an antidote to the materialistic despair and religious rigidities and distortions confusing mankind. Some of these essential principles include: That there is, indeed, a divine Creator of planet earth and an inner government of spiritual beings guiding the evolution of all life within it. And that we are meant to cooperate with this hierarchy for the redemption of all life. We are now collectively waking up to our true nature as souls or eternal spiritual beings which brings with it the transformation of our values and way of life. The old way of the ego's separation, fear, lack, and violent efforts to control and exploit will be replaced by a culture of love, sharing, peace and oneness, where we finally take our place in our galactic family of interconnected living worlds. Naturally, the media doesn't talk much about this, even though some of the esoteric knowledge surpasses anything in academia.

There are other unreported or distorted issues, spiritual and political, but this gives a general idea.

The 'forever' war(s)

Watched part of the Democrat debate and was glad to hear Elizabeth Warren say the the US needs to pull out of the Mideast. She's definitely getting my vote now. Trump's US Syrian withdrawal — he has finally done something good — has been very instructive to anyone observing the MSM. The almost universal cries of betrayal and calamity clearly reveals the bias and propaganda of the MSM on foreign policy for all that have eyes to see. You would think the US's immoral and illegal invasion of a sovereign nation, arming its militant subversives and bombing it to obliteration in an attempt to overthrow the elected government would merit some condemnation in the MSM. Wrong. No, what is regarded as wrong is the US leaving the chaos it has created and one of its militant pawns so the legitimate government and its allies can finally restore control and order. In all the reporting on the issue, the MSM has not bothered to give voice to Assad as if the what the president of the country thinks or wants does not matter. This demeaning and arrogant attitude of the West as epitomized by the MSM reveals the unconscious racist barbarism of the West. The whole 'terrorist' rational for intervention and invasion is collapsing like a house of cards when it can now be clearly observed that the West's actions have been the biggest contributor to terror in the region. Anyone who doesn't see that by now reveals his own successful indoctrination by the establishment and the MSM. The lies can only be sustained for so long but eventually the truth must come out.

Look at the other Middle East nations the West has 'tried to help', Libya, Afghanistan, Yemen, Iraq and Syria — they are all much worse now after the devastation of the West's 'well intentioned' (but illegal) interventions (war crimes). And the 'interventions' have wasted trillions of dollars that could have done good in the world, and killed and destroyed the lives of millions. Maybe it's time we stop believing the lies of the MSM. It's time we wake up to what's really going down and quit allowing ourselves to be deceived and used. The Islamophobia and Islamic terror threat was never based on fact, but has been propaganda to create an enemy that would establish a pretext to war against Israel's perceived enemies in the Middle East. There was no Al Qaeda in Afghanistan before the US created it. They were not a danger to the US, therefore — that was a 9/11 lie. There weren't terrorist groups or weapons of mass destruction in Iraq before the US bombed and invaded it. ISIS in Iraq and Syria was created by the chaos of NATO destruction and funded by US Proxies in order to provide yet another convenient false pretext for military intervention in Iraq and Syria. Libya wasn't a threat to anyone before NATO bombed it back to the Stone Age. Yemen was not a terrorist threat to Saudi Arabia before Saudi, with NATO help began a genocidal war against it. And now Iran is next, who we have already started economic and political war against. If there are Islamic terrorists now, it is only a natural response to the terror and destruction that has been inflicted on the Islamic world by the West. It's a natural blowback that's results from our actions — like the refugees that stream into Europe as a result of the wars we have imposed on them. That we are not learning the lessons of our imperial wars from Korea and Vietnam to the Middle East, is attributed to the MSM's subservience to the NWO establishment, as it's agent of propaganda and indoctrination. We need to wake up. The average man is not better off from the bogus war for global hegemony. We are merely used by it.

Reflections on the evil Mideast 'terrorist' war(s)

I have been distressed about the massive Israeli attacks on Syria and Iranian troops in the last few days as I was distressed about Trump pulling out of the Iranian nuclear agreement for no good reason. I'm trying to see some positive but the only positive I can see is that by being more unreasonable and extreme, the true nature of the axis of evil in the Mideast - Israel, US, and the house of Saud - is being exposed. As a result, some European countries will find it increasing hard to rationalize support for actions that are obviously unsupportable and abhorrent.

The unprovoked Israeli missile attacks like the brutal killings of the Palestinians they are oppressing show the Zionists as arrogant aggressors, and not the moral democratic force for human betterment they present themselves who act only for self defense. Their influence has been central in the 'terrorist' wars for when we examine the shifting justifications for the various Mideast wars, the one common element is that the countries attacked have been opposed to the Zionist oppression of the Palestinians. This why Iran is next in line to be attacked.

Likewise the awful genocide being perpetrated by the Saudis on Yemen with the open support and tacit approval of the West must be difficult to rationalize and feel good about in those countries that still can think independently. Like Israel, Saudi Arabia has been secretly financially and militarily supporting the terrorists and forces of chaos in the Mideast for years but only recently have been forced to more openly show themselves as their proxies have been stopped.

The US, by stepping away from the internationally established Iranian nuclear treaty that has been a success is showing its true colors as a country that 'cannot be trusted' as Merkel said recently and likewise making it harder for those countries that still have some self respect to line up behind US policy. Will the Europeans really meekly submit to US economic sanctions on their companies doing business within Iran now? And the US bases and military occupation being established in Syria with the Kurds, after ISIS has been defeated, give lie to their official rationale for being in Syria - to defeat ISIS. The true nature and motivations of the US are being exposed to any who dare to look.

The U.K., proud partner in the deceitful Mideast 'terrorist' war are also exposing themselves by promoting the shoddy pretexts for action in the Skripal and Douma set ups and their unflinching support for Saudi, Israeli and US aggression. Can the average Brit feel good about this? The media is doing its best to soft peddle it all but it should be getting harder to ignore. Would any British mother really feel their son's death fighting in the Mideast had been worth it?

It's hard to fight evil when it is hidden, so a good aspect about recent events is that the axis of evil's recent failure on the battlefields in Syria, Yemen and Israel have forced it to more brazenly come out in the open to be seen in all the world as wanton, deceitful aggressors whose self righteous moral propaganda is lie. It is a good development if this becomes more apparent and conscious.

It is naturally distressing to witness the dominating actions of evil in the world and the power evil has to perpetuate the lies and falsehoods in the complicit and controlled media that seems to rationalize and disguise it. Recent evil actions centered on the Mideast are particularly revolting. However, it is reassuring to notice that despite apparent power and success, evil is loosing and it's true nature is being brought out into the open and thereby exposed. And by being seen in the light of world scrutiny, the deceitful manipulations and hypocritical self righteous presentations used to dissimulate its true nature and intentions will loose support. The terrorist wars - all based on lie and fabrications - have caused vast destruction but are resulting in defeat for the evil which has perpetrated them. Everything must come to the conscious surface where the decent mass of humanity can choose to reject the evil of violent selfish power, lies and treachery. From the very beginning - the false flag 9/11 attack whose real perpetrators were not the Islamic terrorists who were blamed in the official explanation disseminated by the establishment and the media - the Mideast war(s) has been based on deceit and covert power.

Despite the billions of dollars spent and the seventeen years fought to gain control of Afghanistan against all international law, the US is loosing. Despite a full military invasion, trillions spent and hundreds of thousands killed and displaced for a lie, Iraq has only moved closer to its Iranian Shiite allies, as the US only overturned it's past Sunni leadership. Despite a Zionist oppression that grows more brutal by the day, the Palestinians in their homeland can claim complete moral victory. Despite the Saudi genocidal war on the Shiites in Yemen with the vast supply of armaments and support of the West, the Saudis are loosing in the court of world opinion. The West would prefer to forget the shameful NATO bombing destruction of Libya after yet another bogus pretext that only succeeded in creating chaos. And despite awful destruction that the West has rained down upon Syria militarily, economically and politically and the havoc wrought by the terrorist militias the West has supported, Syria has not been defeated. Rather, the insidious duplicity of the US and its allies has been exposed, and the selfish lust for hegemony underlying the ongoing terrorist wars has been revealed. The Zionist aligned West has perpetrated most of the terror in the Mideast as the Islamic terrorists have been supplied and trained by the West all along for the role they are playing in the destruction and chaos that has been created. From Al Qaeda to ISIS to the Syrian militants, the US has been playing a double game by fostering Islamophobia while training and arming the terrorists directly and through their proxies so that they might have a pretext to invade and destroy the countries where the terrorists operated.

The growing realization of what is really going on in the Mideast is a victory for an awareness that is slowly emerging. It is an awareness of the evil being perpetrated by a separatist consciousness combined with a violent and aggressive will to dominate, control and possess that is hidden by deceitful rationalizations, presentations and manipulations that involves finance, politics, the military and the media. And it involves a growing awareness of the opposite truth — that we are One humanity and that all must have their needs respected in peace. One group cannot impose its selfish will on the planet anymore or manipulate the truth and the facts. When disturbing events happen in the world, the individual has to be able to come to terms with it and place it in a positive meaningful context. The context is the light of awareness that is growing brighter and revealing the covert centers of power and their methods and intrigues. These must be brought to conscious awareness so humanity can decide its future - a continuation of a fear based world of getting and using, power, separation, violence and deceit or a world based on cooperation, brotherhood, peace, respect and sharing. Only one choice has a future, so the decision will be obvious.

Trump's inadvertent good

Although Trump is a detestable man who has done much damage as President he has also done some inadvertent good:

1. He has brought to the attention of Americans the fact that the MSM has a lot of fake news as an organ of special interests. Therefore we should get more information from alternative online sources.
2. He has revealed that there is an ongoing attempt by the intelligence services to corrupt democratic processes.

3. He has shown that any endeavor to establish reasonable relations with Russia is opposed by the Russia-phobic establishment who want a new Cold War and global hegemony. The false demonization in the MSM establishment should be obvious.
4. By antagonizing our allies he has loosened up the Western NWO alliance and given formerly submissive countries the opportunity to be more independent.
5. By withdrawing US troops from N Syria, he has allowed the Syrian government and its allies an opportunity to gain control and restore order. There are obvious reasons why Russia is becoming the new power broker as she has demonstrated to be an honest broker who respects national sovereignty.
6. By being so outspoken he has revealed to the world the nature of the US foreign policy which operates like a gangster.
7. By his stand on certain domestic issues — immigration, the border, racist patriotism, tariffs, media influence, religious values — he is forcing the Democrats to address some PC thinking that is working against the party.
8. By his extremist words and actions he has galvanized an increased political activism.
9. By being so corrupt and revealing all the self serving, dishonest, illegal and immoral actions with his associates he has helped Americans realize just how corrupt US government and foreign policy is now.
10. By noticing that Evangelical Christians are major supporters, their hypocrisy becomes more apparent.

Some reflections on political correctness (PC)

As a Christian socialist I've always been progressive in my beliefs and certainly supported minority rights. However, the promotion of dysphoric transsexual and gender fluidity by the Left, and the MSM recently caught my attention so I decided to look into this some more. Not having been in academia for many years, where I now discovered politically correct thinking is pervasive, or spending much time on MSM, I hadn't realized how the Left and the MSM have begun to promote some radical ideas.

PC thinking is associated with the political Left as an attempt to enforce and normalize minority beliefs, values and behaviors and concurrently demonize related mainstream beliefs. Although associated with the political Left, I believe PC thinking also is characteristic of the Right as the normative beliefs, values and behaviors promoted automatically through the institutions of society. I believe as different interest groups gain power in society their espoused beliefs, values and behaviors become automatically disseminated through law, education, media and entertainment, etc. but change over time. In the transition from feudal to industrial to the current post industrial era, and in different nations with varying ethnic, religious and cultural influences, PC norms have morphed although some of the Christian norms have been in our culture for 2000 years.

Our normative majority PC beliefs in the US have been a combination of Judaeo-Christian heritage, capitalism and US Constitutional law. The new PC thinking of the Left is an attempt to overturn some of it. Some examples of each are listed below.

Right authoritarian PC beliefs

God exists and is on our side

Absolute morality is defined by Christianity

Our country stands and acts for good — human rights, democracy, freedom, law and order

Capitalism is the best economic system

If you apply yourself you will succeed — and people deserve what they earn

Marriage is between a man and a woman — the family is the basis for society

Life, which begins at conception, must be cherished

Political power derives and reflects the normative majority

Left egalitarian PC beliefs

Minorities are victims of injustice and have moral superiority for not being the oppressors

Minority values and behaviors are all good and should be normalized

There is no God — science says so

Relative morals — do what you like and want to Socialism is the best economic system

Abortion and deviant sexuality are choices anyone is encouraged to make if they want

Women are the same as men and should be as men — differences result from false education

The normative majority are oppressors who deserve condemnation and re-education

Society is based on individuals in groups and is multicultural

Traditional values are fascist, racist and sexist
Political support derives from minority identity groups

Some of these Right normative beliefs still are promulgated even though they aren't practiced in reality. They serve as a false facade that has been corrupted by various special interest groups who are now ascendant. For example, although the US Constitution may have enshrined human rights, freedom, and democracy, the US is no longer a democracy in practice due to the corruption of money. Likewise the US doesn't uphold freedom, human rights and democracy in its foreign policy but rather a 'might makes right' imperialism. This shows that special interests, the financial and corporate cabal are the power not the majority of people. The American ideals are promoted to deceive people and control and manipulate the majority.

Likewise although religious freedom is acknowledged by the Right, secular beliefs and values are the ones that are now promoted on the MSM, the entertainment industry and the educational system. Thus the majority are increasingly indoctrinated in secular thinking and values. God is being pushed into irrelevance. There are more LGBTQ+ people and themes on TV and in film than Christian. Christians increasingly feel under attack. The existence of God may be given a nod, but the Left secularists increasingly control the culture.

Left PC thinking involves an endeavor to normalize and enforce minority values, beliefs and behaviors onto the majority culture. It also attempts to enforce rules about how people can speak, the words they can use and what they can speak about. Left PC embodies a relativism that is an attack on Christian mores in particular. Abortion, feminism, deviant sexuality, secularism, degenderizing language, pornography, all challenge Christian beliefs. But Left PC goes further, that merits the name 'thought police' by endeavoring to suppress an individual's right to Constitutional freedom of speech in areas that are different from Left PC norms. Left PC endeavors to demonize majority norms in several areas. The fact that it is so prevalent now in education and media makes one wonder who is behind it all. The combined racial, ethnic, sexual and secular groups are gaining ascendancy.

Left PC goes too far in advocating its positions in an endeavor to overthrow majority norms. Instead of just holding that men and women are equal they also say they are the same. This leads to confusion. Instead of just saying that different racial and ethnic groups have equal value, they go too far by saying that minority groups have superior status because they have been oppressed and deserve equal representation in society with the White Christian majority, although they are minorities. Instead of just accepting integration, advertising now acts as if unintegrated couples aren't cool. Instead of just saying that deviant sexuality should be accepted, they go too far in promoting deviant sexuality or gender dysphoria as a lifestyle choice. Leading people to believe that it is a harmless free choice is confused and leads to societal damage from people engaging in a deviant sexual lifestyle who are really not. Young children in some schools are taught they can choose their sex and gender. This shouldn't be promoted in education, media and the culture. Left PC promotes science but goes too far in the secular repudiation of God. Just because science cannot empirically test the metaphysical, does allow it to invalidate the metaphysical experiences of humanity. Just because men have participated in some patriarchal oppression doesn't imply that men or masculinity are bad. Just because some people hold Christian beliefs doesn't imply that they must abort them if a minority objects. Etc.

It is said that PC thinking is part of cultural Marxism that like economic Marxism, is an attempt to overthrow the universal principles of Christianity with materialistic notions based on an assumption of separation and the inevitable conflict that arises from competing individuals and groups. It is attempt to destroy universal spiritual and absolute morality with a relativism that is based on self interest rather than concern for a larger holistic purpose and law. And it is based on the contradiction of making relativism a new absolute. Enforcement replaces freedom. Marxism, a subversive materialistic ideology posited that all societal relations were based on economic class. The way to overcome oppression by the upper class with its Right PC, was by a revolution of the lower class to gain equal economic power. However, when that didn't happen, some decided it was first necessary to overthrow the Christianity of the upper classes and this was termed cultural Marxism which is egalitarian Left PC or multiculturalism.

In the US, the Republicans are the party of slavish devotion to the wealthy rulers by Right authoritarian PC and the Democrats are the party of slavish devotion to Left egalitarian PC identity politics. People have a choice they don't like re who they will be exploited and betrayed by. Naturally there is a lot of antiestablishment sentiment but people don't really have good places to turn as the NWO and their elite group servants seem to have all the power. However, there are progressive organizations and online sites although these are being smeared by the media and both the Democrats and the Republicans.

PC thinking on the Left and the Right although seemingly different, are actually coming from the same motivation — power. The Right seeks to maintain power and the Left seeks to subvert it.

On the Right, PC thinking is all about upholding the rightness of the national ideals and myths:

In the case of the US, that the country stands for good, democracy, human rights, freedom, prosperity, justice and law, opportunity, God and truth. It therefore is opposed to terrorism, evil, lawlessness, human degradation and injustice. Closer examination of these PC beliefs will reveal the widespread hypocrisy of them. They are contradicted by the behavior and action of those who mouth these ideals. For example, a nation whose foreign policy is really about brutal aggression and exploitation is not really acting for the professed good.

On the Left, PC thinking upholds minority rights and values, science and rationality, and is opposed to oppression, negativity and inequality. It also expects conformity to its identity politics and belief in the rightness of whatever minority culture needs promoting while tearing down any opposition in such areas as feminism, alternative sexuality, marriage and gender, racial integration, abortion, neutering language and speech, pornography rights, denigration of religion, etc. Closer examination of these Left PC attitudes will also reveal the contradiction and hypocrisy of their oppressive, intolerant behaviors. These thought police operate from the bottom up in society through group pressure, guilt, criticism, and advocacy.

Superficially there is a wide divergence between PC thinking on the Right and the Left, but both utilize the media to impose their values on the populace. The effect is to indoctrinate the population with beliefs and values which distort the facts and limits freedom of thought and expression — which specifically benefit the groups promoting the PC thinking. Left PC thinking is promoted by culturally subversive groups who want to extend their power. Right PC thinking is promoted by culturally dominant groups who want to extend their power. All the issues addressed in PC thinking ultimately come down to the drive for power. The fact that Left PC positions are increasingly represented in the MSM and academia shows it is increasing cultural dominance.

To examine a PC belief to see how it actually supports both Left and Right, let's take the Left belief that 'everyone is guilty for the unjust victimization of Jews and that any further criticism means the critic is an anti-semitic victimizer who must be censored and punished'. This PC belief is enforced in the media which prohibits criticism or analyses of Jews, Zionism, Judaism and Israel and attacks those who would do so. This suppression also supports Right PC by not contradicting the myth that Israel is a moral democracy and bastion of human rights in the Mideast and a loyal ally. Both Left and Right advocate for the rights and preferences of the few to dominate those of the majority. On the Right, those who benefit are the ruling elite and their bureaucracy. On the Left, those who benefit are those aspiring to climb up the hierarchy of power. The Left is naturally subversive of the normative Right but can ascend to dominance if the Right is perceived to be false. The fact that now the Jews as a minority are being protected by the media indicates that they have moved into the dominant culture.

Right or authoritarian PC upholds religious, racist, ethnic, national and classist stereotypes of the dominant majority culture and asserts that these stand for what is right and good. Left or egalitarian PC upholds the rightness of minority identity group values that they say are being oppressed and the wrongness of dominant normative values, ideals and beliefs. In practice egalitarian PC ignores class domination because it advocates hope to benefit from the economic class system. So it focuses more on the cultural and religious front to empower minorities and normalize their beliefs. Women, who actually aren't a minority, are considered one by Left PC because of their assumptions of women's exploitation. Therefore they advocate feminist values for women and attribute negative judgments to normative women and men. All PC then is an endeavor to establish power in assumed conflicts by reducing the issues to a power conflict. The MSM normally propagates Right propaganda and PC thinking but as Left PC identity groups gain economic power, the MSM reflects that power by disseminating Left PC stories and values. This is witnessed in the increasing stories promoting deviant sexuality in the MSM.

With the advent of industrialization, the middle class, capitalism and representative government, the rulers shifted from the aristocrats and landed gentry to the capitalists and financiers who controlled the overt political leaders from behind the scenes through money and influence. Likewise the priestly class lost power to the media, advertising and academia who were better used as agents of mind control, indoctrination and propaganda by the rulers in this modern age. And it's easier to control people if you control what they think.

In the present day, the New World Order and its related institutions, laws, organizations and processes incorporate the selfish, materialistic rulers of the world and their drive for global hegemony through any means necessary. The intermediate period where capitalism benefited the middle class is ending as the NWO has turned on the middle class by forcing them to compete on equal terms with the third world masses and thus eventually reducing their status to an equally exploited level. And many people are beginning to wake up to this reality, thus the widespread antiestablishment feelings.

The role of the media and communication industries is to serve as the Ministry of Truth, justifying the status quo, or Right PC and the system which maintains the right to the power, wealth and privileges of the cabal of rulers. The dissemination of authoritarian politically correct thinking and values is part of this process. Left PC breaks down or deconstructs collective beliefs which coheres society. Without these collective morals and beliefs people can be more easily manipulated and controlled. People are beginning to wake up to the PC, Right and Left programming that is being imposed on them and are angrily reacting.

A Theosophical perspective on deviant sexuality and gender

A Theosophical perspective on the relation of the sexes in regard to current politically correct notions, will hopefully be explanatory. In Theosophy, each human being is a spark or extension of God/the Divine Whole manifesting through a conscious divine soul/psyche that has both equal male and female qualities. This soul/immortal individual then incarnates repeatedly through/as both male and female personalities to develop out, express and integrate all parts of itself. Therefore the purpose of each incarnation is to incorporate needed development to gradually consciously become the inner self/soul. It can just as easily do this in a male as in a female body, although the characteristics of each are different, although equal. Therefore the individual accepts the nominal sexual nature of the body he/she is incarnating in because his/her unconscious purpose is becoming whole and one with the soul, not specifically identified with a particular sex or gender. Over time, both male and female qualities and experiences need to be integrated.

A problem arises related to current politically correct notions of sex and gender when an individual over a series of incarnations begins to identify with one gender and pattern of attraction as his/her identity. Then, instead of placing an equal emphasis on both gender patterns, and thereby affirming his wholeness which equally encompasses both, he/she takes his/her self to be a specific physical gender rather than a holistic soul. Then soul/self realization becomes more problematic, as the individual becomes fragmented and physically polarized. This, of course, doesn't imply that alt sex feelings are not heartfelt, genuine and deep. However, individuals become one sided and stuck in a limited pattern of experience.

Of course, adults have the right to do what they want, so long as they don't infringe on other's equal rights. So it is important to accept an individual's right to deviant sexuality within limits. The problem arises with regard to whether the majority in society, who don't have these non normative feelings, thoughts and attractions, should promote them in education, media and the culture. And from a Theosophic perspective and from the perspective of the normative citizen, they should not. From a Theosophic perspective, alternative sexuality, while understandable, posits a false and misleading view of the nature and purpose of human development that confuses people and is against their spiritual nature. From the view of the average person, alternative sexuality offends their feelings and beliefs, and so results in anger and confusion. They likewise don't want to teach or promote it they feel and believe that it has an adverse effect on society. There is an important distinction between loving and accepting someone in their alt sex vs believing in the value of what they may be doing when generalized for society. The salient point is not acceptance but promotion, teaching and cultural normalization of alternative sexuality. Where exactly that line should be drawn is difficult to say and will require widespread discussion.

Jewish influences

I don't mean to be overly critical of Jews but all groups and ideologies have both positive and negative qualities and it's important to have as objective perspective of these as possible. Certainly Jews have made innumerable positive contributions to society, but there are negative influences as well, that considering the power of Jews as a whole now, it's necessary to be aware of these so that they may be offset. Kevin Macdonald's website and books has the clearest critique and analysis of Jews and their qualities and influence. Considering that the Jews largely own and control the communications industries — media, publishing, entertainment, advertising, etc. — the financial industries, and increasingly, the political establishment and think tanks, it behooves us to see to what ends this influence is directed.

Considering Jew's control in communication and influence in academia, they have a lot of control over what people think and believe. Although Judaism posits a belief in a god Jehovah who lays down moral laws, the actual trend of Jewish thinking is rationalistic, materialistic and therefore, reductionistic. Their god is a tribal figure who exists for their benefit and is not therefore a universal. Therefore Jewish thinking is basically separative and concerned for the good of Jews, rather than the good of all, as their god says they have the right and destiny to rule over all. Their influence is to advocate intellectual and reductionistic systems of thought that deconstruct or denigrate universal spiritual systems of belief like Christianity. They have tried to equate a belief in science with a disbelief in metaphysical or spiritual reality — a false equation. In the PC thinking so prominent in academia now, there is an attempt to subvert the norms of the Christianity of the normative majority culture by proclaiming the superiority of the minority cultures as unjust victims of oppression. Ergo minority values must be right and the majority culture should feel wrong, shame and contrition. While there has certainly been some historical oppression, the current PC attack on majority culture is also oppressive and therefore opposed to the universal rights and freedom essentially posited by Christianity. Not that these have been actually fully practiced. However, the essence of Christianity is based on love, equality and freedom of the spirit. The essence of Judaism is based on arrogant right and materialistic and self serving assumptions.

The Jew's control of the media is also being used now for political purposes that support a Zionist and Jewish agenda. The bias in the media supports Islamophobia and demonization of any group or person who stands up to the Zionist controlled agenda of the NWO for global domination. This is easy to observe in the Middle East where the countries that have been advocates for Palestinian rights have been destroyed one by one for very bogus reasons. Likewise any criticism of Jews or Zionism is prohibited in the media. However, it can also be witnessed in the bias supporting NWO financial instruments like the World Bank, the EU, the IMF and the Bank for International Settlements when they impose dominating exploitive conditions on the nations of the world. Because of the Jew's prominence in the banking and financial industries at the apex of the world's global economic system, it all fits together nicely and is self reinforcing. This would mostly happen even if Israel didn't exist, but the existence of Israel definitely provides the Jews with concrete foothold around which they can promote their agenda, values and power.

Although I have concern and criticism of Jewish and Zionist activities, I believe that Jews are as divinely human and good as all humans are. My concern is about Jewish group activities which aren't constructive for humanity as a whole. This leads me to the conclusion that key industries — media and finance in particular — should not be in private hands where they can be used to further special interests of a particular group to the disadvantage of the good of the whole. Also, the obscene imbalances in wealth and income need to be remedied and the corrupting influence of money on the political process curtailed. These positive changes would go a long way toward rectifying the harmful influence of Jews as a group.

Actually my interest in Jews, Judaism and Zionism was late in coming. Growing up I had no knowledge or contact with Jews. I wasn't until college that I met my first Jews who I found to be intelligent and engaging and not particularly religious. The bonds between them seemed to be of a different sort. I learned that as a group they had been persecuted by the Nazis and that many had made significant achievements and contributions in many fields. They had a powerful lobby to advocate for Jewish and Israeli interests. That was about it and all I cared to know as my life and interests carried me in a different direction after college.

It wasn't until after 9/11 that I slowly began to develop a curiosity about Jews that led to some research, contemplation and some conclusions. After reading a number of books on the shocking trauma of 9/11 that explored the many unaccountable problems with the official explanation of what happened as outlined in the 9/11 Commission Report and promulgated in the media and the establishment, I had to inductively come to the — heretofore unbelievable — realization that the official conspiracy story about the nineteen Arab terrorists who did it all was a lie and cover up for a false flag operation that was meant to be a new Pearl Harbor that would galvanize the country for war against 'Islamic terrorism' and internal suppression of dissent. And it successfully accomplished these aims if we look at the history of the last 18 years which has been totally defined by this treacherous event.

Although many Jews figured prominently in the establishment that facilitated the event and then covered up the facts, Jews or Zionists have still not been implicated by evidence, to my knowledge, to be behind it. However, if you look at who actually had the means, the connections, the technical capabilities to not only stage this event, but cover it up and convince the world that it was different than it was, the Zionists are the most likely group. They not only have access to all US advanced technology but are well placed in the corridors of power in government and private industry. Then if you look at who benefited from the protracted Mideast Wars which were all started with various lies and fabrications against those countries which were supporters of the Palestinians, it becomes clear that only Israel really benefited.

A group that is powerful enough to successfully attack the world's only superpower and then successfully fool the world into blaming a false victim, and then impel the superpower to start a series of wars costing trillions of its own dollars and the lifeblood of its own citizens and the condemnation of the world — this must be a powerful group. And when that group can prohibit any criticism of it you realize just how far the tentacles of its control actually extends.

So I have subsequently read up a bit on the Jews and discovered some things that aren't general knowledge but accessible if one will look. Jews feature prominently in the events of the time and more awareness of this would be helpful. DK, (Alice Bailey) with his access to a higher level of divine knowing is the best source to explain why the Jews are as they are. And this is because they were created earlier than Earth humanity and are thereby more colored by the quality of separative material intelligence. Kevin Macdonald offers the best analysis of the history, qualities and dynamics of the Jews. Only in the last year or so have critiques of Zionist activities been appearing more openly in progressive online websites. It's important to be informed. And also necessary to differentiate between the divine human being and the activities that are self serving, and contrary to the good of the whole.

Jew as trickster

The trickster archetype is that figure who is the outsider who disobeys and subverts the norms of society using his wiles, his opportunistic initiative, his desires and his crafty rationalizations to get what he wants, and in the process the other characters are taken advantage of by their ignorance and conventional thinking. The trickster has a lot of positive qualities and there are positive lessons that can be learned from him, but he is ultimately a self serving and disruptive element in society if he is not properly dealt with. To address his influence we have to be conscious of it, because the trickster is prone to secrecy and deceit that renders his actions more effective. The metaphor for the Jew in relation to others is the trickster. (Although the ego could also be a metaphor in relation to the world.)

<https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Trickster>

The Jews invented usury as a way of gaining wealth without working and have further developed the modern international financial industry which they control with all its crafty methods of getting money by financial trickery. As a result trillions of dollars/pounds/euros flow into the Jew's private coffers. This money is further used to buy influence and control of politicians, the media, publishing, entertainment, think tanks and academia. We have to see the corrupting anti democratic effects this ill gained private wealth is causing and learn from it and make some changes. Specifically: public ownership of the banking and financial industry; prohibition of special interest political lobbies/money; independent control of the media to assure fair and objective reporting; limits to income and wealth.

Through the media and entertainment industries which Jews control, they are promoting subversive movements to the dominant Christian culture. The Jews are heavily involved in the porn industry, and in the promotion of decadent degrading themes in music, TV and cinema with gratuitous sex and graphic violence. They are promoting diversity culture and LGBTQ values, abortion, atheism and minority immigration because they believe weakening the dominant culture benefits them. The antipathy that conservative Christians feel toward Hollywood and the media reflects their perception that these liberal industries are undermining their values. These conservatives must demonstrate the scientific ill effects that come from these corrupting attitudes and unite politically on the issues so that the Jews can no longer hide their money making subversion behind a free speech rational. Through the control of the 'news' we are being subtly indoctrinated and controlled. We must realize what is happening and take control back.

This doesn't mean that Jews are bad, just that as a group they are self serving, materialistic, aggressive and disruptive to the dominant culture. Their intelligence and influence is valuable just so long as it is kept under control. It contributes to the culture then. The problem is that we have let the Jews gain too much control. Therefore we have been spending trillions of dollars, causing untold suffering and bleeding NATO's life blood on a cause that only benefits the Zionists. Is that stupid? They are behind the globalist aggression economically and militarily to establish global hegemony by the West. Therefore many second tier European nations are realizing that they are losing their sovereignty and being used and exploited in the push to establish a NWO. We are allowing our values, that are based on love and human dignity, to be subverted. We need to see what is happening and take back control.

Jews themselves don't deserve suppression — merely some of the practices that they are indulging in that aren't serving the greater good. In a way they are doing a service by showing us how we are letting our society and values be corrupted and what needs to change.

Jews have not been hated throughout history in the various nations where they have played a role, just because they formed a distinct group, or that they were intelligent. This victimization had a cause. It is the kind of group and the activities of the group which naturally caused a reaction in the host nation. They have been a group that have steadfastly just looked after their own, and being intelligent and exploitive soon rose to power and prominence over the host people who eventually realized that they were subject to a foreign element that was disrespecting and using them. Naturally the host people's disliked this and threw them out, as the Jews refused to assimilate or change. The Jews as innocent victim is a self serving myth. If the scientist really believes in causation, then a real cause must be looked for.

If a man came into therapy reporting a history of persecution, victimization and being disliked, would the therapist just say that was bad luck? No, he would look for causes — things that the man was thinking or doing that are contributing to his experiences. Scientists don't believe in effects without cause and when there is a pattern there is a cause. The Jews have steadfastly refused to take any responsibility for their collective experiences. This is partly because that would require change on their part, and they want to hold on to their belief in their superiority, their arrogant assumptions of their rights to exploit and dominate, their materialistic assumptions about life and the primacy of the mind, and their innate separatism. These attitudes and assumptions result in a very unloving and abusive mindset to those outside their group as can be seen in their abusive behavior toward the Palestinians. So because the Jews believe that they are right, they realize that they can't be too open about broadcasting what they really think and so resort to deceit, subterfuge, dissimulation and covert manipulations with regard to their host nations. But in private, in the synagogue or in Israel they are more open about it. This gives rise to another characteristic of the Jews that has not been appreciated — their tendency to lies and treachery. Thus the self serving myths they perpetuate about themselves.

The myth of the democratic and human rights respecting nature of the Jews also needs to be looked at. Naturally they advocate for minority rights when they are a minority as this serves them, but when they are in power as in Israel now, their true nature comes out as can be seen in their oppression of the Palestinians and their establishment of an apartheid state which denies the Palestinians their equal rights. Their religion states that they are God's chosen people who have the right to rule over the peoples of the Earth, so this should be no surprise. And historically when they have had power they have been aggressive and domineering. Likewise they are instrumental in the push for a NWO and global hegemony — not the exemplar of innocent advocate of human rights.

If we would really understand the recent history of the Jews we would read Solzhenitsyn's Two Hundred Years Together, but of course Jewish publication houses have prohibited publication of the book so the real facts wouldn't intrude on the Jewish myth of unjust victimization and the holocaust. Naturally Jews omit mention of the slaughter of millions of Russians by the Jewish led Bolsheviks or their destruction of the Christian Church in Russia. Not a very good example of a people who are supposed to believe in human rights and social justice. Jews casually wave away any charges that have been made against them in history which they somehow know "to be all untrue" without actually bothering to investigate them. This is also not a very scientific attitude. This is just demonstrating how inconsistent human beings are — they can be very rational in some areas and very emotional in others.

Jews have, of course, made many important contributions to the world but they refuse to admit that they have a shadow side. They foster the myth of Jewish promotion of "benign social ideals" and their benevolent influence, which is an additional dissimulation that supports the criticism of Jew's trickster qualities. The Jews were responsible for the murder of Jesus and for two thousand years have been trying to replace Christianity's spiritual and loving worldview with a materialistic and self serving one. The intellectual influence of the Jews is paramount and this has been working to subtly corrode the West's belief in Christ. As DK has told us, the Jewish people were created in an earlier age that was colored by the separate influence of the development of the mind. Most people on Earth have begun their incarnational journey more recently in an age colored by the need to develop love. Therefore there is a natural difference.

All this doesn't justify hatred. It does explain why certain attitudes, activities, beliefs and actions by the Jews have not been appreciated by the majority of people who have had dealings with them.

Evolutionary psychologist Kevin Macdonald has written some very insightful books on the Jews, for which he has been persistently smeared and harassed. Only one of his books is still available on Amazon — Jewish owner, no surprise there — but can still be purchased through links on his website.

<http://www.kevinmacdonald.net>

The Jews are an influential people and more needs to be known about them, particularly now as they are central to several dangerous developments in the world. As we aren't going to get this knowledge through the media or in school, we have to educate ourselves. Finally, in the last year or so, more critical and honest exposes of the Zionists have been coming out online. We need to be informed.

All is 'well'

Were our homes bombed, our cities destroyed, our families killed and our communities desecrated, and we were left groveling in the resulting ruin, despair and bitterness as the people of Libya, Palestine, Syria, Iraq and Afghanistan are, would we feel that it was of little consequence? Yet in the West, in those countries responsible for this obscene and abhorrent carnage and destruction, we complacently turn the channel to the next trivial distraction. Our leaders through their media tell us not to concern ourselves. These things happen in foreign policy and what happens to the colored inhabitants of these God forsaken lands really doesn't matter much. Although Christ told us to love all as brothers, He really didn't mean them. As long as the well-to-do are making money, and we have our beer and sausage that's all that really counts. In WWII when the British were bombed they thought it a great moral outrage, but if we do it then it's different. Of course we haven't seen any stories and photos that show what life is like now in those Middle Eastern countries we have been systematically destroying. That might be unpleasant to see. The MSM doesn't want us to be distressed by things that really don't concern us. Oh, right, we're supposed to be a democracy. Well, no one actually believes that is true. Let's turn on the TV now, and let Big Brother reassure us that all is well and that these rumors of problems are just from malcontents and subversives.

Problems with conservative Christian theology and politics

I believe that conservative Christianity (CC) has a number of theological and moral confusions that impede its adherents.

First of all, CC in its emphasis on Bible scripture, and Judaeo-Christian history forgets that Christ brought a New Covenant that superseded Judaism. Yet CC continues to adhere to many outdated Jewish attitudes and beliefs. The fact that the Old Testament is included in the Christian Bible inclines people to conflate the angry, judgmental, anthropomorphic, tribal god of the Jews with the loving, forgiving universal God that Christ taught us to believe in. Christ taught that all are equal children of God and that therefore all are chosen and none are deserving special power or privilege. Christ demonstrated that our life is really eternal and that all can choose eternal life and know the truth of it by the Holy Spirit that he sent to humanity. Christ taught that he would continue to be with us in spirit and that he would return again. Through the ascension of Mary we learned that women could also embody Christ although their path might appear different from Jesus' path. From these few simple basic understandings we can construct our lives and our civilization.

CC likes to believe that it is adhering to many moral principles yet these are really judgements that Christ admonished us to release. If we rely on the Holy Spirit that Christ has given, we shall not need an absolute and inflexible morality because through the Holy Spirit we will know what is right. Those who do not live by this faith are merely demonstrating the unbelief that their morality is really a compensation for.

An example of a CC moralism is its 'pro-life' stance. Were it really pro-life. In fact it is pro-fetus. A fetus cannot live independently and so is an appendage rather than a human being. If CC were really pro-life it would be advocating for the well being of the billions of people on Earth who are suffering from preventable wars, disease, poverty, famine, injustice and oppression. How little effort is expended toward ending the awful Mideast wars that the US has imposed since 2001? How little effort is made to end capital punishment, gun violence, police brutality, discrimination against minorities and women, exploitation through pornography, lack of health care, etc.? Christ taught that life is eternal and as such cannot be affected by events on Earth. However, we still have a moral obligation to live by the HS and to create a society that best reflects a love for each other. The selective morality of the anti-abortion issue, when not reflected in a commensurate concern for the good of actual human beings on most issues, looks more like a patriarchal attempt to control women that does not acknowledge their right to live by the Holy Spirit. The early church believed in reincarnation of the soul. This belief needs to be reinstated so that we would realize that in ending the life of a fetus, we do not affect the soul which will choose another opportunity to be born.

Another CC moralism is the notion that good Christians are responsibly law abiding. Yet how moral can we be if we don't work to reform immorality in our political and economic system. It should be obvious to all that the present situation where a handful of families and individuals own and control most of the planet, that they are destroying, is obscenely immoral. Yet many CC individuals are deluding themselves and avoiding their responsibility to change this situation in the convenient delusion that our system is just. Just because something is legal does not make it right. A capitalist system based on profit, exploitation and greed requires regulation to limit its selfish excesses. Our private banking system, for example, is based on usury that used to be prohibited by the church, because it is exploitive theft. Now the financial industry usurps trillions of dollars from the productive economy to create a predator class that further corrupts the system by buying political control and ownership of the main segments of the economy. Perhaps in Palestine it was best to "give unto Caesar" but in a Christian democracy we must do our best to create a system that upholds brotherhood, human rights, justice and equality under God.

Another area where CC is confused is its attitude to science. There is really no conflict between Christianity and science — they are each operative and authorities in different domains. Science can speak about empirical reality and Christianity can speak about metaphysical reality. However, the recent attempt by CC to deny scientific findings substantiating the ecological destruction humanity is wrecking on Earth, is misguided. Our chemicals and industrial practices are poisoning the soils, the oceans, the groundwater and the atmosphere. Species are dying, seas are becoming acidified and fished out, the soil is becoming denatured, artificial and toxic chemicals are pervading our environment and the food chain and causing health problems. The entire ecosystem and climate are changing and becoming less habitable. If we are going to be responsible for ourselves and our children's future, we must establish sustainable ecological practices. Authoritarian CC often allies with the capitalist establishment and falls into line with whatever script the monied interests are putting out. CC must be more responsible to live by a true Christian faith rather than being a deluded apologist for the status quo.

Just as Jesus said that he would continue to be with us and accessible through the Holy Spirit, many individuals over the last two millennia have experienced divine intercessions, miracles, contacts and communication from Jesus, Mary and assorted Angels and Saints. We need not rely exclusively on the Word as given out two thousand years ago, for Spirit is ever present and revelation is continuing. Therefore CC must move from an authoritarian reliance on the past, tradition and conditioned belief to the opportunity of experience in the Holy Spirit now. Jesus has recently said that he is not coming again just as an individual Son of God, but that Christ's Spirit and Consciousness are even now pervading humanity collectively and offering us each the chance of choosing Christ as Jesus did. Christ is returning to Earth as a whole and embracing the entire planet. If CC would focus more on spiritual experience rather than just spiritual belief, it would be easier to take advantage of the unique moment we are in by accepting the Spirit moving within us now. The Second Coming is beginning now if we will open our hearts and minds to His Presence that is emerging from within.

Roman Catholic problems

Although the Roman Catholic Church has maintained the Sacraments and taught the Truth of the Divinity of Jesus and Mary, and related matters, it has also committed much evil over the centuries. Although Christ proclaimed a New Covenant, the Church has held on to old and outdated Judaic beliefs from the Old Testament, particularly around the idea of an angry, judgmental anthropomorphic god which is not Christ's Teaching. Although Christ taught to not judge, the entire history of the Church and its theology and practices have been a never ending exercise in judgement. Although Christ taught us that the loving Father does not judge, the Church has placed a judgement of eternal sin on mankind that can only be relieved through its intercession. Although Christ taught us to be charitable, merciful and loving, the Church has violently attacked its perceived enemies, blessed and encouraged wars and participated in the subjugation of native peoples. Although Jesus chased the money lenders out the temple, the Church has demanded money from its followers that it has primarily used to enrich itself. Although Christ taught us to place Heaven and God first, the Church has lusted after worldly power and wealth. Although Christ sent mankind the Holy Spirit whereby each person may know Christ, the Church abrogated a false authority to arrogantly proclaim itself the divine intermediary and so led people astray from the Truth that would free them by making them, instead, dependent on the Church and its interpretations of the Truth. Many of the doctrines of the Church are of human origin and have only caused confusion and suffering, such as the teachings on eternal sin, guilt, hell and damnation, vicarious atonement, the need for a priest's absolution, celibate clergy, the inequality of women, the critique of sex and nature, requirements of the congregation, placing more value on the church than those who have been abused by it, etc. Ironically it has been women who have most fully embodied Christ's admonition to Love and yet the Church continues to relegate them to second place. The crises in the Church now are entirely of its own making that have resulted from straying from Christ and the Holy Spirit.

An argument against secularism

I'm sure in the Middle Ages when the religionists had the power they were very harsh to the rationally and scientifically minded. Now the situation seems reversed and in our politically correct secular culture, a spiritual world view is discriminated against. Or the media and our educational system just excludes it as if it is not relevant. I really want to argue that there is a place for both empiricism and spirituality and that each has its legitimate realm. An open mind about the nature and possibilities of life and consciousness is best. The continuing revelations of science are continuing to reveal new and unexpected aspects of reality, after all. However, there are reasons why many rationalists, materialists and atheists (RMA's) often hold deluded, hypocritical, uninformed and arrogant beliefs.

1. RMA's reason that because some religious beliefs are obviously false, all religious beliefs must be false. This is faulty and deluded reasoning — 'straw man' logic. By this line of argument, because some scientific theories have been wrong, all scientific theories are wrong.

2. If someone told RMA's that they were really having a dream and were not awake, they would vociferously exclaim that they can tell the difference between waking reality and a dream or fantasy. Yet they arrogantly believe that the millions of people who have had spiritual or paranormal experiences have only had psychoses or fantasies and not reality based experiences. Denying the evidence of our collective human experience is willful and arrogant ignorance — and unscientific.
3. RMA's say they only believe in the reality of things that can be empirically substantiated, yet hypocritically base this on thought itself which is a medium that can not be empirically tested. There are no instruments that can determine if a person is thinking about an apple or an orange, democracy or autocracy. Thought and consciousness are therefore spiritual mediums. Having a physical effect in our physical bodies doesn't allow us to presume that the cause is also physical. In a similar manner we do not have scientific instruments to directly test black holes and dark energy but know that something must be there by its effects. Therefore RMA's are unconsciously contradicting what they profess to believe.
4. RMA's are therefore actually more religious than the spiritualists they castigate, because they have no evidence or facts to support their belief in the non reality of the metaphysical whereas religionists and spiritualists often have had spiritual and paranormal experiences to support their beliefs. This makes RMA's in sum, look rather like deluded fanatics.
5. RMA's who believe in the supremacy of the intellect and who believe reason and rationality are the best or only faculty to base one's life, beliefs and decision making on must realize that this is not realistically in accord with human nature. People will consistently do things that trump rationality by acting based on feeling, intuition, instinct or emotion. And they often are grateful they did for there are aspects of human knowing that transcend the intellect and our conditioned learning. This psychology attests to.
6. The wisest and most influential people who have ever walked on Earth such as Buddha and Christ and others — individuals who have also demonstrated supernatural powers as well as profound wisdom — have been united in teaching that there is a spiritual or metaphysical reality. From the very beginning humans have believed that there is more to life than what can be known through the senses not just because they needed an ultimate explanation rationally but also to explain the many kinds of spiritual and paranormal experiences that are part of the human experience and which Earth's greatest souls have testified to. The most compelling argument for the reality of God derives from our collective human experience rather than a need for rational belief.

7. Therefore, a secular society that excludes the spiritual and metaphysical dimension as ours does creates an unhealthy balance that must contribute to sickness and suffering. When popular culture in our schools, media, arts, politics and economics extols the material and denigrates or minimizes the spiritual we loose a sense of proportion and awareness that allows us to be in sync with the divine and create a society based on the Wholeness of reality. People become confused because the underlying myths and paradigms are confused, partial and distorted. Real Christianity, however, is based on a holistic understanding of life that must be resurrected. (I'm not talking here about narrow, doctrinaire, Bible thumping belief.)

Christ's Socialism

Some socialistic political and economic implications of Christ's teaching

As someone who is both a Christian and a socialist, I have long been perplexed and distressed by the seeming inability of many Christians to draw the obvious political and economic implications from Christ's Teaching that they profess to believe.

Jesus Christ not only taught us how to be saved and have eternal life, but also how to live in this world. These two are interconnected as being of service to our fellow man, which is putting love in action, is an expression of salvation. Let us look at some of His specific social Teachings and injunctions - both explicit and implicit - and then see what action in the world and what social policy is being recommended.

Jesus' admonitions paraphrased	Specific personal actions enjoined	Social policies/laws implied
Love one another and do unto others as you want done to you.	Be loving, forgiving, compassionate, fair and charitable.	Society should honor universal human needs and rights.

Reflections on the world

Do good and be a servant of all.	Act for others and the general good.	Laws must provide for the general good.
Do not judge others.	Avoid prejudices and keep an open mind.	Laws, society should be fair and non discriminatory.
Repent and forgive.	Confess and admit mistakes and let hatred and judgement go.	Society must be open, transparent, compassionate.
Be a peacemaker.	Work to resolve conflicts, improve human relations	Establish inclusive, harmonious policies and international relations
Let your light shine and your good works be known.	Speak the truth and live by your highest vision and understanding	Establish laws and policies based on universal high principles
Avoid vice, temptation and sin.	Be upright and virtuous	Prohibit promoting base, immoral, vulgar behavior
Be modest and humble.	Be unpretentious, genuine, sincere	Maintain public decorum, avoid celebrity adulation
Trust in the spirit of God and Christ and do not fear.	Be courageous, forthright and rely on the spirit within	Law and public policy must reflect the highest good
Seek God first of all.	Maintain a spiritual alignment	Honor the central importance of spirit in society
Be harmless.	Be nonviolent	Eschew violence, militarism, armaments, use diplomacy instead
The Truth will make you free.	Trust in and open to what is true and real	Adopt an open minded attitude in all areas of life

Don't strive for riches.	Avoid accumulation, ostentation	Emphasize beauty, goodness rather than wealth
Follow me and imbibe my spirit.	Trust and live by inner knowing.	Place spirit at the center of society

Christianity is based on a God of love, mercy, charity and forgiveness. Christ taught us to love our brother as our self, and that all of humanity are children of one Father. Christ taught us to trust the spirit and to overcome fear by our faith and belief in Him. When Satan tempted Jesus, that temptation was for egoistic power, just as we must overcome the temptation for selfish power by devoting ourselves to what is right and good for all. We cannot serve God without serving our fellow man, as He demonstrated and taught. In bringing a New Covenant for mankind in the law of Love and Eternal Life that He transmitted, He also thereby gave us guidelines for establishing how we should live and the kind of society we must create to fulfill this New Covenant.

These fundamental tenets imply that we must create a political and economic system that is compassionate and that honors the universal needs and rights of life. To do this we must serve one another and safeguard our democratic political system from the corrupting influences of the power of big money so that it furthers the common weal. This must entail also creating a nonviolent society, not one invested in war and aggression.

As capitalism allows exploitation both of ones fellow man and of the planet, it must be severely regulated. As capitalism with its financial system allow for the accumulation of vast wealth and power in the hands of a few to the detriment of the needs of the many, this must be prevented in the laws that define and regulate how the system works. As the political and democratic process are corrupted by money and made to serve monied interests through war and imperial expansion, democracy must exclude the influence of big money if it is to further the general good, peace, diplomacy and harmonious international relations. There are good aspects to capitalism. Having a market, private property, profit incentive, free enterprise and entrepreneurship are all fine just as long as these function within overall socialistic parameters.

If a family was run like a capitalistic country, one child could appropriate most of the food and resources from the other children, leaving them to starve and suffer. No loving parent would allow that and similarly we must not allow the few to appropriate most of the country's wealth and power at the expense of the well being of the many. No loving parent would allow a stronger or more violent child to abuse its siblings, so we must also prevent the greedy, selfish and aggressive from dominating.

Some specific socialistic implications

Establishment of universal rights and entitlements that include; basic income, housing, food, health care, education, non discrimination, animal rights, etc., not suffering from exploitation and want. We must love our fellow man by acknowledging his right to the basics necessary for life and happiness.

Minimums and maximums to income and wealth. Everybody cannot have an adequate amount if some people, as now, have most. The abhorrent excess of wealth, power and privilege by the few is not God given, but legitimized by our present flawed system. This must be reformed. There is enough for all to have the basics of life if these are shared.

Abolition of the predatory keystone of the capitalistic system - the private banking system and fraudulent Wall Street investment practices that allow wealth to be acquired by what amounts to theft. Banks must become public utilities and Wall Street investment practices reformed. Our banking and financial practices legalize theft and unjust accumulation of power and thus are not Christian.

Eliminating the influence of special interest money in politics. The corruption of democracy by money must end. The general good cannot be served if government is corrupted by the special interests of the few as presently exists in the powerful lobbies that buy votes and policies. Christ was very clear about proscribing the way of the wealthy.

Ending war and militarism, armament sales, weapons stockpiles, and police state practices. UN diplomacy must substitute for force, for world harmony, not hegemony. A world based on love requires goodwill, efforts to promote peace and resolve conflicts with diplomacy rather than force. The violence that pervades our culture is definitely not in line with Christ's Teaching.

Establishing all environmentally sustainable practices and abolishing fossil fuels and developing sustainable energy technology. The capitalistic exploitation and poisoning of the planet for profit and self advantage at the expense of the general good, neither honors nature or is sustainable for continued human life.

Removing all governmental secrecy and establishing a completely transparent and assessable government. Secrecy contributes to the abuse of power. Christ advocated bringing light to darkness and thereby exposing and eradicating it. If people knew the evil being done in secret they would not allow it to continue. The admonition to repent and confess is related to the requirement for openness.

Remove the media from the control of private corporations that serve special interest agendas and that now provide circumscribed and biased news. Democracy cannot function without clear undistorted facts and information - the truth. Our corporate media is not providing that service and so must be put in the hands of the public. The media, like banking, should become a public utility.

Establishing international programs to improve the quality of life in all countries, and enhance education and investment. All countries must be healthy, if the world is to be. Rather than just avoiding doing evil, we must serve all and be a force for good in the world.

There are other specific issues that could be addressed, of course, but these, I believe, are some of the important areas. This is a discussion that, in our world of crises and suffering, all who call themselves Christians should be having.

Conservative Christianity's confusions and delusions

Conservative Christianity suffers from a number of significant confusions that severely limit its ability to promote Christ's Teachings and have a positive impact on the world.

Jesus incarnated as a Jew, in part, to fulfill Jewish scripture and prophecy so that He might turn the Jews away from their god of fear, judgment, revenge, hate and materialism toward the New Covenant God of love, mercy, forgiveness, charity and eternal life. Unfortunately, Christianity has included the Old Testament and many Jewish ideas and values in its teaching and thereby corrupted the New Covenant Teaching that Christ established. If we hold the idea of a fearful god, we are not worshiping the Christian Father that Jesus taught. If we would judge our fellow man and attempt to control him in the private matters that God granted him free will in, like homosexuality or abortion, we are living by judgement and hate, not love and charity as Jesus taught. Hate, as expressed in any form of racism, or discrimination is not Christian. Invariably, when Christians profess a belief in the sanctity of the Bible, they are admitting faith in a number of Jewish beliefs and values from the Old Testament that should have been superseded by Christ's Teaching.

Christ, in admonishing us to live by His commands, to love God and love one another, did not include any caveats. Therefore the society that we create and live in should also reflect Christian beliefs and values. Christians delude themselves if they do not realize that our capitalistic economic system does not embody Christian ethics. Capitalism enfranchises the exploitation of man - and the exploitation of our mother Earth. It legalizes and glorifies materialism and the accumulation of wealth and the unequal privilege and power that comes with this. These are not Christian values. We cannot exploit our fellow man and pretend that we love him. We cannot poison the Earth, as we are doing now, and pretend we value the sanctity of life for by doing so we destroy the future lives of our children. We cannot allow a system and society of unequal and unfair materialism if we would put love and spiritual living foremost. Capitalism must be severely regulated to bring it in line with Christian principles that we profess to believe.

Jesus taught nonviolence. Again, we delude ourselves about being Christian if we do not work to curtail the violence that exists in society and that our government is imposing through its militarism and war on the world. This includes addressing all aspects of violence from private gun violence and the need for gun control; to police violence; the violence of our prison system and the death penalty; violent games, video and music for youth; US militarism and wars; drone bombings; torture, CIA subversions and democratic overthrows; etc. Individual rights and freedoms must be balanced by collective responsibility that upholds true Christian values and beliefs. We must look with open eyes at the violent effects of global capitalism as it practiced now that results in the poverty and suffering of billions of people around the world. This system is man made and therefore we have the responsibility to reform it and to work in peaceful diplomatic ways for a better world based on the love of man.

People would respect Conservative Christianity's anti-abortion stance more if it was reflected in a broader respect for the sanctity of life in various areas. As it is not, it looks more like an attempt to primarily control women and limit their rights. Likewise people would respect Conservative Christianity's belief in the wrongness of homosexuality if it distinguished between the person and the practice and was not also typically part of a racist, sexist, ethnophobic mindset that was used to discriminate against, dominate and exclude. It's insightful that these two signature issues of CC coincidentally challenge the male church hierarchy and men's patriarchal control of women, who CC men unconsciously depend on for their power. And provide an excuse for women who fear to accept the responsibility for their own empowerment.

CC also cannot avoid responsibility for the effects of our nation on the world, if we claim we believe in the importance of individual responsibility to live accountably by our Christian faith. If we would look honestly at the effects of the US in the world now we would have to admit these are mostly bad. We lead the world in armament sales, in war, in pollution, consumption of resources and waste. We compel other nations to our will, extract their debts, exploit and threaten them. The US could do so much to make the world a better place but it has become selfish and self absorbed. Yet Christ admonished us to serve our fellow man and demonstrated this service in His life. Because CC has become obsessed with a few narrow and doctrinaire issues, it has lost its perspective and the action to do much more good in the world. Because CC places its emphasis on the personal it has not realized the full socialistic implications of Christ, Who is the All and must be embraced in all and the world as a whole.

A Spiritual Rationale for Socialism

As a Christian, Theosophist and Socialist, I have been surprised and frustrated by the seeming difficulty of religious and spiritually minded progressives to establish a compelling political platform that reflects their faith and that has a wide impact. As most Americans consider themselves to be religious, one would think this would be easier. We have many specific political agendas, proposals and ideas on the Left, but to my view, these aren't as powerful as they might be if they were integral to a holistic spiritual vision that defined life. I will endeavor to articulate a spiritual vision and some political ramifications that derive from this, as I want to make the progressive and socialist movement more effective.

First of all, I think it is helpful to understand that we live in a time of transition that can be explained by a shift described a number of interrelated contrasts—

Separation to wholeness: Our civilization has been based on the assumption of separation of ego from Self, from each other, from God and from Nature. We are experiencing the energetic dissolution of these artificial walls which have created separation, and life based on survival. Its becoming more apparent to most people that we are one humanity, growing ever more interconnected. The underlying spiritual fact that is causing this is that the energy of the soul within all life is increasing and permeating the outer forms of life to establish an integrative conscious energy field.

Mind and belief to heart and experience: In the movement to wholeness, we are moving away from our historical tendency to place primary importance on the separative mind and are moving toward affirming the importance of that connective center, the heart and the authentic experience integral to it. Theology must be grounded in one's actual heart centered life as it is lived now.

Fear and violence to love and life: In a threatening world where we are separate and struggling to survive, fear and violence might make sense but not in a world where we are all brothers, who must foster the life of each other and Mother Earth. Seeing clearly the effects of our selfishness and ignorance we have no choice now except to choose love and life and to cease war and violence.

Exploitation to stewardship: If we are all one family, how can we let capitalistic exploitation continue or the poisoning of the planet on which we depend on for life? How can the health of humanity be established if a small group is allowed to own and control most of the Earth while the majority is deprived and suffer?

Outer authority to inner knowing and empowerment: Trusting in our actual heart centered experience will allow us to move away from giving our power to others. This implies asserting and expressing our innate truth and relying less on those who would create a false dependency and thereby use us. We can't be victimized collectively, if we believe that we have access to the truth within and don't give away our power.

Specific political ideas and ideals that stem from this spiritual and humanistic vision must articulate—

Establishment of universal rights and entitlements that include; basic income, housing, food, health care, education, non discrimination and freedom from oppression, animal rights, etc.

Minimums and maximums to income and wealth. Everybody cannot have an adequate amount if some people, as now, have most.

Abolition of the predatory keystone of the capitalistic system - the private banking system and fraudulent Wall Street investment practices that allow wealth to be acquired by what amounts to theft. Banks must become public utilities.

Eliminating the influence of special interest money in politics. The corruption of democracy by money must end.

Ending war and militarism, armament sales, weapons stockpiles, and police state practices. UN diplomacy must substitute for force.

Establishing all environmentally sustainable practices and abolishing fossil fuels. Developing sustainable energy technology.

Removing all governmental secrecy and establishing a completely transparent and assessable government. Secrecy contributes to the abuse of power.

Establishing international programs to improve the quality of life in all countries, enhance education and investment. All countries must be healthy, if the world is to be.

Remove the media from the control of private corporations that serve special interest agendas and that now provide circumscribed and biased news.

Place an increased emphasis on creativity and inner directed study in education that honors innate knowing.

The LGBTQ+ issue

As an esotericist allow me share my perspective on an issue that has come to the forefront in our culture and caused much suffering and conflict.

First let us enumerate some relevant fundamental facts —

As individuals we are really spirit manifesting as eternal soul incarnating in physical bodies.

The soul has both equal male and female qualities and needs to express and integrate both.

The soul incarnates many times in both male and female bodies to balance and round out its experience.

The LGBTQ issue arises from individuals wanting create what they want in life because they have, over a series of incarnations, come to identify more with one gender or pattern of attraction than another so they want to replicate that in their current life. Although people can not usually remember the details from past lives, the learnings are carried over in one's deep seated preferences and attitudes. What also may contribute to a difficulty in accepting current gender norms are unbalanced stereotyped role models of male or female in the culture now that an individual can't relate to and so they go back to what is comfortable.

While this is an understandable endeavor — and with modern medical technology a feasible one if one wants to change one's gender — it arises from the confusion of identifying with one gender or pattern, when the soul must really learn to integrate both. A fixed LGBTQ identity in the long run over additional incarnations will set back one's development. Because the goal of human evolution is a union with the soul who is Whole and integrates both equal male and female qualities and proclivities.

This perspective is not a judgement of the LGBTQ community or an attempt to make anyone wrong or deviant, for LGBTQ individuals are fine people struggling with a difficult situation that reflects how they actually feel, based on their accumulated experiences. It is merely an attempt to understand and address the issue from a wider perspective that implies a solution.

This solution must perforce posit developing awareness of one's inner Self as an holistic soul and cultivating an endeavor to be that Self and thereby not overly identify with outer gender variables. The solution as in most conflicts lies in raising the issue to the plane where commonality and unity is found. When our endeavor is focused on being who we really are, our outer life will take care of itself over time. This implies that while accepting an individual's right to express their felt sexuality with other consenting adults, that a LGBTQ preference can't be promoted by society as equally healthy or normal either individually or collectively.

The ego's violent culture

The ego began by an attack on the Self that the ego is a manifestation of. This attack was the belief that it is separate, which is a denial of its integral connection with the Self. This act was grounded in fear and identification with the body. This was then projected inwardly in self doubt, self condemnation and guilt. It was manifest outwardly through judgement of others and the world and through an endeavor to control one's circumstances and be superior. It is then easy to justify violence against others if one's inflated ego or one's survival seem threatened. That violence may be emotional or intellectual attacks or manipulations, or it may be physical violence, either directly or through state apparatus. These state apparatus institutionalize the violence that individually we may not consciously admit that we have. These include the laws, the police and military, the prison system, the inbuilt unfairness and oppression of the system, etc. The legitimization of violence is then reinforced in society through education, popular culture, and government. It pervades the mores and values.

A related issue in the news recently, is gun violence, which is unfortunately common in large swaths of America. I have never been shown guns or talked about the guns owned by the people I have known in my life. But there are more guns than people in the US so many people have guns and own multiple guns. Although there are many sportsmen and hunters, most guns are purchased for protection. So it is ironic that most gun deaths are actually by people known to the victim - family and 'friends'. I've read recently that there have been more people killed by guns in the US just since 1968 - 1.5 Million - than in all America's wars combined. Of course the corruption in government makes the problem of gun control more difficult. The National Gun Association bribes and threatens congressman to keep them from voting for reasonable gun laws that most people want. Even after this latest horrific mass killing by a man who had amassed an arsenal and who had modified his semi automatic rifles to make them into machine guns by an add on device, the Democrats in Congress think they will have a hard time getting the Republicans to vote for legislation to outlaw these devices that are now legal.

Of course it's appalling to anyone with any common sense, but it is a symptom of a culture that legitimizes violence against 'bad' people. I'm sure that most of the movies and video games enjoyed by young people in the US contain violence. People are indoctrinated early into the need to protect oneself against all the 'bad' people in the world. When I was a child I received toy guns at Christmas, which is shocking to think of now, but seemed quite natural and good fun then. Unfortunately the US is now the bad person on the world stage, and the biggest terrorist if one looks at the actual destruction, death and devastation committed by the US since WWII. In the wars in the Mideast, the US and it's allies have killed more people than the terrorists have. And yet the complicit media continues to provide cover by promoting the official ideology that the US only acts for democracy, freedom and human rights - which is as absurd as that killer in Las Vegas needing his arsenal for self defense. Unfortunately, although the symptoms of the underlying problem are getting more obvious - endless war on 'terror', more horrible mass killings, increased police state oppression, increased World armament sales, renewed threats of nuclear war, etc. - the corrupt nature of the political situation (control of government by money) in the US is making solutions difficult.

'Bad' means anyone or any nation who actively defies the laws and the rule of the global system oppressing the world. 'Bad' is also a convenient projection. Just as the white settlers in America felt they had to protect themselves from the natives who threatened control of 'their' land that they had taken from the natives, so imperialists have to protect their foreign interests that they have overpowered native populations to acquire and that they are paying local oligarchs to maintain. Bad is really the violent action for power, privilege and control that we have. We fear others are like us and have similar drives, when often they just demand equal rights to the necessities of life. However once we set up the laws that establish and legitimize our system of control, anyone who defies these 'fair, democratic' laws is by definition, 'bad'.

I feel this is related to the increased violent sensationalism in modern culture. The images are more graphically violent, rapid, sexual and offensive. The music is louder and more vulgar. The content often exults at defying traditional mores and being shocking. Personal tastes and styles, such as tattoos, obscenity use, rude behavior, display nihilism, anger, and aggression. I believe these are signs of spiritual malaise, of a society and culture that has lost its mooring. So the increased sensationalism is almost a sign of addiction to a culture of materialism. The 60's offered hope, but the global capitalist system has not changed and now repudiates that hope and people despair.

The answer is ultimately to reclaim our connection to our Self and a more spiritual, loving and holistic values, beliefs, institutions and society that express this.

Fourfold humanity in a global transition

Despite the obvious problems in the world, the crises, the suffering and the threats of greater calamity, there is a greater awareness than ever before by many that we have no choice but to solve the problems of our civilization if humanity is to survive. It is that critical. And many people are devoting their lives to propose the solutions, educate the public and make the changes needed in our beliefs, values, laws, policies and institutions. These people realize that we cannot wait for someone to save us, we must save ourselves as our problems are self created. Many of the issues stem from the fact that we have an outdated global political and economic system that is based on the rule and exploitation of the few over the many. This is a system that sustains itself by violence and by institutions like the capitalistic banking and financial structure that legitimize predatory exploitation and imposed inequality and division. The solutions are already apparent and just need to be embraced by the general public so that they might regain control over the system from the global cabal who are desperate to maintain their power and privilege. The world servers from every country can be recognized by their concern for the general good, for the sustainability of the Earth and the One humanity, who are equal in their rights and value. These world servers are spiritual agents of light and love whether or not they have any religious affiliations.

This spiritual energy, light and love infusing the planet now provide a test that some will not pass. As has been prophesied, the Earth is in the midst of an epochal change and is in process of being transformed to a more spiritual level. Those who remain identified with materialism, violence, hate and service to self over the general good, will not be able to continue to incarnate on this planet. They will be transferred to a world(s) appropriate to their level of development. They will no longer be able to impede the evolution of Earth. This includes many of those powerful and rich now, who care only for themselves and in their false entitlement and selfishness turn a deaf ear to the cries of their fellow man. Those who are happy to enrich themselves at the expense of others and who are only too happy to use any means to do so will not be able to be part of a new Millennium that will be based on Love and sharing.

The third group that will become of increasing size and importance as time progresses are those human beings who are willing and able to accept their Christhood. This entails the Fifth Kingdom of souls, consciously manifesting on Earth. This group will not will not work to reform or change the world, but rather to bring a New Reality, Consciousness and Life. They will express, demonstrate and live life in the Oneness of Christ, fulfilling the Plan of God/Logos for the evolution of the Earth. This group will not be the spiritual personalities of the first group, but will be exponents of the being of the one Soul of humanity. They will not be preparing the way but will demonstrate the Way. They will not be concerned with the mental world of the civilization of the past, but will bring forth from the One Heart the knowing that will create the New Age. Each will have a direct connection with Christ that will allow them to know, speak and act as an expression of Christ. This is the Second Coming. It is happening now through us, not to us.

And of course there is average humanity, sound in heart but struggling and confused in the turmoil of the present day. As the lines of choice become clearer and more compelling, humanity will choose the good, the truth and the beauty which beckons and holds the promise of a sustainable world where all can be happy and fulfilled.

UFO's and ET's

UFO's are an issue, like 9/11, that unless one has actually done some research into, it's normal and natural to think the actual facts of the matter are preposterous because of the effective indoctrination we are subjected to. In other countries it's different as there is more openness and military, aviation and public sightings are acknowledged.

Looking into the subject, however, we find that there have actually been ET interactions with humanity that go back to the earliest recorded history, for which there is archeological, historical and mythological evidence. The TV series, Ancient Aliens did a good job describing this.

Since humanity's development of nuclear weapons, there have been an marked increase in UFO/ET sightings and interactions. There have been numerous contactee experiences, channeled communications, downed UFO's, crop circle messages, etc. The US has had secret programs to reverse engineer the technology from acquired spacecraft that have resulted not only in a number of technologies that we now take for granted like fiber optics, printed circuit boards, and night vision, but also some technology still being kept secret like free energy and anti-gravity. These have the potential to transform life on our planet for the better, so they are being withheld because the cabal controlling the global capitalistic world order doesn't want to loose its power.

Steven Greer is probably the foremost public expert on these matters, so I would recommend his last two films/books, Sirius and Unacknowledged and this related websites:

<http://www.disclosureproject.org/>

<http://siriusdisclosure.com/>

<http://www.cseti.org/>

<https://vimeo.com/ondemand/unacknowledged>

Of course, there are other books and sources of information, but there is also so much that is questionable and fantastic that it can definitely be off putting.

The Disclosure Project:

I'd like to recommend the Disclosure Project, http://

www.disclosureproject.org/, an effort spearheaded by Steven Greer, who is the foremost public expert on UFO's and related matters. This effort is not just about disclosing the factual evidence of UFO's, and ET's that the US government has. It is also about disclosing the secrecy and programs that are developing technologies, in part by reverse engineering downed UFO's, that have the potential to transform the planet both for good or evil. This needs to be made public. One of these technologies, 'free energy', would entirely free humanity of a fossil fuel based economic system with the environmental degradation associated with it and allow all mankind to live with the comforts of abundant free electricity. And free it from the grasp of the cabal that are using that economic system to perpetuate their control, exploitation, injustice and violence.

'Sirius' is a Steven Greer film on UFO's and related matters that is a remarkable movie available on youtube. Although two hours, is well worth watching. It touches on such subjects as:

Present successful efforts to initiate contact with UFO'/ET's
Past corroborated UFO sightings with witness testimony and photos
Historical evidence of ET's in ancient history
Scientific investigation of an alien skeleton and DNA analysis at Stanford University
Free energy technology and other partially reverse engineered technology from downed UFO's
US government secrecy and media repression to keep the public ignorant of these matters
Secret black box programs to develop present advanced technologies
The hidden government agenda for perpetual war and the reasons for this Information on the follow up book and movie 'Undisclosed' that will be coming out.

Unacknowledged: An Exposé of the World's Greatest Secret

The latest movie/documentary by Steven Greer

The evidence and testimony supports the following: (Steven Greer)

"That we are indeed being visited by advanced extraterrestrial civilizations and have been for some time.

That UFOs/ ETs represent the most classified, compartmented Unacknowledged Special Access Programs within the U.S. and many other countries.

That those projects have, as warned in 1961 by President Eisenhower, escaped legal oversight and control in the US, the UK and elsewhere.

That advanced spacecraft of extraterrestrial origin, called extraterrestrial vehicles (ETVs) by some intelligence agencies, have been downed, retrieved and studied since at least the 1940s and possibly as early as the 1930s.

That significant technological breakthroughs in energy generation and propulsion have resulted from the study of these objects (and from related human innovations dating as far back as the time of Nicola Tesla) and that these technologies utilize a new physics not requiring the burning of fossil fuels or ionizing radiation to generate vast amounts of energy.

That classified, above top-secret projects possess fully operational anti-gravity propulsion devices and new energy generation systems that, if declassified and put to peaceful uses, would empower a new human civilization without want, poverty or environmental damage.

Implications for the Humanity and the Environment

We have identified insiders and scientists who can prove, in open Congressional hearings, that we do in fact possess classified energy generation and anti-gravity propulsion systems capable of completely and permanently replacing all forms of currently used energy generation and transportation systems. These devices access the ambient electromagnetic and so-called zero-point-energy state to produce vast amounts of energy without any pollution.

Such systems essentially generate energy by tapping into the ever-present quantum vacuum energy state the baseline energy from which all energy and matter is fluxing. All matter and energy is supported by this baseline energy state and it can be tapped through unique electromagnetic circuits and configurations to generate huge amounts of energy from space/ time all around us. These are NOT perpetual motion machines nor do they violate the laws of thermodynamics; they merely tap an ambient energy field all around us to generate energy.

This means that such systems do not require fuel to burn or atoms to split or fuse. They do not require central power plants, transmission lines and the related multi-trillion-dollar infrastructure required to electrify and power remote areas of India, China, Africa and Latin America. These systems are site-specific: they can be set up at any place and generate needed energy. Essentially, this constitutes the definitive solution to the vast majority of environmental problems facing our world.

The environmental benefits of such a discovery can hardly be overstated, but a brief list includes:

The elimination of oil, coal and gas as sources of energy generation, thus the elimination of air and water pollution related to the transport and use of these fuels. Oil spills, global warming, illnesses from air pollution, and acid rain can and must be eliminated.

Resource depletion and geo-political tensions arising from competition for fossil fuel resources will end.

Technologies already exist to scrub manufacturing effluent to zero or near zero emissions for both air and water but are considered too energy intensive (costly). That equation is dramatically changed when industries are able to tap vast amounts of free energy (there is no fuel to pay for only the device— which is no more costly than other generators) and those systems create no pollution.

Agriculture, which is currently very energy dependent and polluting, can be transformed to use clean, non-polluting sources of energy.

Desertification can be reversed and world agriculture empowered by utilizing desalinization plants, which are now very energy intensive and expensive, but will become cost-efficient once able to use these new, non-polluting energy systems.

Air travel, trucking and inter-city transportation systems will be replaced with new energy and propulsion technologies (anti-gravity systems allow for silent above surface movement). No pollution will be generated and costs will decrease substantially since the energy expenses will be negligible. Additionally, mass transportation in urban areas can utilize these systems to provide silent, efficient intra-city movement.

Noise pollution from jets, trucks and other modes of transportation will be eliminated by the use of these silent devices.

Public utilities will not be needed since each home, office and factory will have a device to generate whatever energy is needed. This means ugly transmission lines that are subject to storm damage and power interruption will be a thing of the past. Underground gas pipelines, which not infrequently rupture or leak and damage Earth and water resources, will not be needed at all.

Nuclear power plants will be decommissioned and the technologies needed to clean such sites will be available. Classified technologies do exist to neutralize nuclear waste.

We are systematically destroying our planet and us with it. We can and we must do better. These technologies exist; bringing them out would save our environment, improve our world, and add tens of trillions of dollars into the economy for everyone ... not just the military industrialists.

ETV technology:

There are two categories of vehicles. The first is an ETV or Extraterrestrial Vehicle, the term used at the National Security Agency (NSA). The second is an ARV or Alien Reproduction Vehicle, which are man-made, advanced, anti-gravity craft that look like a “UFO.”

Neither ETV nor ARV actually fly in any normal aerodynamic sense. They are using field propulsion systems developed as far back as the 1920s by T. Townsend Brown and (post-1947) reverse-engineered from downed ETVs. They employ what is known as the Biefeld-Brown Effect which involves high voltage, electromagnetic, and magnetic flux phenomena which allows an object to become weightless, levitate, and move in a virtually mass-free manner. Advanced physicists in classified projects have understood this for at least 60 years and maybe longer. So I tell people we have never seen a “UFO.” We have, however, had thousands of sightings and interactions with extraterrestrial vehicles and their occupants.

I have also had encounters with a few ARVs. We have seen both, and it is important to be able to distinguish between the two. If you ever see a craft and wonder what it is, ETVs are sleek, seamless, smooth craft with the ability to phase shift instantly. They are often luminous and appear as one smooth solid surface— a surface that does not reflect light. ARVs, by contrast, do not phase shift, do reflect light normally, and do have visible nuts-and-bolts construction with visible seams.

How are ET craft and personnel able to traverse the vastness of interstellar space and time? Accessing the zero-point field and employing high voltage, electromagnetic, and the magnetic flux phenomena mentioned above allows an object to become weightless, levitate, and move in a virtually mass-free manner and, as it turns out, the rigidity of that vastness of space becomes quite flexible and can be largely bypassed once you frequency-shift to the other side of the light barrier.

In one quantum movement, the ET craft and its occupants phase-shift to a finer aspect of the cosmology outlined above, and exist then in an aspect or dimension which is more non-local than the material universe known to modern science. That is, the observed phenomenon of these objects which often seem to disappear and then reappear instantly at a considerable distance is due to the fact that they can phase-shift in and out of the fixed time/ space material aspect to one which is inherently more non-local. From what I have observed and have been told, this is done through a complex interaction between powerful rotating electromagnetic fields and the gravitational field and mass inertia which literally phase-shifts the craft in one quantum leap.

When the craft is on this [our] side of the crossing point of light, it is seen like any other material manufactured object, but it can maneuver in ways which appear to negate mass, inertia, and gravity. (Our witnesses attest to UFOs racing across the sky at speeds in excess of 4,000 miles an hour, only to stop on a dime and take a 90-degree turn— a maneuver if completed under normal conditions would crush every occupant under the tremendous G-forces.)

Once the craft phase-shifts onto the other side of the crossing point of light/ matter, it seems to disappear. But it has not. While in that form or energy spectrum (or dimension), the craft can hover or move within the material universe at many, many multiples of the speed of light. The velocity is non-relativistic ... at least as measured on this side of the light barrier. However, a thousand light years will not be traversed instantly because there is an element of “drag” as it moves in this aspect through the material cosmos. Put another way, there is a component of the object which adheres to the underbelly of the material cosmos, and there is a coefficient of cosmic drag which prevents the trip from being instantaneous across vast interstellar distances.

Operating in a sort of junction between aspects (or dimensions), the ET craft can phase between either. Actually, it can also be partially in both. For instance, the ETV can be hovering outside the Harvard Institute yet remain undetected unless it pops into the material aspect fully and is then seen ... provided the people in the building bother to look outside (of course, that doesn't necessarily mean they'll report it).”

Mind as creator – experience as mirror

The mind has both a passive and an active role in determining our experience. The mind passively interprets everything we experience so that what that experience means is dependent on the underlying assumptions about reality projected on to the raw sensory data of life. This provides the basis for perception. Everyone therefore will have a slightly different experience of the same events because everyone's individual minds have different constellations of beliefs and values. What we in effect experience in the world is really experienced within the psyche. We are thereby enabled to come to know ourselves or at least what we believe. (And value — by the amount of attention or energy given to various ideas).

The mind also actively creates experiences that reflect the thought forms we hold and the energetic focus we give to specific thoughts. It thus externalizes itself as our particular experiential reality. What we believe, give attention to and affirm manifests in our life. The fact that we often do not realize some of our conscious goals is related to the fact that we are invariably conflicted and hold negative beliefs – perhaps subconsciously – that act to subvert and sabotage our conscious goals. As a result of self inquiry or therapy we can make these subconscious core beliefs conscious and resolve them and become less conflicted.

The result is that our experience is really a mirror that is showing us what we believe and where we are focused. Patterns or repeated incidents invariably point to issues within the person experiencing these. We have to take responsibility for our experience and our role in determining it. This is not to imply blame; rather it implies the potential to create what we want in life by consciously choosing what we believe, give reality to and focus on.

Relationships are likewise reflections of our relationship with our self. Negative patterns and issues in one's relationships point to negative judgments, attitudes and fears within oneself. For example, patterns of abuse, devaluation or rejections show that an individual is not believing in their inherent self worth, practicing self love or listening to and acting on intrinsic needs. Inner relationship refers to the fact that we have both our separate ego, that is strongly associated with our conditioning and our body, and an inner self that embodies our intrinsic and potential being. Self realization involves the ego's progressive embodiment of the transpersonal self.

The ego's negative fear based beliefs block the free flow of positive life energy and channel it into separate creations that reflect the separate purposes of the ego. Negative core beliefs are those that we identify with and live out. These are often formed early in life subconsciously and often as an image around which various thoughts are constellated. Negative or traumatic experience causes the mind to automatically internalize related negative images and assumptions about reality that are often not conscious. These images may embody a pre-rational conclusion, interpretation or assumption about one's experience which then becomes 'hardwired' in to the core mental programming that we are unconsciously operating on. Your experiences will seem to justify your core beliefs until you understand the causal connection. The following chain of inferences shows how negative core images can lead to specific ideas and attitudes.

Therefore:

I am separate, alone and vulnerable. I experience lack and have needs that are not being met. I am deficient and doubt myself.
I look outside myself for my needs -- for love, security and satisfaction that I have to work for. I am afraid because I have limited power over a threatening world. I must not be worthy of getting what I need.
I feel guilt, shame and self-hatred because of my deficiencies. I expect retribution or negative consequences for being "bad" and am not free to be myself. I have to continually be on guard and exert my power.
I have to deny the painful truth about who I am, be who I think I should be. I have to do something really special to prove myself and establish my self-worth. My failure shows me that my negative beliefs are justified.
I can't be myself / I'll never be happy / I'm addicted / I'm dependent / I'm always rejected / I have to make great sacrifices / I'm not appreciated / Life is against me / The world is a bad place, etc.

We may endeavor to identify and change the negative core beliefs that invariably lead to suffering. Or we may also realize that these are all associated with our ego mind and endeavor to dis-identify from the ego itself and gradually shift our identity to the self, with its intrinsic positive energy. The latter project utilizes the inherent power and wisdom of self awareness to facilitate the shift if we can experience the reality of this duality within and, through the consciousness of the self, gradually let go of our identity as ego.

We then realize that our entire life is a spiritual project involving the metaphysical manifestation of the self through the agency of the creative mind. We realize the freedom and power we have as co-creators to choose to be the self and in the process manifest our essential being or spiritual reality.

Reflections on the signature events of our times

I'm sitting in the back garden this morning and reflecting on some of the signature events that have influenced and defined my generation. I think, after the victory over the Axis Powers in the Second World War, the West had a reprieve where happy concerns of peace, prosperity and progress predominated. There was increasing affluence, hopefulness and rapid technological development. Of course there was the Cold War with Communism and the specter of nuclear war, but these seemed quite remote from everyday life. This was the 50's.

The 60's brought some influences that were unique and that put an indelible stamp on my generation and the world. I believe the Earth was inundated by new cosmic energies that lifted consciousness to a higher level. This is the only way to understand some of the changes that occurred. These energies were characterized by the qualities of love, freedom, and the sense of a new holistic way of life and being. Culture became electrified, consciousness expanded, and the world's preoccupation with fear, war and materiality was lessened. There were new Eastern and spiritual ideas and a sense of needing to get back into harmony with the Divine in nature. This was the beginning of the New Age of the Soul. The Vietnam War united a generation and raised awareness of the Imperial nature of US/Western foreign policy.

This new energy washed through the planet and then receded to a degree, leaving people to endeavor to integrate it into their lives and in society. Popular music, which had been an avenue of revelation, reverted to traditional issues. New styles were coopted by commercial interests. There was a backlash by regressive forces against some of the excesses of the 60's and the power structure, which had not been touched by the widespread political dissent, retrenched and found new ways to increase their power. However, movements for increased human, racial, sexual, animal and minority rights continued as did the environmental movement. This was the late 70's and 80's.

After the collapse of Soviet Communism in 1990 and the transformation of Chinese Communism to a more capitalistic economy, the West had an opportunity to reduce its military budget, change its policies and establish a more peaceful integrated global civilization. Instead, the US increased its efforts to attain a global hegemony and New World Order for the transnational capitalistic cabal that it embodied and enforced, revealing the true nature of the capitalistic system. On 9/11/2001 happened the event which has changed the course of subsequent history. This is what it was designed to do - create an enemy that would be a pretext for further war and domestic repression.

It's very important to realize that the official explanation and conspiracy story of the Muslim terrorists who are trying to destroy the US and the democratic, freedom loving West is bogus. 9/11 was done by elements of the evil powers who have ever secretly ruled the earth, and who are making yet another attempt to gain world wide power by taking over the US and creating more war. The nineteen Muslims hijackers were merely patsies set up to take the blame. This cabal has gained a large measure of control over the US Congress, the banking and financial institutions, the media, and the Intelligence services, like the CIA. Our constitutional democracy has been totally corrupted by money, and is in the control of the monied interests.

Please read up on 9/11 and start with 911truth.org or David Ray Griffin's books if you don't understand what really happened and why. There are many good books, videos and movies, but it's all being completely suppressed in the government and the MSM. However, it's not all bad. The brazen power grab and subsequent actions are allowing many people around the world to see that the 'emperor has no clothes' and realize that the self proclaimed idealism of the the US in particular, is a hypocritical lie. The latest US President, along with the Administration and Republican Party that he represents, has incited world wide resistance by dangerous and extreme words and actions. He is threatening more war, furthering inequality and taking no action to forestall our environmental global destruction.

However, there are new positive possibilities that can now be seen that indicate the beginning of a new era. The war mongering, hostile belligerence and threats by the US have pushed Russia and China into a defensive alliance and their plans to create a new gold based monetary system will take the power away from the present dollar based global financial system and reduce the power of the US as well. It will be an important step away from the predatory private banking system and world debt slavery this has created toward making banks public serving utilities.

The information provided by Steven Greer's Disclosure Project is very important. In the US all information about UFO's and Extraterrestrial's have been rigorously suppressed. However, since the 40's the US has had secret programs to extract the advanced technology from the UFO's it has acquired. Many technologies we now take for granted from printed circuit boards to fiber optics have been reverse engineered from downed UFO's. And we also now have anti-gravity and free energy technology, although these are in the possession of undisclosed secret organizations beyond the control of the US government.

Tesla predicted the possibility of deriving energy from the infinite energy in the universe, and some patents have been made along this line, although the information was subsequently repressed. Free energy means a small box sized device can supply all the non polluting energy needed for a homes, cars, factories or offices. And it means the end of polluting fossil fuels and nuclear power that are destroying the ecosystem. This technology has been suppressed because the controlling cabal would loose the profit and power they have from the current fossil fuel system.

The presence of the Galactic peoples in their UFO's indicates as well that humanity and Earth are on the verge of a New Age or Millennium as has been prophesied by most Religions. Their presence is a sign that indicates that despite the current crises on Earth, a new beginning is imminent, a new cycle, and a wholly new spiritual civilization will soon be born through the pain and suffering of this present transition. Communications have been coming from the spirit world for some time (that are also being devalued and dismissed by the MSM) that corroborate the meaning of this time and that provide understanding and guidance for humanity in this epochal moment.

Civilizations have always come and gone, so why should our present civilization be any different? Science, which is establishing knowledge of the material world, has far to go in gaining understanding of the multidimensional metaphysical reality we live in. Spiritual sources tell us that currently non empirical levels of reality are gradually becoming more accessible to consciousness and allowing humanity the capacity to shift more to the level of the soul, with all that this entails. The materialistic, selfish and violent forces that have controlled the outer Earth for so long, will soon be overcome, as prophesied. This is their last moment and vain attempt to prevent what is Divinely ordained for Earth.

So we live in a singular and exciting historical moment that foreshadows the end of history as we know it and the beginning of the Age of Light. The human spirit is rising up to resist the Trumps of this world and reclaim the power given to those who have ruled. New information is breaking through that shows promise of change - spiritual and technological. The Galactics will not allow nuclear annihilation. The Forces of Light are allowing evil a bit more time to redeem themselves or be removed from the possibility of further life on Earth. Christ and His Brotherhood prepare for Their imminent reappearance and the establishment of the prophesied Spiritual Age. It's all in process.

Science, eschatology and planetary change

Our modern world is defined by the role science now has in shaping our perceptions. Modern technology has transformed our life and society. Although there is nothing anti-religious about science per se, our culture, media and educational institutions have drifted in an increasingly secular direction and relegated the religious, spiritual and paranormal to the 'back pages' if that. These have become merely personal and even abnormal to a degree. This modern attitude is not representative of the history of mankind which, for all recorded history as far as we can tell, has been characterized by religion and by spiritual and religious experience.

Therefore, it is necessary to understand what science, which is based on empirical investigation and inductive reasoning, can or can not say about religion and spiritual experience. The latter category is especially important as across time and culture, humans have had a variety of experiences can not only not be understood by science, but that, to a degree, defy current laws of science. In all the argumentation about whether or not 'God' exists, the collective testimony of human experience has been studiously ignored. Or, as may secularists are wont to do, such experiences are labeled as fantasy or delusion if they cannot be easily explained. This attitude is, itself, very unscientific.

For our discussion, it is helpful to divide reality into the physical - that which can be tested empirically - and the metaphysical - that which can be experienced, but which is not subject to direct empirical test. And we really don't have to go far to encounter the metaphysical if we realize that even our thoughts and emotions are metaphysical. Science pretends that their correspondence in the brain and physiology implies identity - however these are two completely different, albeit related, states.

Humans continue to have many kinds of spiritual and paranormal experiences that cannot be explained by science such as: near death experiences, out of body experiences, parapsychological experiences, paranormal experiences, contact with non-physical entities, mystical and altered states of consciousness, miracles, superhuman powers, etc. These collective human experiences demonstrate convincingly that there is much more to reality than our current scientific understanding can explain or imagine.

The greatest spiritual figures in history can be presumed to have realized a more profound metaphysical understanding of reality. These great beings like Krishna,, Buddha and Christ taught that there is a spiritual dimension to life, and that it is possible to realize in consciousness aspects of this spiritual reality that is so radically different than our three dimensional reality. The sages of the East, who have for centuries have explored the inner and metaphysical realms through meditation practices, have likewise confirmed that these inner states have their own laws, structures, states and processes that can be scientifically studied by the detached consciousness in meditation.

This brings us to the possibly of religious eschatological knowledge. All religions, which are based on divine revelation, have prophetic beliefs concerning 'end times' and what comes after. These differing prophecies have much in common. To believe in the possibility of such knowledge, is to believe, as all religions do, in a Divine Creator Who has created the earth for spiritual purposes that transcend our ability to understand, and Who has the power to radically transform our world should that be His intention. Just as humankind's personal metaphysical experiences have often defied the laws of the three dimensional world, so can the Creator's Will radically alter our world.

Which brings us to our current historical moment. Things that are inevitable as God's Will must inevitably happen. We are now on the cusp of the New Millennium as prophesied in John's Revelation and other places. This group sharing this information about this, that has been given by the inner spiritual kingdom would like everyone to realize that this prophesied time is happening now, although the details are different in some respects from what has been imagined. Soon there will be more outer crises and tumult and then the inner universal church under Christ will present Themselves and give mankind a fateful choice - whether to choose love and an augmented life on a spiritualized earth, or to choose darkness and materialism and a separate path away. The earth is being raised in vibration and only those who can love will be allowed to stay. This event cannot be scientifically understood. It can only be hoped that humanity can believe in the possibility of a spiritual reality beyond science so that when the time comes we may be open to accept it in grace and not be afraid.

The message about the imminent externalization of the Hierarchy and reappearance of Christ will be met with both skepticism and outright opposition. Of course, we don't have to convince anyone, we just have to present information, still, I think it behoves us to begin to think about we might handle opposition. This won't come from true scientists who are open minded and can be deeply religious. It will come, in part, from the secularists and materialists who will try to pretend that they have reason and science on their side - they don't. Opposition will also come from religionists who have differing interpretations about the happenings we are talking about, but that's another matter.

I believe it's helpful for us to realize that the authority of science only extends to the limits of their instruments. This empirical reality that can be observed and tested by science is but the outer skein of an infinite multidimensional metaphysical reality. Scientific instruments can not even directly test the dark matter and energy that has only recently been discovered by its effects on matter that can be empirically observed. If this argument holds for the dark energy/matter of astronomical black holes, it must also hold for the effect of spirit on our consciousness, which also can not be empirically observed, but which has effected mankind in numerous ways since the beginning of recorded history.

Just as history is always the interpretation of events by the victor, our modern media, communications and educational institutions have been slowly taken over by secularists who have pushed the religious and spiritual off the picture and who now are defining cultural reality. They don't want to look at information, which by definition, contradicts their world view. So information about the genuine spiritual experiences of mankind and the religious world view are obscured and minimized. The fact that science cannot explain or measure metaphysical reality is meant to refute it, when really this just shows the inherent limits of science.

It's unfortunate that there does not exist a clearinghouse to collect and publicize the many varieties of spiritual and paranormal experiences that mankind continue to have, so it could be widely seen that, yes, for example, miracles are just as common now as they have ever been. Or that experiences of angels, fairies or non-human entities, continue to be had in our modern world by many people. If one searches the internet, one can find many sites that focus on particular kinds of spiritual experiences. There are many YouTube videos where people testify about their near death experiences. There are websites about actual UFO sightings or alien contacts, etc. but these are out of sight to the mainstream culture. And there are many types of legitimate spiritual experience.

With regard to objections by religionists with differing interpretations of upcoming events, we can only say that religions are revealed by spirit manifesting through spiritually inspired individuals. These revelations are also continuing today - ergo our group. Prophecy and eschatological theology is a difficult art as humanity has free will and human choices can effect how events that are divinely destined to occur will manifest. The good will always happen, but the seeming 'bad' can be modified as humans change and choose wisely. Certainly, Christian theology is very simplistic compared with the rich metaphysics of the revealed Wisdom Teachings. However, we must also, perforce keep our message simple, using the terms that are used today in our society as much as possible.

Christianity posits a belief in the inevitability of an 'end times' to our present world, and predicts some dire world happenings, a judgement by God, and the beginning of a 'new spiritual Millennium' on earth. The other major world religions also hold related eschatological beliefs and prophecies. It's very easy in our modern secular culture to dismiss such notions or ascribe them as figurative metaphors referring to some distant time that will, in fact, never come. I want to say, that from my spiritual sources, that time is upon us now. And we have only to look around at the tumultuous and unsustainable state of our present world situation to see that we are in the midst of something epochal.

New spiritual communications reveal that very soon there will break upon the world an outpouring of spiritual energy that will totally change our experience of ourselves and of life - for the better. Why bother to prepare if everything is going to be all right? Well, first of all it is much easier to adjust to change if we want the change and can cooperate with it rather than resist it. Secondly, we will all have our role to play in making needed changes in our human world, in our values, beliefs, institutions and culture. This will be made easier by the emergence into public view of the inner spiritual government of the planet - those perfected men and spiritual Masters who have been working unseen under Christ to guide the planet to fulfill the plan of God.

To publicize this information now, prior to more precipitous developments, will help allay the fears attendant to the chaos in the world and all the negative news and interpretations of events. And that we may rather have a hopeful expectancy that will help us order our lives so that we may move with grace through these times and each be, in our own way, a source of help and hope. Certainly the human spirit is breaking free from old restraints already, and asserting God given power and rights. Many people are doing what they can to work for a better world. The more we can throw our lot in with our fellow man and advocate for the intrinsic needs of the planet and humanity, the better. We are blessed to live in this wondrous time of Planetary birth.

All religions, which are based on divine revelation, have eschatological beliefs concerning the end of the age we are living in and what comes after. Hinduism believes civilization goes through a succession of ages or yugas. The present Kali Yuga is characterized as a time of vice, materialism and ignorance, but will be followed by a Satya Yuga of spiritual renewal. Buddhism believes that society will degenerate and the Truth be lost before the next Buddha, Maitreya, appears to restore Righteousness and Understanding. Judaism believes in an 'end of days', a redemption of the faithful and the creation, by God, of new world to replace the present one. Islam posits that there will be a 'day of judgement' accompanied by tribulations, signs, and earth changes succeeded by the Second Coming of Christ or the Mahdi. Christianity believes that our present civilization will end with widespread destruction, with a judgement by God and the return of Christ, for those who are to continue to live on earth in the new spiritual age. Theosophy, a recent divine dispensation, says we are entering an Aquarian Age that is determined by the change in the type of energy underlying civilization, thus requiring totally different forms for our way of life that will be based on the oneness of spirit. The common themes in these various eschatologies reinforce a belief in these prophecies.

Looking at our world, it is not hard to see that we are in a period of irreparable and unsustainable change. As a result of our poisoning of the planet, the oceans are acidifying and sea life is dying. Our chemicals are poisoning our drinking water; our soils are full of toxic chemicals and our food denatured. The air that we breathe is polluted and harmful, acid rain is killing forests and leaving them susceptible to invasive species. The global climate is warming and causing more extreme weather. Entire species are becoming extinct. Our global economy is likewise unsustainable, as it is built on exploitation, debt slavery and the control of the world economy by a small number of obscenely wealthy and selfish individuals to the detriment of the good of mankind. Our financial system is corrupt and ready to collapse. And politically, our leaders continue to promulgate unnecessary and destructive wars and threaten nuclear weapon use that would decimate the planet. They can't seem to find their way out of a closed loop system built on fear, selfishness, violence, ignorance and materialism. And the media only reiterates stories of fear, crime, war, glamor, depravity, riches and fame. Such a system and civilization is as doomed as it is unenlightened. Fortunately, as prophesied by religion, the Light and necessary positive change are coming.

It's easy to see the negative and troubling signs of the times and despair. What are the positive signs that allow us to hope? First of all, as noted above, all major religions posit a divine destiny and plan for the earth and mankind that is ultimately good. As we are in that transition to the coming new age, we are naturally distressed by the break down of our current civilization, as it is being transformed. However, we can tune into the new heart centered spiritual energy that is even now flooding the planet, although it hasn't yet coalesced into the awareness, values, and institutions that will characterize the coming epoch. The dynamics of our present civilization are a psychological reflection of the ego that the collective is based on. As in the Bible story of Adam and Eve, the ego is epitomized by an experience of separation fear, judgement, condemnation, lack and drive for survival. In the preceding age mankind has developed its mental, emotional and physical constitution into an integrated separate personality. The coming age, will infuse that ego with energies of the soul that naturally connect one to the larger whole and the divine that is within all creation. These incoming spiritual energies will allow us to penetrate the materialistic veil that has confined our experience and to become aware of the spiritual kingdom overshadowing our planet, as well as the other galactic races who have been a silent presence in their 'UFO's'. These spiritual revelations will indeed lead to a reappearance of Christ and the Realized Masters and the education of mankind in the spiritual laws that the New Millennium will be based on.

What are some ways that we can begin to align with the new energy and awareness that is infusing now and that is destined to change the nature of our life and civilization? First of all, it's helpful to realize that the increased energy of the soul can lift us out of our ego mind, our conditioned beliefs and limited identity. And this is a good thing that frees us from the past and from patterns of thinking that are no longer useful. The soul or eternal self has an intrinsic knowing and intuitive sense that we can learn to trust and rely on that is naturally heart centered and connected to the larger whole. Second, when we open to what we love, what brings us joy and what calls to us we naturally align with the living spiritual energies and with the purposes these have in the world. We each have our role, our gifts and our place of service that we may find by trusting life. This may entail choosing to ignore the survival fears and economic uncertainty that traditionally dominates career choice, and to go a different way. However, as we serve life and the greater good, our personal economy will also be sustained. As we choose to live by listening to our inner spirit and become increasingly attuned to the spiritual silence and stillness within, we may develop a conscious connection with the over lighting spiritual kingdom. We may then each play a part to help the New Age manifest. Not just love and light, but the intrinsic power and right of each must be honored and enshrined. Even now the oppressed are rising up and choosing to claim the power of the human spirit. We will create a civilization based on the Divine Oneness of life, sharing, universal entitlements, and conscious co-creation with spirit.

What are some practical changes that need to be made in the world to facilitate the transition to the New Age? First of all the banking and financial industry must be taken out of private control and made into a public utility that is based on gold. Fraudulent investment practices that allow individuals to get wealth by gaming the system must be ended. Secondly, the corruption and influence of money in politics must be totally eliminated. Big money donations and lobbyists must go. Thirdly, there must be an international prohibition to armament sales, further wars, militarism, and the resolution of conflicts by violence rather than diplomacy. The UN must assume a larger role internationally. Fourth, science, rather than profit seeking corporations, must take control on all matters related to the environment and all legislation must enforce environmentally sustainable laws and policies. Alternative energy sources must replace fossil fuels. Next, wealth and income must be more fairly distributed and the obscene disparity between the powerful privileged few and the destitute suffering billions be eliminated. Universal human rights - not profit rights - for basic entitlements of food, shelter, health, education, religion, etc. must be enfranchised. Next, the media must also be taken out of private control that serves the vested interests, profit, disinformation and distraction and also turned into public utilities that openly and truthfully educate and inform the public. Now, many issues are denied, obscured and distorted and people are naturally confused and disempowered. Once the facts and issues are openly addressed, people will want to make sensible changes in society. Once these changes take control out of the hands of the powerful 1%, a momentum of positive change will transform society and the consciousness of mankind, and prepare the ground for further spiritual revelations.

Evil in the world

On our dualistic planet there is a basic conflict between good and evil. Good means conscious evolution toward light, love, spiritual integration, freedom and our divine destiny. Evil means forces violently inimical to the good that are materialistic, fearful, destructive, and selfish. And just as there is a God and spiritual beings guiding humanity to our positive destined future, there have been evil entities on earth who have endeavored to control, enslave, and exploit for evil. Fortunately, these have been recently removed by God preparative to our planetary shift into the New Age. This just leaves those human beings who have aligned with evil and the mechanisms in our global political-economic system that allow them maintain their influence, which we need to change.

Evil has three essential elements: A will or intention that is intrinsically selfish, separative, cruel, and violent; A mind that is innately deceitful, destructive, deluding, devaluing, and corrupting; And an emotional fear inducing energy that incapacitates and confuses. These elements are often subtle and hidden and not obvious as evil often works in darkness and in secret behind a facade of seeming normality.

Evil energy impacts us all and confronts us with a necessary choice. By doing so it highlights what is good, true, beautiful and evolutionary and thus serves a higher purpose. If however, we choose evil, we ultimately learn through suffering, that we have made the wrong choice, and are thus moved to choose good and life instead. We can recognize those who are choosing evil by their sociopathic nature. However, sociopaths can be outwardly charming, intelligent, attractive and successful. It may not be obvious how they obsessively misuse their power to exploit, destroy, appropriate and control others and create institutions that allow them to further their aims. Ultimately this is predation.

This is where collectively humanity must now make some needed changes to transform societal institutions, laws, and practices that have been built into the system that perpetuate evil and unnecessary human suffering. Just because something is traditional or legal does not make it right. Just because something has an ostensible good end does not make it right, for evil excels in rationalization and justification and bogus appeals to seeming reasonable motives.

What are some of those problem areas where evil has insinuated itself? Firstly is humanity's tragic history of war, violence, domination and murder institutionalized unto today by appeals to 'national defense', some 'glorious ideal', a 'religious' call or 'justice'. Even today, from capital punishment, to drone assignments, nationalistic military incursions and nuclear threats, we justify and glorify war and violence. It fills our news, our movies and TV, our amusements and our culture. Of course it's only the 'good' violence against the 'bad' aggressor but this is easy to rationalize in our media. Violence be it by the individual or an institution and power used for selfish purpose is evil.

Secondly is the almost universal rationalization of the legitimacy of exploitation. Most all cultures have allowed the powerful few, to exploit and use and take unfair advantage of the unfortunate many, and to justify this by appeals to tradition, law, survival or religion. Millions have been enslaved in the past and today we have debt slavery. Our interest based banking and economic system keeps billions of people destitute and impoverished, while the few cream the profits of the labors of the many to gain their obscene wealth. Capitalism incorporates exploitation. Our stock markets and financial institutions are rigged to give control and power to a few at the expense of the good of the many. This causes widespread suffering and is evil. Nature offers her bounty to all, equally - we should do likewise.

Thirdly is the use of the mind to justify and facilitate the above activities. In the old days evil was done by appeals to fear, power, authority, and tradition and the denial of a higher truth and today it is no different. The media is filled with fearful stories that cultivate a sense of powerlessness and refuse to report on positive solutions or higher truths that would give a fair and balanced presentation. It's ironic that one of our news corporation's motto is 'fair and balanced' which is exactly what their propaganda is not. As in this novel, '1984', the 'truth' as presented is almost the opposite of what it really is. 'Information' serves profits which serves power. The intellectual elite are paid to promote a system which institutionalizes evil. And we are so indoctrinated that we are largely unaware of the circumscribed and biased assumptions and attitudes we hold.

Further ramifications of this can be seen in many areas of life. Religions which are meant to awaken people to their divine nature, have been used instead to keep people suppressed and dependent on the religious prelates who live off them. Science, which posits an open mindedness and an inductive approach to reality is being used to deny the larger spiritual reality of which material reality is but an aspect. Profiteers and pornographers are justifying their debasement of the human being by appeals to free speech and the free market. Business is poisoning the land, air and water and the ecological future of the planet while lawmakers look away because it is profitable to them. What is called justice is a biased system of retribution that perpetuates the injustice of the larger system it serves. Journalists who are supposed to report the facts and find the truth, are instead assigned to write pre-scripted stories on predefined issues that ignore relevant facts and context.

The US pursues its militaristic imperial compulsion for global hegemony, creating war and insurrection, and justifying it with the false a priori assumptions, promoted through the media, that America always stands for what's good. However, torture is legitimized. The IMF and World Bank enforce international compliance with the totalitarian dollar and banker dictates that destroy national sovereignty and the general good. Local oligarchs are paid off to do transnational capitalism's bidding. Drugs are imported that impair the general health and unhealthy food sold just for profit. Money corrupts and those who make the laws look away so long as they are paid. And there are many other such examples. The evil mind deludes, distorts, deceives, distracts, defiles and destroys and tries to make it look normal, 'realistic' and 'common sense'.

However, we are eternal spiritual beings who are incarnating as temporal human beings. We have been given free will to a degree and the evolutionary opportunity to choose to create, manifest and realize the Will and Plan of God on earth, if we should choose to do so. We should, for it is only in this way that we may really be happy and fulfilled, individually and collectively. We need not feel guilt about 'sin' or 'mistakes' we have made for we have been programmed to learn and grow through experience. And no act can change who we essentially are as souls. We have an obligation to ourselves and the planet, however, to free ourselves and our societies from the longstanding influence of evil. A transformation is in process now that is bringing the old separative, materialistic, fear based and evil ways to a point of awareness and collapse so something more holistic, positive and revelatory can emerge. It's an exciting time to be alive.

The limits of secular education and the need for deeper understanding

In our country, we have the separation of church and state. Education is primarily public or state run so it's focus is the intellectual history and scientific understanding of the world rather than having a religious or metaphysical basis. It's necessary therefore, that we understand the limits of secular education and the need for a deeper understanding that also includes the spiritual dimension.

Throughout the course of human history, all peoples and cultures have had religious beliefs not only because these have seemed necessary to explain the meaning of life abstractly but also to interpret their particular experiences. Because most people have distinct spiritual or paranormal experiences at some points in their life and traditional cultures have probably even been more predisposed to this. These varieties of experience that cannot be explained by science are largely unmentioned let alone analyzed in school or the mainstream media so it's no wonder that someone may question the reality of it all.

It's a general fact about human nature that we all have faith. This is directed first of all to believing that our particular personal beliefs are true. Even though on examination we all have different sets of beliefs of often conflicting ideas, nevertheless we think what we know is true. It doesn't make any rational sense, but faith is not rational.

Secondly, on analysis we will find that we can't personally substantiate most of what we believe. We are conditioned through many years of childhood development and education to incorporate or internalize the beliefs of the society and family we are raised in. We don't stop to realize that a few hundred years before or after this present moment people had or will have quite different beliefs and values in many respects and yet each is totally comfortable in the 'rightness' of their present ideas.

Thirdly, this latter point refers to the unavoidable human tendency and need to rely on authority for what we know - whether that authority be a parent, friend, teacher, scientist or priest. In our present day society with its emphasis on science, we believe what the scientist tells us is so because we have faith in their authority and ability to empirically know things that are not personally apparent.

Likewise, if we realize that science can only know what can be empirically tested, but that most of reality is metaphysical or not susceptible to empirical analysis, then we must also rely on the authority of the spiritual sage who is able to ascertain a spiritual knowing through the agency of meditation and conscious exploration of the inner realms of being and life. The adepts of the East have cultivated the practices of meditation for centuries as we in the West have focused on developing a scientific knowledge of the material world. As a result they have found that metaphysical reality is just as governed by universal law and order as the physical world.

However, not all religious ideas are legitimate. Many are man made constructions designed to insure influence by the priestly class or are speculative or superstitious. One has to exercise one's spiritual intuition to discriminate between a more profound spiritual knowing and bogus religious doctrines and rituals. Increasingly we are learning to question our unconscious acceptance of authority and to rely more on our own inner sense to determine what is right. This implies knowing the limits of scientific authority; knowing that we each have the capacity of ascertaining spiritual truth; recognizing that secular education is incomplete; and realizing that many of the politically or culturally correct ideals and values have only limited validity.

However, the point of this letter is to urge you to not be satisfied with the status quo knowledge of our secular culture, and to be open to ideas 'outside the box'. For myself I have found that the most profound ideas extant today are not even talked about in academia. Religious ideas are difficult to adjust to for those raised in a secular culture, however. Buddhism is a little easier because the approach is more psychological. I could suggest some readings, but perhaps each person has to take their own path of exploration. However, here is a chart that shows the composite physical and metaphysical dimensions - that can provide a frame of reference. As we see from it, the material part is just a fraction of all that is.

Theosophy

I first encountered Theosophy when I was living in Sydney Australia in 1972. I was working as a cab driver after traveling from Japan down through several countries in the orient in a spiritual quest that was primarily focused on Buddhism but which also included some bohemian adventurism. Somehow I wandered into the Theosophical bookstore there and began pursuing some of the material. I can still remember how blown away I was and thought to myself, "How do they think all this stuff up?" because Theosophy presents a very detailed philosophic alternate universe, which in my years of academic study and college philosophy, I had never heard of. I was very intrigued and continued my reading and study of Theosophy for several years afterwards, particularly when I was later living in San Francisco and regularly attending the Theosophical Center there.

Theosophy, I later realized, provides the Golden Key to understanding, as knowledge of it unlocks many perennial mysteries, conundrums and confusions in the many fields of religion, philosophy, history and science. Theosophy had its antique proponents, but the modern movement began in the late 19th century by a controversial Russian, Helena Blavatsky, who was the amanuensis and agent of a secret group of enlightened spiritual masters. The Theosophical movement, based initially on her ideas, quickly gained widespread popularity in the early 20th century, attracting the interest of many prominent individuals, until there occurred some disillusionments. The movement then faded although new teachings have continued to be revealed and expounded up to today, by more recent agents of this same secret brotherhood.

To begin with the principles of Theosophy, or the Ancient Wisdom, is then to begin with the idea, which is actually held by most religions, that there is life after death and therefore that the most advanced spiritual exemplars, like Buddha, Krishna and Jesus, as well as many saints, continue to persist in a dimension that allows some connection to our world, as spiritual intercession is a not uncommon occurrence in religion. Theosophy's secret brotherhood is that Hierarchy of spiritually realized men and angels who are overseeing the evolution of life on earth, to guide it toward its ultimate destiny, as determined by our God. And they are introducing the occidental to a form of Wisdom particularly appropriate to that transitional time we are in.

I suppose that there are actually several principles impacted in that last paragraph. That there is a divine creator of the earth and a divine intention and plan for all life on earth that will be realized. That there are astronomical and astrological cycles which change the energetic basis of life and therefore all the forms of our civilization - from beliefs and values to structures and institutions. If we look back we can see that societies come and go, although each probably assumes it will persist. That the wise have a wider vision and out of concern for humanity, work to guide development along constructive lines.

In our secular society based on science we are so accustomed to believe that the only knowledge is one that must be empirically based, that we do not understand the legitimacy of Occult knowledge, which is based on the fact that consciousness, in meditation, can transcend the mind and the material level and explore the inner and metaphysical aspect of reality. The adepts of the East have successfully explored these spiritual realms for eons and have determined that the metaphysical is just as governed by law and just as imbued with structure as our dense physical world is. Theosophy then is the scientific articulation of the spiritual and is so comprehensive that the various religions are encompassed within it.

In the Ancient Wisdom, we not only have the spiritual history of mankind and the earth, but also an articulation of earth's place within the larger solar and cosmic wholes. This is based on the hylozoistic chain of being. In Eastern thought there is the concept of chakras or qualified energy centers in the human body of which the glands are the physical correspondence. Just as an individual is composed of structurally different organs, so the kingdoms of life on earth act as centers in the planetary being, which acts as a center in the solar being, that is a composite organ in a cosmic life, etc. Esoteric Astrology defines some of these relationships. This assumes that the entire universe is a stupendous One Life, and that all the stars and planets are alive - although only a relative few have life on the densest level, as does earth. However we are visited continually by denizens from other planets and stars and are seeing increasing evidence of this in UFO sightings and crop circles.

Earth has been characterized by dualism and the battle between good (toward spiritual evolution, freedom and synthesis) and evil (tending toward separation, fear, control and materialism). Of particular interest now is the evolutionary step that the planet is taking with the associated outer crises of which we are so familiar. We cannot see what is actually emerging through the tumult - but have been told that the evil controllers who for so long have ruled the earth have been removed as it is the time for earth to be unshackled to fully realize the divine plan. We can now expect major transformations and shifts as this inner light breaks through the incrustated outer stratification that has been our reality. More people are opening to and aligning with this new energy and loving consciousness.

And more people are sensitive to the intuitive knowing and psychic faculties that have always been a potential within us. As we move away from a fear based, survival culture to a unitive holistic one, with universal human entitlements, human capacities will be freed to realize innate divine potentials. We will move from separation to taking our place in the larger solar and cosmic life. Theosophy provides the Wisdom to guide our steps as we leave the confines of a linear and material worldview and go into the limitless multidimensional living Galaxy. It's a very interesting, instructive and useful system and awareness that will repay your efforts to understand it. I've just scratched the surface, so here are a few more links to explore tis subject.

Reviewing the state of the world in the Theosophic framework, ever since prehistoric time when a battle for control of the Earth between the forces of Good and Light and the forces of materialism and separation was lost, the outer world has been ruled by the powerful, selfish and violent few. Initially these were the tribal chiefs but later the kings, priests, popes and emperors wielded a wider power and control and with it privileges and riches. The spiritual Forces of Good retreated within where they have continued to provide Love, inspiration, guidance and support to humanity. Humanity, coerced in fear by the negative forces, adopted and internalized the ego program which created a separate sense of identity. The ego or false self is based in the concrete mind and utilizes the personal will to survive and get its felt needs met. This collective shift has been represented by the myth of the Fall of man and God's eviction of man from Heaven. The truth is man has never been separate from God, he has just believed he was separate because of his identification with the ego programming.

The Cultural shift

There is so much happening in the world, that it is really difficult to perceive the trends and underlying currents from the confusion of events, news and developments in many areas of life. One perspective that is helpful is to see that to a large extent human institutions and values have been a reflection of qualities the ego - (the separate personal identity). The focus of the ego is survival in world that is perceived as fearful and threatening. The ego utilizes its mind and will to get its felt needs met by using and dominating its environment and for self aggrandizement to assuage its core insecurity. This implies a competitive attitude for resources presumed to be limited, where assertion of power and control assume importance. It implies that separate rights to get, supersede the good of the whole. The ego, feeling vulnerable, anxious and insecure, is also predisposed feeling self doubt, guilt and inadequate with the resulting compensating need to be better, different and special. Witness the human emphasis on glamor, riches, beauty, status, knowledge and power. The mind is used to rationalize this and accomplish this agenda. The continual wars, the exploitation of nature and ones fellow man, the desire for possessions, security and comfort all attest to the ego's basic program. Although these qualities may not seem to characterize an individual life, they are implicit in the economic and political system we live within and the effects can be seen in the human dramas, ongoing wars, worsening environmental degradation and the looming economic collapse that threaten humanity and the planet. Science and the intelligentsia have a role in supporting and furthering the fundamental assumptions of the culture. Although many live conscientious love filled lives, those at the top of the power structures who are so influential in determining policies typically do not.

However, there is a change happening and almost imperceptibly spiritual energy has been gradually infusing the planet and raising our vibrations and consciousness to be more aware of the soul energy within ourselves and all life. This energy is allowing us to rise above our history and identification with our conditioned linear thinking, emotions and ego and to connect directly with energies of spiritual consciousness that have always been within life, but which in the past we have felt separate from. We are living in a sense at the birth or awakening of a new age. Heretofore connection with the spirit and the ever-new livingness of being was an ideal to be occasionally touched. Now it is a reality that is emerging within us that we may experience. With this spiritual experience comes the qualities inherent within it - freedom, peace, love, light, power, purpose and a connection to the larger whole. This energy is awakening humanity and the planet to who we really are as interconnected spiritual beings whose positive future and divine destiny is waiting to be realized. This soul consciousness lives by different laws than those of the separate ego, and this explains why the old institutions, values and assumptions of our civilization are breaking up - they are not able to incorporate the spiritual energy which the new world will be built on. It is your generation's task to align with this energy and consciousness, embody and express it and in the process transform the world. Many seeming problems in the world are resulting from this breakdown of the paradigm of the ego as humanity's fundamental reality. But don't focus so much on what is breaking down, but rather on the new energy, consciousness and opportunity breaking through.

Here are some suggestions to put this understanding into practice. Develop detachment from your thoughts - use your mind for your soul's purposes but don't be identified with it. Realize that you are more than your separate personal identity and cultivate an awareness that is free of the ego. The soul and spirit are intrinsically free. Trust the intuitive knowing that the spirit has and follow your joy and your heart. Focus on the good and the moment. Realize that as you invoke the soul and the spirit you will be inspired and guided in your life and things will flow. Reflect on the nature of your real interests and concerns for life and humanity. Use your mind to formulate thoughts that express and advocate the sensed good. Base your life on the direction determined by the heart.

Realize the central importance of love and the power of love in redeeming life. Appreciate the sacred livingness, oneness and beauty of life and nature. Realize that the times we are living in entail transforming our world and reality from one based on the separate ego's survival paradigm of getting needs met in a threatening limited world to being divine co-creators supporting the spiritual oneness and rights of all life. Move away from separation, fear, need to be special, to dominate, control and get, to an attitude of love, sharing, oneness, peace and co-creation. Find your role and place in helping to bring a more enlightened world into being.

There is a shift in consciousness in process as a result of the changing matrix of energy pervading Earth. We are moving away from a ego culture based on the belief in separation, fear, a sense of lack, an effort to control, and from an unconscious denial of our connection to God. We are transitioning to identity with the soul and an inclusive group consciousness of Love, Trust in God and Self, Oneness and Divine co-creativity.

Trump and his supporters

Being somewhat mystified by Trump's continued support, I have regularly googled "Why do people vote for Trump" or vote Republican, for that matter and get a lot of attempts at answers — authoritarianism, entitlement, racism, delusion, self righteousness, anger, bigotry, ideology, etc., that are all right to a degree, but that don't explain it completely. I've come to feel it's necessary to understand that many Trump supporters feel that their culture, beliefs, values, way of life, and future are all under attack by the establishment that has betrayed them and is aggressively antagonistic to them. They have lost economic security and are being pushed into poverty by economic policies pursued by both parties that have exported manufacturing and forced them to compete with the exploited Third World while executives and investors have gotten rich. Culturally they feel threatened by influences in the establishment's MSM and entertainment industry that push values on them that are antithetical to theirs — secularism, deviant sexuality, abortion, vulgar sensationalism, hedonism, multiculturalism — that have the effect of alienating them from the culture and feeling that the America they believe in has been corrupted and taken over by alien interests and money. They therefore blame the political establishment for collaborating in this process. They feel betrayed and angry as they feel that they patriotically stand for the real America as it has been. Trump therefore appeals as a strong antiestablishment figure who has indicated that he understands how they feel and will be an advocate for them. Although he is really just conning them, they don't feel that they have anyplace else to go.

Democrats are pushing identity politics and big government programs with more taxes that erode their freedom. Republicans may say they support conservative values but in practice have more loyalty to the rich and the corporate elite. They can see how corrupt politics has become. Trump supporters therefore feel pushed into support for a nationalistic authoritarian who can shake up the establishment and really improve things for them — and whether he is flawed or not is secondary. The ongoing demonization of Trump in most of the MSM, and the ongoing attacks on him by the establishment only confirm their belief that he is opposed to the status quo and on their side. The fact that the Democratic instigated Mueller investigation showed that there was no collusion, and that the Democratic impeachment proceedings will also not go anywhere just confirms their feelings that he is being unfairly persecuted because he is a threat to the establishment that they despise and therefore on their side. On the Left, where people tend to be more tolerant, accepting and compassionate it can be difficult to appreciate just how disaffected many people are by the changes in society in the last 50 years, in particular. Small towns, family farms and businesses are struggling economically. The rust belt and big cities are experiencing many problems that the establishment has no answers to. Issues like climate change, war and immigration make people feel uncertain and anxious. They hark back to the 'good old days' of economic prosperity and more cultural homogeneity. In fear people contract.

I feel a successful Democratic Presidential candidate can not just advocate polarized party positions but must really address some the underlying fears and concerns of Trump supporters if they are to be successful. There is a certain fascination about Trump. He is a unique character as President. It's remarkable that he's been able to hold his own considering the withering attacks he's been getting in most of the MSM and the ongoing Democratic investigations. However, to his base he's the flawed champion and patriot fighting against fake media and the corrupt liberal establishment. It's easy to get obsessed with Trump as he is this phenomena that could blow up in unpredictable ways at any time.

The Mueller report

So glad the Mueller witch hunt is finally over. The Democratic Party and MSM really blew it. Hope the Democrats can finally begin to focus on a progressive vision for the country instead of more internecine warfare. As I see it these are some of the conclusions to be drawn—

Conclusions of the Mueller report

1. There was no collusion between Trump and Russia
2. There was no significant interference by Russia on US politics
3. There was interference by the Democrats on Sander's Presidential campaign
4. There were attempts by Trump to obstruct the Mueller investigation
5. However, it is up to Congress to impeach the President, if remedy is needed

Implications of the Mueller report

1. The Democrats and the MSM sabotaged themselves and their credibility by hysterically and obsessively claiming for two and a half years that Russia-phobia is legitimate and that Trump is colluding with Russia.
2. They have therefore given Trump a tremendous weapon to beat the Democrats with in the coming election campaign. His fake news claim was true, to a degree.
3. As the only way punish Trump for obstruction is impeachment that the Republican Senate won't support, he is now in the clear and free to bash his opponents and the MSM for wronging him and reinforce the prejudices and support of his base.
4. The Democrat instigated investigation was really an attempt to deflect responsibility for their election loss and justify the pro war and new Cold War agenda they have embraced.
5. The Democrats have demonstrated that they desperately need a progressive direction and not more negative status quo politics that are pro-corporate/military/intelligence.

Sanders is the Democratic front runner now as in the last election, because he has a track record to support his independent progressive pitch that he has been consistently and effectively advocating. The only way to fairly beat him, as I see it, would be to be more progressive on foreign policy than Sanders is. Sanders isn't as progressive re the War machine and the US imperial drive for world hegemony, as Tulsi Gabbard, for example. But as a Jew, he is actually in a better position to challenge the Zionist policies which have been guiding US foreign policy. Probably the status quo big money Democrats will try to sabotage him again.

The Tripartite Planetary Crisis

Humanity is facing a confluence of crises that are manifestations of ideas and attitudes toward life that are inherently destructive and no longer viable for continued life on earth. In fact the collective myth underlying the human drama of civilization has run its course as a vivifying archetype of meaning. This myth begins, as in the story of Genesis, with the idea of the separation of man from the ultimate Source or Creator of life. It incorporates assumptions of condemnation, of need and scarcity, of a violent battle between good and evil for survival and salvation on an earth that is to be used and mastered. Beauty, peace, love and joy are transient moments at best that give fleeting intimations of another spiritual world forever apart from the reality of life on earth, which is more characterized by suffering, hardships, work and travail.

Our economic system, therefore, is based on the need to get and have and the legitimacy of using and exploiting one's fellow man and the resources of the planet. Likewise, there is a presumed selfish right to accumulate, have and control as much as one can even if others are deprived as a result. It's all about assumed individual rights unbalanced by collective responsibility. And corporations, fictional legal entities set up for profit's sake only, are granted the rights - and more - that trump basic human rights. The financial system set up around the medium of exchange for economic labor - money - has itself become an object for exploitation and been corrupted from its original purpose. The corruption is so bad that the banks, financial and investment industry are in effect controlling and stealing most of the results of mankind's labors. We have a world where a handful of the obscenely rich own and control much of the world's wealth while billions suffer poverty, starvation and degradation.

In the struggle for survival, power has always been sought, esteemed and used. However, humans have not stopped with mere survival. Once power is valued, supremacy is sought by whatever means, violent or more subtle, can be found. Kings and Popes, Presidents and Potentates invariably seek to expand their domain, their control and their power, beyond any need for mere survival and well being. Therefore we have a world that has been continually at war by military, political, economic or ideological means. Of course, the powerful are loath to honestly assert their true lust, greed and selfish disregard, so they have their intellectual elites to dissemble, disguise, and distort the truth and to propagandize for them to convince the masses of the legitimacy of the wars, sacrifices, injustices and institutions that perpetuate the violence. In the present as in the past, there are always appeals to national defense, pride, and self righteous superiority against demonized external enemies. The United States, as the leading Imperial power, compulsively pursues global hegemony and is opposing any power which would not submit, but of course, misrepresents its true aims and blames the states or groups that are victimized. By definition the US is always right and doing good - so the intellectual elites in the mainstream media and their colleagues in academia, tell us.

The ecological impact of our civilization on the earth is becoming more apparent every year. We are poisoning the planet by our self centered attitudes and actions. The chemicals we create for our artificial needs are polluting the soil, water and air and consequently our bodies. Oceans and forests are becoming acidified, plants, animals and humans are becoming sick from the toxic effects and whole species are dying. We can't seem to stop our addiction to fossil fuels and are using ever more destructive methods, like fracking and deep sea wells, to extract it. Our nuclear plants are creating destructive pollution that will last for thousands of years and we can't seem to care. We could develop sustainable alternative energy technologies but our investment in the selfish profits from old technologies inhibits the changes we rationally know we must make. We have not collectively assumed responsibilities for our actions and are finding out that these are actually changing the climate and all life on earth. We must change if we are to survive. We must learn to think of the good of the whole, if the good of each part of the whole is to be fostered.

Sometimes it takes a crisis to force a change as the built up momentum of beliefs, habits, investments, fear and lethargy is too strong to overcome otherwise. As we are now facing a tripartite crisis on the planet that is becoming more obvious every day, hopefully we will make the changes necessary to ensure the survival and well being of all life on earth. I believe that the answer is within us and is also becoming more apparent all the time. The answer is the force of the spiritual soul within that is emerging and breaking through into our awareness. This energy of our deeper self nature supersedes the energy of the separative ego that has been the basis of our present civilization. By making the shift to soul we are also able to step out of and disidentify with the conditioning, beliefs, values and attitudes of the ego and open to the interconnected holistic, livingness of the soul and the spirit as it moves through all life on the planet. We must make the quantum step to the spiritual life that has always been potential within us but which must now be manifest in the world. As we change who we are, we must perforce change the structure of our society that is a reflection of our individual identity.

How does the nature of the soul transform the above stated crises? The soul has no need for 'power over' others or need to assert power for a separate agenda because the soul is naturally group conscious and concerned for the good of the whole. Likewise the soul is not concerned about survival issues as it knows that its life is eternal and so doesn't have a need based motivation system. The soul is about giving and sharing rather than getting and exploiting as it understands that it already has all it needs within, and needs but fully express this. The soul itself embodies love, peace, joy among other positive qualities, and is motivated to create and express its intrinsic spirit for the benefit of the larger group. As the soul is an aspect of life, so its methods are life based and not as artificial as the technologies of today. The violence and self will of the ego will be superseded when the awareness of ourselves as souls becomes the predominant state of mind. The institutions based on the matrix of ego programming will collapse like the economic system based on them, because the energy supporting these will have diminished to the point of inconsequence. The new age, like the soul, will be based on love, sharing, the recognition of intrinsic rights, the interconnectedness and divinity of all life, and the conscious application of spiritual creativity and manifestation.

In this movement of spiritual awakening and conscious expansion, we are not alone. Unseen, there has always been a hierarchy of beings guiding and overnighing the earth, both from spiritual and extraterrestrial dimensions. That spiritual hierarchy is making more concerted efforts to communicate and aid humanity as the crises afflicting the planet cause more widespread confusion, distress and suffering. There are likewise selfish forces that would delay or defeat the destined transformation of the earth, that use forces of fear and distortion. We must see and choose the real positive opportunity of this time as an inevitable moment when the earth as a whole can shift to a more spiritual level that honors the intrinsic potential and manifests the divine destiny of the earth. Our crisis is the crisis of birth which can be made easier if we cooperate and assist in the transition and avail ourselves of the inspiration coming from the spiritual realms.

How do we make this shift, individually? The above dialectic makes it sound like a great conflict or effort must be necessary for accomplishment. It's rather easier. We merely need to be open, honest and willing to be deeply authentic. It's just a matter of listening to the heart and the call of spirit and be willing to live by its impulses and direction. If one's life had been fear based and materialistic this may seem like a big step, but really it just involves doing what one really wants, what brings joy, peace and satisfaction on the deepest level. Once one embarks on the path of the heart, one's steps must invariably lead to the abode of the soul, regardless of the seeming vagaries of the path. Anything that enhances life, health, beauty and community helps, as does moments of stillness and silence to hear one's inner voice in the noisy complexities of today's world. Living simply, appreciating nature and attuning to spirit by whatever means speak to you can facilitate that experience of inner connection. The ego thinks in terms of difficult achievements and efforts, but the soul is already there, merely waiting to be embraced. It's more a matter of accepting, allowing and being than willing, forcing and doing. Relax, let go and live and assume your role in the transformation of the planet.

Russia

My interest in Russia stems from: a past life; the mystical Aquarian, Seventh Ray Russian soul; and the role Russia is playing in the world - both as a brake to the US drive for global hegemony and as a catalyst for new developments, like the planned global monetary change. As there is so much disinformation and demonization about Russia and Putin, it is hardly possible to read a sympathetic and understanding assessment in the media.

I think Putin had been hopeful that Trump, as a pragmatic economic nationalist, would take a more more reasonable and less militaristic and hostile approach to Russia, as he indicated he would in his campaign. However, now it is clear that Trump has capitulated to pressure from the 'deep state', neocon and Zionist influences and will continue the belligerent US foreign policy of his predecessors. Therefore, I believe soon Russia and China will go ahead with their plan to 'pull the rug' out from under the dollar and establish a more reasonable gold backed global monetary system. I hope this happens soon before a new false flag provocation creates the pretext for a new war.

I realize that this is not a very 'love and light' perspective, however, I believe that part of the Hierarchy's gloomy perspective in the last Guidance has to do with the fact that the US, which has the potential to do so much good in the world, has had its government taken over by the dark forces and is now a major source of evil, separatism and anti-evolutionary materialism in the world. This has been going on for quite some time but it has really accelerated after 9/11 which was not just a false flag operation but was actually an attempt by the dark lodge to take over the planet and create a nuclear war that would result in the enslavement of humanity.

Fortunately, there has been a divine intervention to prevent this from happening. However, the role of the US continues to be pernicious and the Planetary Shift really needs to happen sooner rather than later to prevent further retrograde happenings on Earth. Russia has an important role in this respect.

When I visited Russia/the Soviet Union in 1988 it was part of a citizen diplomacy effort that we developed at Findhorn, where I lived in the late 80's. The glasnost and perestroika period was an exciting and hopeful time, which was betrayed by events after 1991. After the communist collapse, there was little provision for a secure transition to a democratic socialism and the country was raped and looted by rapacious elements in Russia and in the West who just acted for their own gain under the pretext of a transformation to a modern state. I believe it's only finally under Putin that Russia is regaining control of its own affairs.

I believe that we must both embrace the energy and consciousness of the soul that is quickening day by day, and we must make the necessary changes in the structure of our civilization that reflect the truth, love, justice and oneness of the soul of humanity. I believe that one of the reasons that the hopeful prognostications of the Hierarchy have been frustrated, is that although the consciousness of humanity has developed considerably, the global political economic system has not and is still controlled by the small but powerful cabal of monied interests that not only have corrupted democracy, but have, through their control of the media, stifled the free flow of information. The media is a complicit propaganda organ of the cabal that uses disinformation and distraction to keep the public deluded and misinformed.

Unfortunately religion has also been complicit with the powers who rule the world, and have encouraged individuals to look after their own salvation or liberation from the suffering of the world, rather than change the unjust system causing much of that suffering. Yet, if we believe in one humanity, we must acknowledge that we cannot live comfortably as a result of the exploitation of others out of sight in places not seen in the media. Therefore I salute those political coworkers who are trying to expose and change the injustices. It would certainly be advantageous if more of them had a spiritual understanding, but intellectualism seems to make spiritual understanding more difficult. However without a spiritual overview, it's easy to become lost in the particulars of this or that issue.

The big issue is that the world is still controlled by the dark cabal of monied interests who have created a global economic and financial system to perpetuate their exploitation, power and violence. As noted in the movie I recently suggested, 'Sirius' free energy technology is now available but being repressed by the cabal so their fossil fuel system and the profits associated, can be perpetuated, regardless of the damage to the ecosystem. Likewise, the horrible and unnecessary war goes on in the Middle East with little factual discussion in the media. And further dangerous wars are being provoked against Russia and China by a media who are really just a propaganda arm for the monied establishment. And we accept our debt slavery banking system as if it were God given, with no real debate allowed.

Perhaps I shouldn't go on too much about the problems of the world. These could be quickly changed if people were informed and motivated to take their power back. I believe it would be much easier for the Hierarchy to externalize and the Galactic races to help the planet if we collectively understood the need for change and the opportunity of the moment. A real 'disclosure project' about what's really happening, free energy and a de-dollarated global monetary system would greatly help.

I think it appropriate that we are reflecting on the Dark Forces in conjunction with the recent US attack on Syria. These Dark Forces are not only the native terrorists but also the US terrorists who hide the true nature of their nefarious purpose behind hypocritical words and rationalizations whose falsity are obvious to most people in the world outside the propaganda reach of the Western media. Unfortunately, it seems Trump has capitulated to the pressure for continued war and a militaristic pursuit of global hegemony from the 'deep state', Right wing, neocon and Zionist elements. Fortunately resistance is mounting, disclosure is happening and transformation and revelation are coming.

I'm a long time student of the Alice Bailey esoteric teachings whose real author was Tibetan sage, DK, who possesses a Transcendent Wisdom. He taught that not only was there a positive Hierarchy of spiritual beings guiding the destined evolution of earth, but also a negative hierarchy of selfish, separative, materialistic and violent predator beings endeavoring to use and exploit the planet. (Gordon Davidson has said that alien intruders have been at the apex of this Dark Lodge)

DK has said, both Communism and Zionism are tools of the Dark Lodge. (He also bemoaned the control of the US by the financiers.) Remarkably He seemed to put these movements on a equal footing before Israel had even become a state, thereby indicating His intuition about the potential danger of inherent in the development of Zionism. I believe this danger is not about an independent Jewish state per se, but rather that this would serve as a pretext to unite allied and sympathetic separative forces in the West around an aggressive and expansive Zionist foreign policy based on a rationalization of Israeli national defense. And this has happened. AIPAC and the related Jewish lobby in the US has proved so formidable as to have largely forced the US to conform with Zionist objectives, despite verbal equivocations.

The influence of the Dark Lodge is noted also in the dissimulation that would equate anti-Zionism with anti-semitism and would prevent, thereby free speech and open discussion on this issue. When we look at the long war that the US has been fighting in the Middle East, and the succession of countries attacked and destroyed, it has often been understood as being about a 'war on terror' or, more realistically, a war to secure control of the oil and resources in the Middle East. However, it is more telling to observe that all the countries attacked have been, incidentally, Shite sympathizers and opposed to Israel. The US has spent trillions of dollars and caused untold death and destruction for a purpose which is not in the US national interest. The Jewish control of the media is preventing open discussion and factual presentations on these issues.

When we combine this with information on the existence of 'free energy' technology that is being suppressed (see the Disclosure Project) to maintain a dependence on fossil fuels and those corporations and concerns that profit from it, the picture becomes exponentially worse. The death, destruction, injustices, environmental degradation and tragic human suffering have all been unnecessary, but have been chosen deliberately by the Dark Lodge as part of their plan for global domination. If one realizes that 9/11 was actually a false flag inside job meant to catalyze these developments it becomes much clearer to see what is really happening. This is not just about Zionism, which is just one aspect along with the present global banking system, the war machine, the concentration of wealth and control in a very small elite group and the complicit media, in a world wide effort to perpetuate the control of the Dark Lodge of selfish materialist and violent forces on Earth. Fortunately, the Planetary Shift and parting of the way are coming.

As we all have our ideas, assessments and judgements about the world, we can not help feeling angry and distressed at witnessing wrongs and the unnecessary human suffering that result. I believe, that consciousness must precede change for that change to be sustained. However, I believe that general human consciousness has grown beyond the political economic system that it is functioning within and therefore we are ripe for some outer changes so the system can catch up. Public opinion polls in the US typically show the public has values to the left of Washington reality. However, power maintains its activities by secrecy, the corruption of money and the manipulation of information. So I'm grateful and appreciative to coworkers in other necessary areas of human betterment who are endeavoring to channel the light into the world in various ways to improve the situation.

With regard to the political affairs of nations, I realize that nations, like people, have good souls but are not fully expressing this potential and so are a mix of positive and negative. So am not really idealizing, but often feel the need to comment on developments in the news just to redress the misinformation and distortion we are getting in the media. It's hard to be fully conscious if we really don't know what's really happening in the world we live in. Take 9/11 and the 'war on terror' for example. Many conscious loving, caring people have been totally manipulated by the false portrayal of the situation. Or UFO's. Unless we become conscious about the positive truth of the Galactic intervention, we can be manipulated and deceived.

The Ruler(s) of the world

There is really only one ruler of the world — the God/Logos who has created the interpenetrating worlds and beings of the Earth scheme, of which the physical planet is just one part. God animates and is within all. However, on the outer/external Earth which we live on, we are told that since ancient Atlantis, the forces of materiality have and continue to rule. These are the forces of fear, separatism, violence, power and exploitation. These forces have not only overshadowed the tribal chiefs, kings, religious potentates, bankers and capitalists who have had power, but have also determined, to a large degree, the nature of civilization. The reason for all the conflict and suffering that has characterized life on Earth is the denial of the true spiritual life of Earth. However, the keynotes of spiritual Love and Light sounded two thousand years ago have gradually permeated humanity and accomplished many positive improvements. Humanity is now ready for a more radical transition to a new civilization based on the divinity of all life and the Plan of God for Earth. This change will entail a movement away from an ego based reality, which emphasized separation and survival, to a soul centered reality based on the loving interconnection of all life with God. Then will the real ruler of Earth be recognized and the long reign of fear be finally over. Christ will be experienced by all and he will introduce us, in a matter of speaking, to the Father.

Disbelief in God

I feel that an essential component to believing in God is realizing that there is no death. Life cycles in an out of incarnation and the release of form is just a part of this divine process. Every night we die in a sense by loosing consciousness of the world and it doesn't bother us. Physical death is really just awakening to continued life on the other side. Naturally the body wants to sustain itself, but when the moment of death comes, this transition occurs with a peace that knows fear is not called for, because life is eternal. Much of the suffering on Earth is not caused by death itself, but by our beliefs and the inhumanity of others caused by fearful belief. As long as look for reasons not to believe in God, we will find them, but why not look for reasons to believe. People who have suffered are usually moved to action that improves the world and that ultimately reduces the future suffering of others. In this way human caused suffering is gradually abated. People who have been afflicted by natural calamities will discover that they are spiritually led to move forward in their lives. Sometimes this suffering can help a person find the spiritual guidance within that will lead them to happiness. We shouldn't blame ourselves for our suffering, but rather find the spiritual solace within and the guidance to lead us forward. Part of the problem of disbelief in God comes from the false notions of God that are prevalent. God can never be proved to the mind but can only be experienced in the Heart. If we have to conceptualize God, thinking of an all encompassing Life, Being and Conscious Creative Force might be better than thinking of God as a person separate from his creation.

Our need for non MSM news and information

No matter how intelligent a person is, their views on what's happening in the world are only as good as the information they're based on. If that is faulty, biased or incomplete their conclusions are likewise flawed. One of the very few positive things that Trump has done is to alert people to the fact that there is a lot of fake news in the mainstream media (MSM) — it's not just on Infowars or social media. Therefore I'm always encouraging people to broaden their info intake by perusing reliable online progressive news and views. MSM is an echo chamber that seems to be objective if that is all one takes in. Someone who watches Fox and listens to hate radio is sure of the opinions they've come to as a result because they've been successfully indoctrinated. Although The NY Times or NBC have a lot of intelligent writers who report accurately on inconsequential issues, I've found that the more significant the issue, the more one encounters spin or silence. It's very obvious in foreign policy, perhaps because it is more remote to the average person and therefore less subject to scrutiny. The bottom line is that large media corporations are special interests and act for their interests on important issues rather than the general good and so will manipulate the facts to their ends. Anyway, here's a good list of some more reliable alternative political news sites.

<http://www.progressive-sites.net/>

The Ruling Cabal's methods

Despite some superficial differences, the MSM operates as a monolithic institution that is owned and controlled by the same group — wealthy Jews. Secondly as a capitalistic corporate establishment it really exists to serve the interests of its own group — international capitalism. So we must always bear in mind that we are getting news with built in spin and agenda. Journalists who stray too far from the accepted script will soon find themselves out of a job. As capitalism is based on exploitation, arrogant rights, violence and greed (It's also based on some positive qualities but it's the negative ones causing the problems.) we can assume that the MSM is pro war and pro NWO. This dovetails with a Jewish world view which is also based on separatism, materialism and the inevitable struggle for dominance. The struggle for dominance operates on both the material and the mental levels. This influence must consequently endeavor to overturn a universal worldview based on love. Thus Christian beliefs and values are subverted. Thus the appeal of many Right wing political parties who appeal to the conservative and traditional values and are supported by people, even though this is often economically disadvantageous. Ergo BoJo and Trump's success. Because capitalism has improved living conditions in the West, by exporting the suffering to the Third World, people don't yet fully realize that capitalism is turning on them and that they are going to be exploited and suffering equally with the poor of Africa or Asia. In austerity, deregulation, outsourcing, privatization and related subversion of socialist protections, people can begin to see the writing on the economic wall if they will look. In the increased dominance of secularism, consumerism, decadence, and the breakdown of traditional norms and taboos, people can notice the Jewish influence although, as it is forbidden to discuss, people aren't sure where it is coming from. The MSM is the Ministry of Truth and one of the main means of indoctrination (along with the entertainment industry, academia, and think tanks) and the means of establishing mental dominance just as the NWO and global capitalism (especially global finance and banking) are the means of establishing material dominance. We don't need to specifically blame Jews, their actions just help us pinpoint some of the problems in the world that need to be rectified if we are going to create a sustainable future that works for all. The keywords for the needed changes are openness, love, sharing, freedom, equality and unity.

Trusting our intuitive knowing and taking action:

Everything happening in the world makes perfect sense if you see it as a consequence of what people believe. The mind is creative and manifests its beliefs in experiences that reflects them. Our civilization results from the ego reality we have believed in.

Although people have in general become more loving, humane and decent over the centuries, and science and technology have improved our lives in many ways, the world is going to hell because it is still controlled and owned by the few at the expense of the many. And the rich few are sociopaths. The system is also sociopathic to a large degree. It promotes war, environmental degradation, starvation and suffering because it is exploitive and set up to allow the cabal at the top to own and rule for their benefit. That's not an issue being addressed in the media as the media — the 'Ministry of Truth' — is part of the system of control by the few. The 'news' is all spun according to the bias of the propaganda being disseminated to indoctrinate the masses. Unless a person gets out of the MSM bubble they will be appalled at what they see in the media and culture, but also confused as to why these things are happening that are an affront to reason and humanity.

However, the world is not as it could and should be if we thought differently. This won't happen until people realize that they are being fooled, deceived, used and had, and take the power back that they have given to the rulers and change the structure of the system to make it fairer and more reasonable. The cabal's armed forces are blatantly provoking war with Iran and continuing their brutal occupation of Syria, Iraq and the Middle East. Who is speaking out against this evil? Billionaires are getting richer by the day and buying up everything while the masses are being pushed into poverty. Who is speaking up against this evil? The profit system is poisoning the planet and destroying the Earth. Who is speaking up against this evil?

The system won't change from the top, it can only change from the gradual enlightenment of the masses and the universal impulse of the human spirit. We can't remain comfortably ensconced in the MSM and entertainment industry who are just reinforcing the conditioned thinking we've been indoctrinated with. We must search out the truth even if it means alternative ideas and news sources on the internet and those feelings and intuitions we each have within. We can trust ourselves to choose wisely. If we can't believe in God or religion, then we must believe in ourselves — and take action. We each have a connection to the wisdom of God within us.

We have been given free will to a degree. However, what humanity is doing now is causing our suffering. Why don't we change what we're doing that is causing it? If we trust in our own good sense (that we have from God, by the way) we can inform ourselves and take necessary actions to take control and reform the world. The issue really isn't politics, war or climate change, it's the continued ownership and control of the world by the wealthy few for their selfish benefit. Until people wake up to what's really happening and take action nothing really will change.

The delusions of secular culture:

Although many rationalists fancy themselves as 'fact based' thinkers, they are really 'belief based' thinkers. Or else they wouldn't write off the spiritual testimonies of millions of people merely because they have been told and believe that their experiential testimonies, that run counter to current scientific paradigms, can't be trusted. Or that because some are unreliable they all must be unreliable. These are false assumptions. As is the naive belief that science has debunked the metaphysical possibility of spiritual and paranormal experiences — it really hasn't. However, that's what the secular establishment believes, despite the facts. And because many trust and believe the establishment, as represented in the mainstream scientific and media community, they close themselves off from a larger universe.

What secular rationalists are demonstrating is merely that the mind is creative and creates experiences that reflect one's core beliefs that then seem to justify those beliefs. They believe, for example, that because some UFO, NDE, ADC, OBE or other paranormal experiences are fraudulent that it's not worth considering the implications of those that are legitimate. If someone tried to punch you and missed nine times and only smacked you in the face once, would you say it didn't matter because nine times they missed? The implications are profound and shatter naive scientific complacency. I've known people whose entire lives have been transformed by the reality of one brief paranormal experience that meant more and was more real than the rest of their life put together. We are multidimensional beings. However, our civilization is primarily based on the ego program of personal identity and survival. The greatest spiritual teachers on Earth have urged us realize our potential as spiritual beings — which involves more than escape into some heaven world. We are here to fully realize and embody our spiritual essence and be the Sons of God that we inwardly already are. Awareness of Christ is emerging not merely to provide moral leadership but to facilitate our awareness of who we really are so we can consciously choose this.

The delusions of religion:

We are creating our collective suffering by denying our connection with God and the intuitive knowing that comes from this. If we had faith in who we really are and trusted the spirit within, we would rise up and throw off our chains and the wealthy rulers who delude us, and create a society based on Love and Oneness with the Divine.

Ending the suffering in the world is not helped by religious delusions. Religion is not about personal escape from the world by enlightenment or salvation, by gaining Heaven or Nirvana, but by realizing the potential and power that we have as spiritual beings. Ending suffering will not happen while we continue to believe that our political, economic and cultural activity can be based on laws divergent from our spiritual nature. All aspects of civilization must reflect the One Divine Life of God which is within all. We will not abolish suffering while we continue to believe that we are separate from God and give authority to anything outside our Self. We each must own our own connection to Truth. It will not come from scripture or faith in belief, but from the intrinsic Truth within. Religion has incorporated many human notions and has been misused for worldly influence. Religion must be cleansed of its adulterations. It must become a clear reflection of the living Truth that is experienced and lived and not just believed in. Religion must therefore be moved out of the mind and become rooted in the Heart. From the Heart, we must not continue to see division, difference, separation and judgment but see that we are all equal expressions of the same Divine Life, Consciousness and Spirit.

The relativity and limitation of belief

My perspective is that the laws in any scientific area explain how things work within that domain. But at the empirical borders of that domain as these are continually enlarged by improvements in technology to include previously unknown material, the laws break down, requiring new laws to describe the enlarged empirical domain. Therefore scientific laws are not absolute as science likes to think, but relative to the amount of reality included. Therefore metaphysical process can overrule natural laws theoretically. Thus the possibility of so called miracles which result from the application of metaphysical force by a consciousness that knows how to access it, as consciousness can transcend empirical limits.

I like to think that as physics explores ever further into the ultimate extents of matter, that many of the theories begin to mirror some of the metaphysical speculations of Eastern metaphysics. The age of the universe for example. And a new idea in physics that there must be other universes. And the fifth fundamental force that was recently discovered. As what physics calls energy, a metaphysician would call spirit unfolding from the mind of God. Such a metaphysician would also say that there is no dead matter therefore, it is all alive and conscious. We are all living dreams in the Mind of God.

We cannot understand the nature of Reality with our concrete mind. Reality is One or Whole and can therefore only be understood when joined in Oneness to the Whole and not, as the mind is, separate from it. That's why mystics tell us to connect to the Whole of God through the Heart as the Heart and Love is part of the Whole of God. That is also why we can't rationally understand the new dimension of reality beginning to pervade Earth. Three dimensional logic can't formulate fourth dimensional reality which can only be experienced to be known.

One valuable awareness that I learned from philosophy is that all systems of thought are each based on a few ultimately speculative assumptions. Different systems have varying premises. The thinker may create an enormous and complex edifice but if you can locate the underlying assumptions and throw these into doubt, the whole structure will come down like a house of cards. Naturally thinkers like to hide or obscure their underlying premises and focus instead on the lofty edifice. But it's gratifying to know that each person has the same intuitional capacity to determine the validity of core assumptions— this equalizes intellectual argument. Because the most intelligent person is no more likely to come up with sound assumptions than the average person. Each person has equal access to the underlying Truth from which core assumptions spring.

With science it's a little different. All scientific laws are only valid in the empirical domain in which they are established. As the domain is enlarged, their validity is no longer operative. New laws must be discovered. Therefore the inferences from scientific laws must be restricted to the domain in which they are valid. The fact that natural laws of physics and other sciences are therefore derived from observations on a limited range of reality means that extrapolations or inferences from those laws on to metaphysical, spiritual or even psychological areas is speculative. These may or may not be a viable inferences. Therefore the many secular thinkers who are drawing conclusions about religion are making many dubious assumptions.

All scientific law can be expressed in mathematical formula, as ultimately matter is an emanation within the Mind of God, and thus an abstract mental creation, as mathematics is.

Economists and the economy

Most economists are part of the status quo establishment so of course they are going to find ways of justifying it, with minor tweaks. However, it's just common sense to see that with finite resources on the planet there cannot be enough for all if the current economic rules allow a few to accumulate most of the wealth of the planet. However, whenever increased taxes on the rich are proposed they scream that they have earned it. That is precisely the problem. The economic rules should provide incentive for entrepreneurship, initiative and freedom, but not allow greed to corrupt the system. And that is what happens when excess wealth occurs. Money buys political control, economic control and cultural control. Society becomes anti democratic and oppressive. If you want more democracy and less human suffering, you must have economic fairness. The rich don't just keep their money in their pockets, they buy more influence, industry and control so capitalism becomes increasing warped and exploitive for the plutocratic few. Money dominates values, morals and ideals. The economic system must be a means to a better society, not the ends. We have turned our values on their heads by allowing the rich and their elite servants to determine the rules by which society operates. We have to act on our instincts and take our power back.

The central factor of the corruption of society by money

I've always been on the Left when it comes to the corruption of society by the disparity of wealth and therefore supported greater economic equality and the redress of the exploitive flaws of capitalism. I have considered myself a socialist in this respect. However, I am realizing that I am also on the political Right in some respects, as I oppose some of the corrupting cultural influences of money that are promoted under the guise of free speech which are actually promoting vested interests. These include the promotion of violence, war, deviant sexuality, pornography, consumerism, atheism and decadence. These are corrupting our moral fiber, but are being pushed by the media and entertainment industries in particular as money making activities. These are corrupting our Christian heritage which binds our society together in a higher purpose other than crass materialism, selfishness and hedonism. I am realizing that the problems of both the Left and Right have the influence of money as a central factor, because wealth is not just passive but actively expands its influence in all areas, buying up industries, promoting its agendas and beliefs in all areas of society. It corrupts our political system, our education, our values and beliefs. The influence of money, while it can be beneficial and philanthropic, is largely responsible for many of the ills of society and the majority of human suffering. Therefore what is needed is not only more education on this issue, but redress of the disparities of wealth, progressive taxation, the reform of capitalism, the elimination of private ownership of key industries such as banking, finance and media, laws to eliminate the promotion of decadent and disruptive media and entertainment, the elimination of special interest lobbies and money on politics, etc. On the positive side, this is to promote and build a society based on our equal divinity in a world that is One Divine Life. This is to create a society based on love and awareness of our spiritual nature, and our need to foster these. I would like to think this would be a Christian Socialist position, except that Christianity is so confused in a number of areas.

Mind or Heart

In Eastern thought there is the basic assumption the we don't perceive Reality it is, we perceive what we project through our senses, which is the contents of our minds, that interprets sense data. Modern physics supports this understanding by affirming that seemingly solid matter we perceive is really mostly space interwoven with a pattern of energy. Therefore human life is lived in illusion. This illusion is further distorted by human communications and educational institutions that manipulate the illusions and beliefs people live by so they can be controlled by the political, financial and religious rulers of Earth. The end result is the very artificial and existential lives most people live, alienated from the larger living and spiritual whole of Life. This is the life of the mind and emotions.

However, we are intrinsically part of the Whole of Reality whether we consciously understand how or not. We automatically conform to an instinctive knowing that often serves us better than our rational beliefs. This is formulated as common sense, intuition or spiritual knowing that often contends with what we have been conditioned to think. Spiritual teaching attempts to aid us in knowing and relying on this innate wisdom which aligns us with the larger Whole of God. Therefore we can conclude that our conditioned mind is not the best guide to understanding Reality. What then is? Spiritual teaching says the mind united with the Heart is best guide. The Heart, through love, is innately connected to the larger living Whole. The mind would assume Reality is a mere mash of lifeless separate atoms ruled by arbitrary laws. How loving purposeful human life arose then becomes an insoluble mystery to the mind. Therefore the mind is not the correct agent to understand — that is the conclusion we must come to, not that understanding is not possible. It is possible to the Heart.

At the very simplest level we know that Love is the answer, although that doesn't satisfy the mind. Therefore we have to dive into Love to understand its nature, ramifications, purpose and source. When we dive into Love, we discover that we are embraced by Love in return, that Love is Conscious and Purposeful, meaningful and joyous. Through Love we experience a sentient universe, that is alive, as we are. Now it is easy to feel how purposeful loving human life arose from a Loving Purposeful universe. By going within the Heart to experience this, we also go within the universe to experience the Living Conscious Being the universe is a manifestation of — God, the Being within all. The mind will not understand how or why, but the Heart knows that it needs to further extend, express and manifest the Love felt within the Heart. And that it must employ the mind in this service. The Heart must rule the mind. Then the mind will cease quibbling and be content. Now we become aligned with the Reality we sought and become Co-Creators with God.

The material and selfish effort to enslave mankind

I am coming to believe that the ongoing efforts to enslave mankind by the materialistic forces is two pronged. The first is economic and material enslavement by the NWO that is collecting the wealth and power of the world into fewer hands that have increased control over every aspect of life. This is a perpetual and violent war on humanity with resulting increased poverty, death and suffering. The second aspect is the ongoing effort to control what people believe through education and communications industries. This effort is indoctrinating people to disbelieve in any transcendent God, morality or good and impose a belief in secular relativism — if it feels good, do it. This belief posits that reality is nothing but the random interaction of atoms so that nothing ultimate can be believed. Self interest and pleasure is all that matters. By controlling what people think, people's efforts to combat their enslavement is more difficult. People become atomized and unable to cohere in collective efforts for a greater good.

I see the drama and conflict in the world in old fashioned terms of Light, Love, Freedom and Spirit vs darkness, fear, bondage and ignorance. The 'demons' today are wearing suits, sitting in boardrooms, living in fine houses and pretending to be upstanding members of the community while they ruthlessly and mercilessly plot war, death, greed, privation, exploitation and the predation of mankind and the planet. Their will and desire is all that matters to them. If they can make it legal that makes it easier, but they subvert the laws, morals, and taboos if it is expedient. These trends may not be obvious in our neighborhood or in the books or media we consume, but if we look around the world, billions of people are already living in a hell created by the evil actions of the materialistic rulers of the planet. The trends are obvious if one will look. The poisoning of the oceans, fresh water and soil is reducing food production and nutrition and pushing up prices that make it harder to survive. The increasing ownership of the planet, the land and the water by the few are making it more difficult to own one's own home and be able to afford the basics. Vast investment consortiums are buying up property and pushing people into a dependent rental class. Wages are going down as industry is globalized forcing people in the West to compete on equal terms with the exploited South and East. Climate change and global poisoning from the profit system benefiting the few is reducing the livable land. People are being squeezed from different directions, while daily life becomes increasingly controlled by a surveillance police state. Wars, crime, fear and suffering only increase. How free are we if bleak survival and state provided entertainment is what life is moving towards?

Some thoughts on the political Right and Christianity

Conservative Christianity has been authoritarian and traditionally allied with the hierarchical thinking of capitalism, fascism and Zionism. Liberal Christianity has been more egalitarian and therefore more allied with liberal, socialistic and universal human rights peace movements. Conservative Christianity has emphasized faith, authority, and tradition while liberal Christianity has emphasized freedom, individualism, and love. Each has their extremes — autocracy or anarchy.

As the conservative Right has had the power in society, in addition to repression, they have often used power to subvert the egalitarian Left by promoting extreme or radical fringe movements which have served to discredit opposition to the Right. The promotion of sexualizing culture, transgenderism, pornography and decadent hedonism are examples. As the conservative authoritarian Right is basically about money and power, belief must accommodate itself to it, and is therefore secondary. The liberal egalitarian Left prioritizes belief and ideology over money and power, and is handicapped by not having the power to enforce its beliefs. However, many people still value the importance of culture, traditions and belief over money and materialism, so the Left does have soft power.

As the Right in society has moved away from overt ties to Christianity and is centered mainly on money, it has actually promoted the subversion of Christianity when it has challenged the authoritarian doctrines of capitalism, fascism and Zionism and has instead promoted Zionist Christianity, prosperity Christianity, and ‘patriotic’ secular nationalism. There are some exceptions— conservative Catholicism has been more liberal on some economic issues, while some liberal Protestant churches have been very supportive of capitalism and Zionism.

However, on the whole the Right is no longer believing that it needs the church to enforce conformity and faith in the establishment, so are endeavoring to replace a Christian culture with a secular multicultural one with fewer cohesive beliefs and values. This more heterogeneous culture makes it harder for cohesive opposition to capitalist power and money to arise. People can be more easily controlled and manipulated when their universal Christian beliefs and values are no longer supported in the culture. They become disempowered.

Therefore the system of wealth, power and privilege is only supporting Christianity when it can serve it. Bible based rather than Christ based Christianity incorporating Judaic and Zionist belief is therefore supported. Prosperity Christianity emphasizes material and capitalistic values and is therefore supported. Christian conservative patriotism supporting faith in the fascist establishment is therefore supported. On the other hand, the establishment's new secular multiculturalism advocates an 'everyone for themselves' materialism and is therefore supportive of a material money based society. Liberal peace and universal human rights are not supported because war and exploitation are integral to the establishment. Free speech is now being repressed if it is critical of Zionism and capitalism. The media, education and entertainment institutions are the establishment's new indoctrinators of belief that are replacing the church. Christianity is now being used and supported only when convenient by the establishment and its power is accordingly decreasing.

The world system is the externalization of the ego whose dynamics are characterized by a self centered and violent will and effort to control, get, exploit, use, have and succeed. This hierarchical competitive attitude is represented by our authoritarian power, privilege and wealth accumulating capitalistic system. It is only natural that the Right is dominant as it represents the status quo establishment. The Left represents the force of Love that endeavors to establish more equality, fairness, freedom and spirituality. Although the essence of Christianity is Love, in practice it has supported and been a complicit part of the authoritarian establishment. Thus it has been conflicted. Now that it is no longer needed by the establishment and is often coming under attack, Christianity is being forced to acknowledge its failings and to renew its commitment to Love and to Christ. And overcome its allegiance to self serving and ignorant dogma.

The cause of the covid pandemic

Regarding the source of the virus, many people from Iran to Japan all believe that it was man made and introduced by the US by soldiers from the US who were participating in military ceremonies in Wuhan in October. It can be scientifically determined that the outbreak began in October. The only question is whether it was accidental or deliberate. (One person's conspiracy theory is another person's reasonable explanation.)

There are evidently five different strains of the virus, all five of which exist in the US but only one exist in China, Iran and Italy. This points to the US as the source.

Examination of the actual genetic sequencing establishes that it couldn't have occurred naturally.

So the only question is whether it was an accidental release. Here you have to examine circumstantial evidence. That the outbreaks happened nearly simultaneously in China, Iran — two 'enemies' of the US — with two different strains of the virus, is highly suspicious. Likewise Italy, the one country in Europe to sign on to China's Belt and Road trade initiative is very suspicious. A gangster like the US does these sort of things routinely to keep nations in line. Look at the long and well established history of CIA subversive activity — it's going on all the time. Finally there is the history of suspicious bio incidents that China has suffered — swine flu, bird flu, SARS, MERS, etc. that have been very costly combined with the well established bio weapons programs in the US. These offensive programs exist to be used.

The establishment and MSM treat these ideas as fanciful conspiracy notions when they are actually supported by science and circumstance. Why the bias in the establishment and MSM? Because they are more interested in promoting their self interest than the truth. Where does their self interest come into play? The MSM is the Ministry of Truth for the New World Order of global capitalism. The NWO that is enforced by NATO is hell bent on global domination or hegemony which brooks no competing economic blocks. Ergo the ongoing economic, political and covert attacks on Russia, China, and Iran and anyone else who dares stray from submission, like Cuba or Venezuela. The notion of 'conspiracy theory' is largely a technique used by the establishment to defame those who advocate facts that the establishment wants to suppress.

To me, as I try not to swallow the MSM or the establishment propaganda, the pandemic as biowarfare is obvious. But if day in and day out one absorbs what the media are saying as the truth, naturally countervailing ideas are suspect.

For the cabal who rule the world it makes no difference whether thousands of Americans die or not. Like 9/11 it is merely an opportunity to further suppress the population — and transfer resources and control to the cabal. This is all part of the same NWO scheme as 9/11. The Federal Reserve has already given more money to the banks to bail out Wall Street, than has been allocated by the government bailout bill. The $1200 being given to many citizens are a pittance compared to the trillions of dollars given to the corporate and financial establishment. Why did it need to start in China then? Just to further blame and demonize China for one thing. After all it is the Wuhan virus says Trump. But I'm also sure that they hoped to catch China and Iran off guard to cause more damage. The leaders in Italy probably suspect what has happened even if the masses don't as the Western media is all integrated in most respects and suppressing the truth, as the media is part of global capitalism and the NWO.

Unfortunately science is also pressured to adhere to PC positions dictated by the political establishment. Witness the denial of secular science of the reality of extraterrestrial contact even though there is a wealth of evidence to support it. Or 9/11. There are thousands of reputable professionals who know that the official conspiracy theory promulgated by the establishment is a lie, but all the official scientific organizations will not touch it. There have been many scientific inventions that have been suppressed for political reasons and ongoing scientific research that is denied for the same reason. The existence of the bio weapons labs is not talked about in the MSM.

Why does humanity need to develop chemical and biological weapons? And now there is AI weaponry. The rulers of the world are obsessed sociopaths! We can not naively continue to pretend there isn't a problem. We can not pretend that our leaders have our best interests in mind. We can't continue to leave the future of the world in the hands of people who only care about their profit and power. This bio attack on the people of Earth is meant to create a climate of fear and chaos in which people can be controlled more easily. Democratic protections are superseded in crisis, extra ordinary measures are justified, people are in a weakened position.

However, I think this is a desperate move that will backfire. People are pulling together. The real servants of humanity are being recognized while the complacent self servers are also being noted. Love is winning over fear. The nefarious activities of the cabal will be discovered.

This pandemic is giving us all a chance to go within and find the peace and the answer to our seeming problems that we won't find without. It is also causing us to appreciate the necessary relationships that we have with one another and the value each one has to the whole. All are essential and should be valued accordingly. We are just as dependent on the store clerk, truck driver or nurse as the corporate executive or government minister. Each one is divine and more than their role in the play of life. This pandemic break from our habitual routines of behavior and thought is giving us a chance to reappraise our situation and what we need to do. What is most important? What is our priority and what needs to change? Optional wars and political divisiveness don't seem so relevant when matters are of life and death. Greed and self interest seem so out of place when so many are putting their lives on the line to help and serve. Hopefully we come out of this with more clarity about what is important and worth pursuing and what isn't. And more centered in a deeper authentic place within. I don't think we will be going back to normal, but to a world with better more humane priorities and institutional shifts that begin to reflect this. It's amazing how quickly life has been transformed. And it amazing how quickly trillions of dollars can be found that could not be spent on progressive causes before this. And it gives hope that truly fundamental changes needed can also be accomplished with the determination of the people.

In the West, the establishment media is endeavoring to herd the virus narrative to a natural cause script. However, scientists from Russia to Japan mostly think it was man made, so nature made is not a scientific determination. It's possible to selectively pick the facts that support a nature made theory but when all the facts are considered, man made is the best theory. The MSM provide cover for the narrative the establishment wants to put out. And since it's been scientifically established that it didn't originate in China but the US where all five virus types have been found, where pangolins don't exist, it couldn't have originated naturally. Nor do bat and pangolin genetic materials (and fish, report another scientist) mix naturally. Then there is the circumstantial fact that it initially targeted enemies of the US — very suspicious. This also has to take into account the history of (US) biological attacks on China, who incidentally is the NWO's greatest threat. No, I'll keep my theory which nicely fits into my world view. This worldview holds that there are no accidents but there are occult causes for everything. The establishment media has really let us down, and is part the system of indoctrination of the NWO.

The battle between good and evil

Believing in the reality of spirit and the metaphysical dimension gives one a depth of understanding not available to secular thinkers. One believes in occult and causative forces that are explanatory of happenings on the Earth that are otherwise impossible to understand. Being raised with secular education I felt this deficiency and remedied it through my own spiritual search after college that led to Theosophy. One comes to accept that not only is there a good hierarchy of spiritual beings aligned with love and the will of that Divine Creator behind and within everything, but there are also evil beings that are attempting to disrupt the evolutionary movement of separate dualistic life back to Union with its Source. Christ acknowledged this when he mentioned Satan and Satan's tempting and testing of human beings.

These evil demons reside in the metaphysical realm and influence those selfish and materialistic human beings who are subject to them. They are extraterrestrial and have interfered with the evolutionary plan of Earth for thousands of years. They have successfully ruled the outer affairs of Earth through the kings, warlords, priests, capitalists and financiers who had had the power, wealth and privilege on Earth and determined the system and laws that we have lived under.

God's Plan for Earth, however, calls for a spiritualized world where God, Love and the Good are all determining of life. And God won't be frustrated forever. Now is the time when the Earth as a whole will be spiritualized by an influx of energies that will transform the matrix of life that is experienced. Physical life is being pervaded with higher energies that will have the effect of allowing humanity to become aware of the one divine spirit of God within everything. Of course the evil entities and their human servants are doing everything to resist by promulgating wars, pandemics, economic depressions and political subversions that we see today in the world.

The arrival of many UFO's began after humanity started using nuclear weapons, to prevent the evil entities from destroying the earth. These good Galactics can see that Earth is in a spiritual transition. Evil will be defeated not only by men of good Will who can now be seen working for human betterment in all areas of life, but also by the collected spiritual forces working occultly now. Hopefully in the next few years major revelations will transpire as part of the transformation of Earth. Our present global economic system must be radically reformed to remove the cabal that are now in control and reform the system to one based on

Love and the equal divine right of all to the freely shared necessities of life. Peace must be established that precludes the possibility of war.

Global problems are caused by false premises

I feel it's helpful when trying to understand what is going on in the world, to realize that the problems of the world result from widely believed false premises, that must lead to conflict and suffering. Some of these false premises are:

That there is not enough for everyone to have an ample share of life's necessities.

Therefore there must be inevitable competition for survival, acquisition and prominence.

In this struggle it is legitimate to use power over others and exploit one's fellow man.

Violence is legitimate — indeed anything is alright — if it's legal. It is legitimate for some to amass great riches and power while others are poor and miserable.

The planet, like people, is there to be used with no thought for its well being or future.

Everyone has to pay for what they get — nothing is free.

There are undoubtedly other basic premises but these are enough to prove that we have problems in the world, because our civilization is built on falsehoods.

And we really cannot redress the symptoms of the problems — injustice, wars, human suffering, inequality, corruption, violence, fear, etc. — without changing the underlying premises that our world is built on.

One obvious disparity is the disconnect between Western culture's basic Christian beliefs and the premises of society. The separation of church and state forces faith and love to be a personal attitude that is not applied to the laws of the society. This results in hypocrisy and schizophrenia — people believe one thing but live by totally opposite values by abiding by the laws of society.

These falsehoods reflect the intrinsic predispositions of the separative ego. Christianity is meant to redeem animal man's ego by instilling the wisdom of the eternal soul. We have not completed that process.

Extraterrestrial Intervention and Earth's Ascension

There are different strains of thought when thinking about the future. Futurists, who extrapolate from what is currently scientifically known, have a mostly pessimistic view of an artificial human future on an ecologically devastated planet. Novelists have imagined dystopian futures, or a science fiction in the artificial worlds of space. Religion insists, however, that despite the apparent tumult and crises that there will be a new Millennium or Golden spiritual Age, although they emphasize the Apocalypse that we will have to live through first — and our present world is looking increasingly Apocalyptic. Another perspective, however, little as we are aware of it as it is suppressed by our secular media, is an extraterrestrial one.

There are scores of writers who profess to be in contact with extraterrestrial and Angelic sources and who have formulated numerous communications in books, blogs, videos and websites that are freely available. These present a surprisingly consistent and coherent — if one will accept the possibility of an intervention by galactic peoples with more advanced technology — view of how the New Millennium/Age prophesied by religion is coming about. This is resulting from a Divinely Planned shift in the energies that the Earth is composed of and registers, combined with a Divine intervention of galactic peoples from various star systems who are helping to make this happen expeditiously.

This understanding is based on the awareness that extraterrestrials, both good and bad, have had a connection with the Earth since humanity arose. Their influence has shaped our earliest civilizations and life on Earth to this day. The conflict on Earth is primarily because the evil ET's won the battle for control of outer Earth 26,000 years ago which has resulted in a subsequent civilization that has been based on fear, separation from God, violence, oppression and exploitation. The evil ET's have been the controlling forces behind their human minions and the rulers of the Earth. Thus we have always been ruled unjustly by kings, popes, capitalists or financiers, etc. who have enforced oppression, war and the disparity between the haves and the have nots. The positive ET's are removing them now so that Earth can be free of their oppression and influence.

The Earth is not only transitioning into different astronomical energies, but is being vibrationally elevated from 3D to 5D. This energetic ascension will prohibit any who are not loving from continuing to incarnate on Earth. Selfish, violent and materialistic humans will soon be incarnating on other planets so that a more spiritual civilization can emerge from the chaos of the present day. The positive galactics are facilitating this process.

The positive ET's from such star systems as Pleiades, Sirius, Arcturus and Vega, will also help in the transition in other ways. They will temporarily take over our global electronic banking system and redistribute the money fairly to everyone, ending the exploitive debt enslavement system that we have.

They will help disclose the secret control and corruption of the deep state and those who are involved in it by also temporarily taking control of the media.

There will be a disclosure of the ET's eventually who've been observing earth and intervening behind the scenes — particularly since atomic weapons have been developed. They will prevent any further nuclear weapons activity.

The galactics have advanced technology that will be shared to help Earth recover from the pollution that has devastated it. They have energy and healing technology that will also be shared that will improve the quality of life on Earth.

They will be instrumental in other revelations as well. Such as the existence of humanity now living within the Earth. And welcoming Earth into a galactic federation of planets.

What's really happening on Earth

Allow me to share my perspective on what's going on in the turmoil now on Earth, for you won't get this information on the secular media or in a church. Religion understands, however, that life proceeds in larger cycles or Ages. Even our history as we know it acknowledges that civilizations come and go. We are now at the end of one period and the beginning of another and consequently the energetic matrix of life is changing. This happens imperceptibly to us, but the effect accumulates day by day. Thus the necessary changes in society's institutions including the beliefs, values and even the experience of reality these are based on. The turmoil in the world now is directly related to this changeover. And despite our fears, the change will be for the better, for little as we know it we live within a living beneficent universe that is the Creation of God and evolving according to a divine Plan.

The Age we are leaving is characterized by human experience as separate egos seemingly cut off from God and subject to a struggle for survival and the dualistic conflict between good and evil. The ego is an internalized program of personal identity based on fear and beliefs that we are separate, threatened, lacking, deficient and subject to the struggle to learn and control life to survive and get what we need to succeed and be fulfilled. It's an experience based in the mind's conceptions that is then projected on to the world where it provides our interpretation of what things mean and are.

The battle between good and evil been ongoing. In fact for all of history as we know it evil has seemed to have the upper hand and thus the world has been ruled by the powerful, violent, greedy and violent few over the many who have been subject to them. It is no different today in our modern world although the few may be the wealthy bankers and capitalists who control from behind the scenes rather than the kings and popes of old. The global political economic system perpetuates it.

Religion teaches that good and evil are energies that have their sources beyond the physical level. There are great spiritual Beings extending up to God that overshadow the Earth and that influence humanity for good. These include the ascended masters and angels who have continued to communicate with and provide guidance for us from the spiritual realms. In recent years positive extraterrestrials have also been channeling communications. Conversely, there are also non physical evil beings, negative extraterrestrials and demons who have been behind the selfish powerful personalities that have been influential throughout history.

This particular shift on Earth is unique as it encompasses a Divine intervention that entails removing the evil entities so that the New Age will be totally positive and characterized by awareness of our connection and union with the Divine. This intervention is being carried out, to a large degree, by a Galactic Force of positive extraterrestrials who are removing the negative ET's and their human minions. The UFO's seen throughout the world in large numbers since humanity has developed nuclear weapons are here to help in a number of ways. Besides preventing nuclear war, and removing the evil ET's, their advanced technology has gained control of Earth's electronic banking system and at a certain point after an economic collapse, they will take control and reconstitute it to a GESARA based system where everyone is apportioned a fair share of the world's wealth. Their technology will also be helpful to help clean the environment, for personal healing and to provide free energy. At some point they will also introduce themselves.

The transition in human consciousness will entail awakening to who we really are as eternal Souls, thus freeing ourselves from the limitation of ego identity and its patterns of conditioned thinking and belief. We shall live from the Heart with an intuitive access to the innate knowing of the Soul, which lives in God. This is to live in and from a unified level of Being, where we realize that all life is part of the Divine and is conscious. This is a shift to the Aquarian Age of Love where humanity once again reestablishes a spiritual civilization on Earth that recognizes our place in a Galactic family encompassing a great diversity of planets and star systems. We will each learn that we can learn to trust and live by the deeper knowing of our spiritual Self. We won't have to struggle or compete to survive but will cooperate and share for the good of all.

The breakdowns and turmoil that we see in the news result from problems with institutions based on the ego and separative fear based forces, like our political and economic systems. Everything has been corrupted by money and the hidden influences of exploitation, greed, selfishness, violence and materialism. Whistleblower disclosures will reveal the nature of the corruption of our democracy and the subversion going on. Compromised individuals will have to be removed and transparency and accountability reestablished. The control of the monied special interests of our political process, our economy and media in particular will need to be redressed. War must end and our civilization be restructured on the basis of justice, sharing and the universal rights of all to the necessities of life. A new golden Age will commence as has been prophesied and we will live in Oneness as the eternal Souls we really are.

Earth's Ascension to a New Age

In order to understand the nature of the time we are in, it is necessary to have a few basic ideas. First of all time and evolution in the living universe is spiral-cyclic and proceeds in definite stages marked by changing energies and developmental processes. Even the civilizations we are aware of on Earth have come and gone, as our present civilization will also be succeeded by another and better one. This is all guided by the Plan and Purpose of God. Secondly, our Earth as a physical 3D world has been characterized by the conflict between good/evolutionary forces and evil/retrograde forces. Humanity has been overshadowed by non physical beings both good and evil who have exerted their influence. Ever since Atlantis, 26,000 years ago, evil has been in control on the outer level and thus human civilizations have been characterized by endless wars, violence and exploitation, greed, power, inequality and suffering. The spiritual forces of Love and Light have been steadily pervading and influencing humanity however.

Our present period is another transition in the cyclic progression. However this transition will not just entail the infusion of new energies to inform new forms and ways of life, but will involve the raising of the vibrations of Earth from 3D/4D world to a 4D/5D world which will spiritualize it above the level where it cannot be influenced by dualism and evil. (A 5D reality is based on the Consciousness of the eternal Oneness of the Divine Life that is the Source of Creation.) Therefore the present Armageddon we are going through results from evil's attempts to maintain its control and to sabotage the spiritual awakening that is happening on the planet as all creation is being infused by spirit. The sociopathic human minions of evil are those at the top of the New World Order of global capitalism who are the power behind the governments and economy of the world. They want to maintain their power, wealth, predation and privilege by any ruthless means necessary. They control the world's media and through their interlocking boards and covert organizations and impose their will on humanity.

This evil cabal have three aims at present. Dumb down and kill as many people as possible so the remainder are easier to control. Thus the poisons destroying our health and environment, the man made pandemic and the threat of nuclear war. They want to create economic crisis that will seem to justify extreme laws that will transfer wealth to the richest and keep people impoverished and powerless. They are creating chaos and insurrection to justify suppression of the population. The media serves to distract and disseminate disinformation so people remain confused about what is really happening and who is behind the crises. The pandemic was planned. Covid is a bio weapon developed in a lab. The WHO directed lockdown measures are excessive and gauged to deliberately crash the global economy. Covid in reality is little more serious than the flu and is primarily only impacting people with preexisting health issues. Many scientists have argued against the measures to combat the pandemic but have been suppressed in the media. The latest efforts to provoke chaos are the racial riots being surreptitiously instigated and funded by the cabal. The intended end result is a confused and disempowered population controlled by the few.

Fortunately Earth's ascension to the New Spiritual Age is being expedited by a Divine intervention to make this transition as harmonious as possible. This intervention is in the form of galactic and angelic forces who are: awakening humanity; removing the evil entities that have demonized Earth; preventing nuclear war; and providing technology to heal and help. The UFO's seen in large numbers since 1945 and the detonation of nuclear weapons bring a coalition of advanced humans who have been removing the negative ET's and mitigating their effects and those of their human agents. They are helping to cleanse the Earth. They have been communicating with many people to help awaken and inform us. Many human channels are in contact with them now. Eventually they will introduce themselves to us when we have made it though the ascension experience. Because although the vibrations are being increased everyday, there will also be a quantum event that will provide the major shift and experience of an entirely new dimension of reality. This event will entail the beginning of the New Millennium or spiritual Age of Unity. The veil that had kept our experience of reality limited will be rent and we will clearly see the multidimensional spiritual living universe that have been living in. Then Earth can take its place in the galactic family of civilizations.
